PRINCESS MURDERED?

Poison Mystery Stirs Manchus.

Ruling Royal Circles Shaken; Boy Emperor Weeps Over Dead Mother.

Native Story Discredited; Plot Reads Like Intrigues of Lucrezia Borgia.

BY PATRICK GALLAGHER,

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PEKING (China) Nov. 15.—In Prince Tuan's house, outside the Forbidden City, the Manchu Emperor, Hsuan Tung, weeps and wails beside the closed casket of his dead mother, poisoned certainly, murdered probably.

It is only a boy—not yet 16 years old—and his young heart is filled with grief. Like Rachel of old, weeping over her children, because they were not, this most unfortunate youth in all the world, refuses to be comforted. He wants his mother. He is praying to the gods to send her back to him—the one real friend he has ever known. He doesn't want the Manchu crown; he doesn't want the Dragon Throne; he wants his mother.

Li-Yu-Tsan, his Manchu guardian, took him from the gloomy old palaces to the private house of his father, the Prince Regent, Chun. On the morning of the day following, his mother was found dead in the palace, moaning out of the pain, and two days later the Emperor's mother died in the Regent's house.

FIRST REPORT.

At first it was given out that she had died "from a cold in the head." Then, the story

NAVY PERSONNEL STANDS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—"The officer and enlisted personnel of the Navy will not be affected by the carrying out of the American naval reduction program, as outlined before the Arms Conference in its session Saturday by Secretary of State Hughes."

This was the opinion expressed by a high naval official in San Francisco yesterday, who pointed out that under recent legislation by congress of the Navy had been drastically reduced. The actual personnel of the Navy in the early part of last month had been reduced to 102,891 men, according to a departmental statement received at the Twelfth Naval District, the official added. "Quite a number of ships are in commission with skeleton crews.

WILL FALL SHORT OF MEN.

"Even with the heavy reduction ordered as at first announced [illegible] later been supplemented by adding to the ships to which there would still be [illegible] men to fully man the ships up to the strength prescribed by departmental regulations, it is said.

The opinion previously expressed by a number of naval officials that the retirement of any battleships now in commission was extremely improbable, has been confirmed by news dispatches from Washington. The proposal of Secretary Hughes, made at the opening meeting of the conference, has since been modified, especially in reference to the number of capital ships to be retained by the United States.

Battleships under construction, aggregating 357,000 tons, which were not included in the list given by Secretary Hughes in his synopsis of the American reduction proposals as to be retained, will not be scrapped, according to recent advices. These include the battleships Indiana, Montana, North Carolina, Iowa, Massachusetts, Colorado, Washington, West Virginia and South Dakota.

HOW SHIPS STAND.

The superdreadnaught Montana, now under construction as the Mare Island navy yard, is about 30 per cent completed. The other vessels are being completed

PARADE IS HELD FOR SLACKERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Large yellow banners with inscriptions lettered in black urging the release of all political prisoners, including slackers, conscientious objectors, draft evaders and opponents of the draft, appeared in front of Continental Memorial Hall at 10 o'clock this morning borne by a group of men and women, who did picket duty while the delegates to the Conference on Limitation of Armaments were assembling.

The pickets, who included Mrs. Charles Edward Russell and Crane Gartz, a nephew of Charles R. Crane of Chicago, took up their position on the sidewalk at the curb, holding their banners so that each arriving delegate could have an unobstructed view. They were hustled about a bit as the sidewalk became crowded with delegates and guests, but were not otherwise interfered with.

The demonstration was staged under the auspices of the American Civil Liberties Union, the headquarters of which in New York is in charge of Roger Baldwin. Frank P. Walsh, Father John A. Ryan and Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, wife of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, are members of the Washington committee of the union, which has opened a branch headquarters here.

NAVAL REDUCTION PLAN WINS GREAT VICTORY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The sweeping American proposal for reduction of naval armament became the accepted fundamental policy of the Armament Conference today by the unanimous assent of the five great powers.

Seconding the bold lead of the United States, accredited spokesmen of Great Britain, Japan, Italy and France rose in their places at today's plenary session of the conference and declared the readiness of their governments to accept the American proposal in spirit and in principle, but with the reservation of a right to suggest modifications of detail.

Then the problem of these details, which everyone realizes may yet occupy the prolonged attention of the conference and involve the success or failure of the plan, was referred for preliminary action to a committee of five technical naval advisers, one from each of the big five powers.

Within this committee first of all, Great Britain will ask a further reduction of the limit proposed on submarine tonnage, Japan will endeavor to prove her right to a greater ratio of naval strength than has been suggested, and France and Italy will request that their naval questions be considered along with those of the three stronger naval powers embraced in the American plan.

FIRST VICTORY WON.

Thus the diplomacy of the American delegation has won its first victory in the conference, but still finds itself confronted with questions of admitted importance and delicacy, whose solution is requisite to attainment of the purposes for which the nations were called together.

While technical advisers wrestle with the armaments problem and the delegates continue informal conversations on the American plan, the other big subject, the Far Eastern situation, will be given its first formal consideration at an executive meeting tomorrow of the delegations of the nine interested nations. Tonight every delegation was in a waiting attitude toward this question, and if any nation had a comprehensive plan of settlement to present, it was carefully concealed.

The lead in accepting the principle of the American naval proposal was taken in today's conference by Great Britain, whose historic naval supremacy would eventually give way to an equality of strength with the United States, if the plan became an actuality.

DELEGATES STIRRED.

A. J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, announced the British acceptance in a speech that stirred delegates and spectators and started a discussion in which diplomatic cards were laid on the table in an unprecedented manner.

While the hall still echoed with applause, Admiral Baron Kato was on his feet to pledge the readiness of Japan "to proceed with sweeping reductions in her fleet. Senator Schanzer, for Italy, and Premier Briand for France, added a pledge of co-operation in the American program.

Balfour alone made specific mention of some of the modifications that would be suggested later. Reduction of the figure set as a maximum of submarine tonnage was the project on which he indicated his government would be most insistent, but later members of the British group elaborated the suggestions they are to put forward somewhat as follows:

BRITISH CHANGES.

First—Reduction of the submarine tonnage the United States, Great Britain and Japan would be allowed to maintain in the proposed

LIBERALS CRITICISE BALFOUR.

Press Declares Proposed Modifications Attack the Spirit of American Plan.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Balfour's proposed modifications of the American proposals are received unfavorably by the liberal press. The Westminster Gazette says his statement gives cause for "the very gravest misgiving and disappointment."

"The reservation that a restricted program of battleship replacements be carried on from year to year to save the armament works from going to rot would be a direct attack upon the essential principle of the American scheme," it says. The best hope for the world is that this specialized plant will go to rot and that at the end of a decade it may seem worth nobody's while to put it in order again.

"The suggested reservation amounts to a proposal that we keep alive not only the vested interests of the war, but the whole spirit and tradition of international naval competition as a sacred flame, ready to burst into full blaze the moment the holiday is over."

The Daily News says regarding the suggestion that replacement be permitted continuously on a fixed scale:

"This seems a dangerous breach in the whole conception of a naval holiday, which might well prove fatal to the American proposals. It would not be surprising were America to regard any such amendment as defeating the whole object with which her princely offer to destroy her present enormous advantage in new shipbuilding is made."

The News thinks that the British public would support an absolute embargo on submarines.

The most antagonistic among the leading papers is the Morning Post, which dilates on Great Britain's exceptional position. It argues that ships can always be built on occasion and what is required is to remove occasion for war.

JAP AND ATTORNEY INDICTED BY JURY.

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 15.—William A. Cockrill, an attorney of Santa Rosa, and Y. Yucota, a Japanese of the Petaluma section, were indicted here tonight by the Sonoma county grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to evade the Antialien Landholding Act. Both are free on bonds.

REPORT YAP SETTLEMENT.

American and Japanese Delegates Said to Have Reached Agreement on Island.

BY CHARLES MERTZ.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A definite settlement of the Yap question is reported to have been reached. Parleys between the American and Japanese delegations have led to a successful conclusion and all that remains seems to be the formal approval of the powers signatory to the treaty of Versailles. No official announcement will be made until that formal approval has been received.

This is the information vouchsafed tonight in Washington by one of the few men in a position to know the facts. His appraisal of the situation means that one Far Eastern question, at least, has been settled without coming before the conference for discussion. Some of our people say this is an exaggeration; that while everything is tending to this result it can hardly be stated as an accomplished thing yet.

HOPE FULFILLED.

This has undoubtedly been the hope entertained by the American delegation despite the fact that provision was made to include Yap in the program. It could have been brought before the conference under the heading of "Mandated islands"—one of points on the agenda published by Hughes. It seems likely, however, that Yap was put on the list not because Hughes expected the conference to discuss it, but as notice of the fact that we still considered the question an important piece of unfinished business."

That importance has rested in the fact that Yap is the most strategic single link in the Pacific communications system. It is particularly important for the United States because it is on the route of cables to the Far East. Concerning the future disposition of the island there were for many months two conflicting points of view:

The Japanese contended that the supreme council of the Paris peace congress had made a final decision to place the "whole" of the German islands north of the equator under a Japanese mandate with "no reservations whatsoever," regarding Yap.

The American government contended, on the other hand, that President Wilson and Secretary Lansing had made clear reservations at Paris in favor of excluding Yap from this proposed Japanese mandate and in favor of its internationalization as a mid-Pacific communications center.

Moreover Secretary Hughes asserted that regardless of such reservation our rights as a participant in the war were such that "there could be no valid or effective disposition" of Yap "without the assent of the United States," which assent has never been given.

The issue, therefore, was originally one of Japanese control versus internationalization. In the parleys which have been held during recent months it is generally believed that the basis of discussion has been more limited—proposing Japanese ownership of the island and American ownership of the cables. It is believed also that what has delayed the solution on this basis has been a Japanese law requiring Japanese ownership of cables with terminals upon Japanese territory.

FAR EAST UP TODAY.

Much Dynamite in Situation.

America Will Have No Definite Plan of Action as on Armament Question.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Pacific and Far Eastern political questions which threaten to be the real stumbling block of this conference will be approached in secret committee tomorrow with Secretary Hughes in the chair. While the Japanese have very definite ideas of what they want and while the Chinese have a long list of complaints to present, the initiative in opening the delicate discussions will be left to the American Secretary of State.

Mr. Hughes, it was learned definitely tonight, will not go about this as he did in the question of naval armament. There will be no bomb in the shape of a definite list of radical proposals on the part of the United States. He will not arise and say for instance, that America demands the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance although that is what America does desire.

DYNAMITE IN SITUATION.

There is too much dynamite in the situation. It will have to be approached in tentative fashion, feel out. No one can forecast tonight just what shape the discussion will take, but there is a feeling that the frame of mind in which the delegates come to this conference growing out of the astonishing progress in naval reduction, augurs well for the success of the political end of the conference.

China alone remains pessimistic, fearing she will lose on the wave of popular approval that has followed the new relations entered into by Japan, Great Britain and the United States. "I think we will be able to reach an agreement on the political issues, although we must not be expected to go so fast," was the way one Japanese spokesman put it.

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT.

The tendency toward an international agreement in the Pacific indicated by the statements in conference today, will make the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance necessary, Japanese political advisers stated today. In ten days or two weeks, it is confidently stated, the agreement on the naval program will be confirmed by the Japanese. Their amendments will concern an increase in the replacement percentage allowed them. They also will ask to keep the battleship Mutsu. It is claimed that this was put into commission last October. Instead of 60 per cent of the British and American strength, the Japanese may ask 70 per cent.

In taking up the question of the Far East, the main idea in the minds of both Americans and Japanese is to keep friendly and reach an agreement. The Chinese idea is to make trouble. At least that is the purpose of a part of the delegation. The nine powers will be admitted to this committee hearing. All the delegates may attend if they wish, until subcommittees are formed. The Japanese end of it was looked after by Ambassador Shidehara. Dr. Wellington Koo will be the Chinese expert. He presented the Chinese claims at Paris, which failed and such action will be taken here.

CHINA'S NEEDS MANY.

"China's needs are so many that it will be out of the question to expect to accomplish everything at this conference," he said. "It is vitally necessary for China to control her railroads. China must have absolute political independence. China's territorial integrity must be guaranteed and safeguarded against aggression, and China must be permitted to work out her own salvation."

Abrogation of the Lansing-Ishii agreement and of the treaties embodied in the twenty-one demands, which include the extension of the Japanese control of Manchurian railways and ports, will be sought. If there is to be peace and a reasonably early agreement, Japan must give up much.

It is important, however, to consider that the committee which takes up these questions has no authority to settle them. There will be public discussion and public action on the reports of the committee. The private sessions are held at the beginning in order to give the delegations a chance to express a tentative opinion or make a tentative proposal without being subjected to interpretation as their final word on the subject in the quick American newspaper way.

TOKIO SPECULATES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Nov. 15.—Considerable speculation is being indulged in here as to what will be the attitude of the United States toward demands which it is anticipated Japan will make at the Washington conference on fortification of the Pacific islands.

"It is understood the Japanese government has an idea of reducing its 'eight-eight' naval program to eight-four if the United States is willing to abandon her three-year building program and give up her Pacific fortifications," says Asahi Shimbun.

"Such instructions have been given the Japanese delegation.

"What the attitude of the United States will be, cannot easily be surmised. Judging from the spirit of the conference, the American government will not insist on the proposal to force Japan to reduce her capital ships to ten."

SUBMARINE VIEWPOINT OF BRITISH

Naval Experts Would Limit England and America to 45,000 Tons Each.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—While Arthur Balfour, head of the British delegation, did not go into details at today's armament conference to modifications in the American plan desired by the British, it was explained for the British naval experts that as to submarines they believed that not more than 45,000 tons each in the aggregate should be allowed Great Britain and the United States and a proportionate reduction should be applied to Japan.

British naval experts thought, it was said, that the 90,000 tons allowance of the American plan was too large.

In addition, it was said, British experts considered it essential that a limit be put on the size of submarines as, they said, had been "admirably," proposed by Secretary Hughes for battleships. The purpose, it was said, was to confine submarines to purely defensive work and make them incapable of use overseas.

It was asserted big sea-going submarines especially affected Great Britain's overseas possessions. It was emphasized also that Great Britain regarded the submarines "as a very undesirable form of naval vessels." Touching Mr. Balfour's suggestions as to naval shipbuilding, it was said that the British view was that there should be a single building yard or so, retained by each nation, capable of turning out a ship a year, instead of keeping up all big warship building yards ready to start at once after ten years or any other time, if relations were strained.

Great Britain, it was said, was anxious that any limitation as to auxiliary craft, leave a sufficient force for the policing of the seas, a task which the British were described as having taken largely on themselves in years past.

FREDERICKS MEETS PRESIDENT HARDING.

ARBUCKLE SMILING.

Fat Film Player Feels Safe.

Charges Thick and Fast as Prospective Jurors Are Being Questioned.

Nine Have Temporary Seats in Box as Activities for the Day End.

BY OTIS M. WILES,
Staff Correspondent.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

On the brow of a gray hill that frowns down through the window of Superior Judge Louderback's courtroom, where Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle sits uneasily as the mills of justice slowly grind out his fate, is an unsightly signboard.

Upon it is painted a picture of a mastodontic pair of pants, such as Roscoe might wear. An elephant is hitched to each leg of the pants and the two powerful brutes are tugging in opposite directions.

Proverbially Arbuckle is in those pants. He does not welcome that sign, though it is the only bit of scenery within the vision obtained through the Hall of Justice windows. Occasionally he glances at it, fidgets in his chair and then turns quickly away.

BRADY IS ONE.

In one elephant Roscoe may see Dist.-Atty Brady, puffing and grunting and tugging at a half-portion of his pants, attempting to pull him into the penitentiary to serve a sentence on a manslaughter charge. Brady is determined to get him there. He is convinced that Arbuckle is responsible for the death of Virginia Rappe. He has the assistance of his ablest deputies.

In their remarks during the trial they claim a partial victory. They hint his career as a film favorite, his quest of fame and fortune, is halted. They speak of him as a "has been," and refer to him as a great comedian.

In this they are correct. Fatty Arbuckle, the comedian, exists no more. He is no longer the back-stop for custard pies. He is Mr. Roscoe Arbuckle, the most serious, visaged personality extant. His performance in the courtroom makes Hamlet and Macbeth and Jean Valjean look like circus clowns.

"PULLS" NO STUNTS.

Strangest of all to his audience, his clothes fit him handsomely. He appears in court modestly and neatly attired. He wears a new black tie. He has disappointed the spectators at his trial by refraining from making awkward fumbles and flip-flops before the bar of justice. He has even failed to hurl a senile egg at the judge.

Jerking at his other pants leg is the second elephant of the species that baffled the wise men of the East, represented by Gavin McNab, Roscoe's chief counsel, admitted by the prosecution to be a learned sage in matters pertaining to law, so clever does he twist his questions that even the learned District Attorney cannot understand them.

Whichever elephant will win the tug o' war is for the jury to decide. In the meantime, while the jury is being drawn, Roscoe twiddles his thumbs, juggles his hat, flips paper wads, toys with a rubber band and squeezes his nether lip. And of this jury eleven have been passed temporarily.

Six men and five women constitute the list of nine veniremen passed for cause. Two veniremen, one challenged by the prosecution and the other by the defense, were excused. Arguments entered by McNab, indicated that of the prospective jurors temporarily chosen the defense will endeavor to eliminate at least two of the women and one of the men.

FIRES CLOSING SHOT.

The closing shot of the morning session was fired by Dep. Dist.-Atty. U'Ren.

"The defense itself has taken and secreted witnesses and has hidden them out on John and Jane Doe warrants. Would this fact, if introduced as evidence, influence you either way?" he asked one of the veniremen.

Opening the afternoon session, McNab stated that he is preparing all his subpoena lists to present to the District Attorney.

"We don't need them," Attorney

TROOPS TO STRIKE ZONE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DES MOINES, Nov. 15.—Two companies of Iowa National Guard were ordered by Gov. Kendall to report for duty in Ottumwa, where a strike of employees of the John Morrell Packing Company has been in progress for nearly a month. The troops were ordered following word from the County Sheriff, County Attorney and the Mayor of Ottumwa that the situation was beyond their control.

Fifty deputy sheriffs, sworn by Sheriff G. H. Giltner, were on duty near the Morrell plant in Ottumwa tonight, according to information received here. Many of these, it was reported, are Ottumwa business men.

According to reports received tonight by Gov. Kendall from Adjt.-Gen. L. G. Lasher who was in Ottumwa, no disturbances occurred today except an outbreak this morning. Groups of workers and pickets clashed and several men, including company officials, sustained minor injuries. There had been a number of previous outbreaks with minor casualties since the strike started on October 19.

Workers at the Morrell plant numbering approximately 1300 walked out on strike following differences over working conditions and a reduction in the number of guaranteed working hours per week. Company officials yesterday reported that it was operating with about 600 workers.

It was unofficially reported the troops would leave Des Moines shortly after midnight and arrive in Ottumwa early tomorrow.

ARMS MEET EPOCH-MAKING EVENT, SAYS BALFOUR.

Practical Idealism of America is Praised by British Statesman; Speeches of Briand, Schanzer.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The official text of Arthur Balfour's address at the Armament Conference today follows:

"Mr. Chairman: You invited those who wish to continue the discussion that began Saturday. I think it would be very unfortunate if we were to allow the events of Saturday to pass without some further observation on the part of those to whom you, Mr. Chairman, addressed your speech, and, if for any reason which I shall venture to explain, I am the first to take up the challenge, it is because of all the powers here assembled, the country which I represent, is, as everybody knows, the most intimately interested in all naval questions.

LABORS OF PEACE.

"Statesmen of all countries are beginning to discover that the labors and difficulties of peace are almost as arduous and require almost as great qualities as those which are demanded for the conduct of a successful war.

"These struggles to restore the world to the condition of equilibrium so violently interfered with by five years of war, is one that taxes and must tax the efforts of everybody. And I congratulate you, if I may, Mr. Chairman, on the fact that you have added the new anniversary which will henceforth be celebrated in connection with this movement towards reconstruction in the same spirit in which we welcomed the anniversary celebrated only a few hours ago, on the day on which hostilities came to an end.

WILL PROVE ANNIVERSARY.

"If the 11th of November in the minds of the Allied and associated powers, in the minds perhaps not less of all the neutrals—if that is a date imprinted on grateful hearts, I think November 12 will also prove to be an anniversary welcomed and thought of in a grateful spirit by those who in the future shall look back on the arduous struggle being made by the civilized nations, not merely to restore pre-war conditions, but to see that war conditions never again exist.

"I count myself among the fortunate in that I was present and to the extent that I had a share in the proceedings of last Saturday. They were memorable indeed.

"The secret was admirably kept. I hope that all the secrets, so long as they ought to be secrets, of our discussions will be as well kept. In my less sanguine mood I have doubts. But, however that may be, the secret in this case was most admirably kept, and I listened to a speech which I thought eloquent, appropriate in every way, a fitting prelude to the work of the conference which was about to open or which indeed had been opened by the President, without supposing anything dramatic lay behind.

HISTORICAL EVENT.

"And, suddenly I became aware, as I supposed all present became aware, that they were assisting not merely at an eloquent and admirable speech, but at a great historical event. It was led up to with such art. The transition seemed so natural, that when the blow fell, when the speaker uttered the memorable words which have now gone round and found an echo in every quarter of the civilized world it came as a shock of profound surprise, it excited the sort of emotions we have when some wholly new event springs into view, and we felt that a new chapter in the history of the world reconstruction had been warily opened

"Mr. Chairman, the absolute simplicity of the procedure, the easy transition and the great dramatic climax, were the perfection of art, which shows that the highest art and the most perfect simplicity are very often indeed very commonly combined.

PROFOUNDLY CONCERNED.

"Now, I said I would explain, if I was allowed, why I venture to rise first to deal with the subject which is in all our hearts. As I have hinted, it is because the British Empire, and Great Britain, these two together are more profoundly concerned with all that touches matters naval than it is possible for any other nation to be, and this not, believe me, for any reasons of ambition, not for any reasons drawn from history or tradition, but from the hard, burtal necessities of claims and obvious facts.

"There never has been in the history of the world a great empire constituted as the British Empire. It is a fact no doubt familiar to everybody whom I am addressing at the present moment, but has everybody whom I am addressing imaginatively conceived precisely what the situation of the British Empire is in this connection?

"Most of my audience are citizens of the United States. The United States stands solid, impregnable, self-sufficient, all its lines of communication protected, doubly protected, completely protected from any conceivable hostile act.

IMMUNE FORM PERIL.

"It is not merely that you are 110,000,000 of population; it is not that you are the wealthiest country in the world; it is that the whole configuration of your country, the geographical position of your country, is such that you are wholly immune from the particular perils to which, from the nature of the case, the British Empire is subject.

"Supposing, for example, that your Western States for whose safety you are responsible, were suddenly removed 10,000 miles across the sea. Supposing you found that the very heart of your empire, the very heart of this great state was a small, crowded island depending upon overseas communication for the raw material of those manufactures by which its superabundant population lives; depending upon the same overseas communication for the food upon which they subsist.

"Supposing it was a familiar thought in your minds that there never were at any moment of the year within the limits of your state more than seven weeks' food for the population, and that that food had to be replenished by overseas communication. Then, if you will draw that picture, and if you will see all that it implies and all that it carries with it, you will understand why it is that every citizen of the British Empire, whether he comes from the far dominions of the Pacific or whether he lives in the small island in the North Sea, never can forget that it is by sea communication that he lives and that without sea communication he and the empire to which he belongs would perish.

NOT UTTERING LAMENTS.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, do not suppose that I am uttering laments over the weakness of my empire. Far from it. We are strong, I hope, in the vigorous life of its constituent parts. We are strong, I hope, in the ardent patriotism which binds us all together. But this strategic weakness is obvious to everybody who reflects; it is present in the minds of our enemies, if we have enemies. Do not let it be forgotten by our friends.

"These reflections, with your kindness, I have indulged in to explain why it is that I am addressing you. We have had to consider, and we have considered, the great scheme laid befofe you by our chairman. We have considered it with admiration and approval. We agree with it in spirit and in principle.

"We look to it as being the basis of the greatest reform in the matter of armament and preparation for war that has ever been conceived or carried out by the courage and patriotism of statesmen.

"I do not pretend, of course—it would be folly to pretend—that this or any other scheme, by whatever genius it may have been contrived, can deal with every subject; can cover the whole ground of international reconstruction. It would be folly to make the attempt and it would be folly to pretend that the attempt has yet been made in any single scheme as was most clearly explained by the Secretary of State Saturday.

"The scheme deals, and deals only with three nations which own the largest fleets in the world. It therefore, of necessity, omits all consideration for the time being of those European nations who have diminished their fleets, and who at present have no desire, and I hope never will have any desire to own fleets beyond the neccessities that national honor and national defense require.

LAND ARMAMENTS.

"Again, it does not touch a question which every man coming from Europe must feel to be a question of immense and and almost paramount importance; I mean the heavy burden of land armaments. That is left on one side, to be dealt with by other schemes and in other ways. What it does is surely one of the biggest things that has ever been done by constructive statesmanship.

"It does deal with the three great fleets of the world and in the broad spirit in which it deals with those fleets in the proportion of disarmament which it lays down for those fleets, the government of the country which I represent is in the fullest and the heartiest sympathy with the policy which the United States have brought before us for our consideration. They have, as we think most rightly, taken the battle fleet as the aggressive unit which they have in the main to consider; and in the battleship fleet you must include their auxiliary ships without which a modern battle fleet has neither eyes nor ears, has little power of defense against certain forms of attack and little power of observation; little power of dealing with any equal foe to which it may be opposed.

REASONABLE, ACCEPTABLE.

"Taking those two as really belonging to one subject, namely, the battle fleet, taking those two, the battleships themselves and the vessels auxiliary and necessary to a battle fleet, we think that the proportion between these various countries is acceptable, we think the limitation of amounts is reasonable, we think it should be accepted; we firmly believe that it will be accepted.

"In my view, the message sent around the world Saturday is not a message which is going to be received by those most concerned with cool approbation.

"I believe it is going to be received by them with warm, hearty approval, and with every effort at full, loyal and complete co-operation.

"I think it would be ill fitting on such an occasion as this if I were to attempt to go into any details. There are questions—and I have no doubt that our chairman would be the first to tell us that there are details which can only be adequately dealt with in committee.

"At the first glance, for example, and I give it merely as an example, our experts are inclined to think that perhaps too large an amount of tonnage has been permitted for submarines. Submarines are a class of vessels most easily abused in their use and which, in fact, in the late war, were most grossly abused.

"We quite admit that probably the submarine is the defensive weapon, properly used, of the weak, and that it would be impossible, or, if possible, it might well be thought undesirable to abolish them altogether. But the amount of submarine tonnage permitted by the new scheme is far in excess, I believe, of the tonnage possessed by any nation at the present moment and I only throw it out as a suggestion that it may be well worth considering whether that tonnage should not be further limited, and whether, in addition to limiting the amount of the tonnage, it might not be practicable and, if practicable, desirable to forbid altogether the construction of those vast submarines of great size which are not intended for defense, which are not the weapon of the weaker party, whose whole purpose is attack and whose whole purpose is probably attack by methods which civilized nations would regard with horror.

QUESTIONS OF DETAIL.

"However, there may be other questions of detail, questions connected with replacement, questions connected with cruisers which are not connected with or required for fleet action. But those are matters for consideration by the technical experts, and however they be decided, they do not touch the main outline of the structure which the United States government desire erected, and which we earnestly wish to help them in erecting.

"That structure stands, as it seems to me, clear and firm, and I cannot help thinking that in the broad outline whatever may happen in these discussions, during the next few weeks, that structure will remain as it was presented by its original architects, for the admiration and for the use of mankind.

"I have little more to say, except this: It is easy to estimate in dollars or in pounds, shillings and pence, the saving to the taxpayer of each of the nations concerned, which the adoption of this scheme will give.

"It is easy to show that the relief is great. It is easy to show that indirectly, it will, as I hope and believe, greatly stimulate industry, national and international, and do much to diminish the difficulties under which every civilized government is at this time laboring.

"All that can be weighed, measured, counted, all that is a matter of figures. But there is something in this scheme which is above and beyond numerical calculation. There is something which goes to the root which is concerned with the highest international morality. This scheme after all—what does it do? It makes idealism a practical proposition.

"It takes hold of the dream which reformers, poets, publicists, even potentates, as we heard the other day, have from time to time put before mankind, as the goal to which human endeavor should inspire.

"A narrative of all the attempts made, of all the schemes advanced for diminishing the sorrows of war, is a melancholy one. Some fragments were laid before you by our chairman Saturday. They were not exhilarating. They showed how easy it is to make professions and how difficult it is to carry those professions into effect.

PROFESSION AND PRACTICE.

"What makes this scheme a landmark is that combined with the profession is the practice, that in addition to the expression, the eloquent expressions of good intentions, in which the speeches of men in all nations have been rich, that a way has been found in which, in the most striking fashion, in a manner which must touch the imagination of everybody, which must come home to the dullest brain and the hardest heart, the government of the United States have shown their intention not merely to say that peace is a very good thing; that war is horrible, but there is a way by which wars can really be diminished, by which the burdens of peace, almost as intolerable as the burdens of war, can really be lightened for the populations of the world. And in doing that, in doing it in the manner in which they have done it, in striking the imagination not merely of the audience they were addressing, not merely of the great people to whom they belong, but of the whole civilized world, in doing that they have, believe me, made the first and opening day of this congress one of the landmarks in human civilization.

"I have said all that I propose to say, but if you allow me, I will read a telegram put into my hands just as I reached this meeting from the British Prime Minister:

"Following for Mr. Balfour from Mr. Lloyd George:

"Many thanks for your telegram; if you think it will serve useful purpose to let them know message might be published, as follows:

"Government have followed proceedings at opening session of conference with profound appreciation and wholeheartedly indorse your opinion that speeches made by President Harding and Secretary of State were bold and statesmanlike utterances pregnant with infinite possibilities. Nothing could augur better for ultimate success of conference. Please convey to both our most sincere congratulations."

DAILY SUMMARY OF CONFERENCE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—America's proposal of a naval holiday accepted in principle as basis for discussion at the second session of arms limitation conference by Mr. Balfour for Britain and Admiral Kato for Japan, France and Italy adding their indorsements of the general proposals.

American naval proposals and whole subject of armament limitation referred by conference to a committee consisting of all the plenipotentiary delegates of the five principal participating powers sitting in executive session.

Conference committee on armament at first executive session names subcommittee of technical advisers to assist them, one from each national group, with Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, selected chairman on suggestion of Balfour.

Another committee consisting of delegates of the nine participating powers meets tomorrow with Secretary Hughes as chairman to initiate consideration of Pacific and Far Eastern problems.

WOULD INCREASE NAVIES.

French and Italian Experts Conclude They Should Have More Ships, Instead of Reducing.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—French and Italian navy experts studying how limitations to be imposed on the United States, Great Britain and Japan would affect them come to the conclusion that their naval forces should be increased rather than reduced.

The Italian viewpoint, as it prevails among their experts, is that Italy should be permitted to have a navy as large as that of France and in any event on a ratio of eight to ten.

The naval question as it affects Italy and France, is not under discussion, having been reserved by the conference until the status of the United States, Great Britain and Japan can be disposed of.

But, meanwhile, Admiral De Bon, head of the French experts and Admiral Acton of the Italian delegation are, with their experts, preparing for consideration of the subject.

Experts of both countries point out that during the war Italy and France devoted themselves almost entirely to strengthening their armies.

Among the Italians there is a strong party urging a complete agreement with France to relieve both countries of a large part of their military burdens. It is pointed out that the two fleets united would dominate the Mediterranean, while the combined armies might be relied on to face any attack.

There is also some expression of opinion that efficacious measures might be considered to look to the limitation of armament of the Balkan states as well as Poland on ground that complications would thus be avoided.

The Italian argument for a navy equal to France is that Italy, while having less colonial empire than France, has a population about the same, has more than 4000 miles of coast line and is obliged to bring from abroad all her coal, one-third of her wheat and nearly all raw materials.

HIGH STATE OFFICIALS ARE HELD.

Supreme Court Justice, Attorney - General and Others Are Indicted.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Justice E. P. Pierce of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, was indicted by the county grand jury today on charges of conspiracy with W. E. Ulmer, an attorney, to deprive certain persons of property rights in stock, and to obstruct justice.

Atty.-Gen. J. J. Allen also was indicted, the charge against him being larceny of $154, and is said to be based on a case in which he acted as counsel several years ago.

The other indictments resulted from a grand jury investigation of charges of bribery and graft in connection with affairs of the Waban Rose Conservatories and the Henry Woods's Sons Company, paint manufacturers, in Wellesley.

The cases were presented through the office of Dist.-Atty. J. C. Pelletier, who was himself in court today as a defendant in disbarment proceedings brought by the Attorney-General.

FRANCE AND ITALY TO GIVE NAVY VIEWS.

NO AGREEMENT WILL BE APPROVED UNTIL BOTH COUNTRIES SATISFIED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Franco-Italian contention that an agreement covering limitation of naval armament of the United States, Great Britain and Japan should not be approved by these powers until the naval status of France and Italy had been settled, has been accepted in principle by the committee on limitation of armament, it was learned tonight.

Secretary Hughes, as chairman, was understood to have agreed to the proposal that no signatures will be attached to the naval agreement until the French and Italian positions have been worked out as definitely as those of the three major naval powers.

Omission of the French and Italian fleets from the agreement defining naval strength, it was observed, might produce an unpleasant impression in some quarters and possibly lead to complications.

Conference May Conclude Work Within a Month

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Appointment today of the "committee of admirals" to draft the technical agreement covering limitation of naval armament was viewed by leading members of several delegations as a most important step towards the successful and comparatively early conclusion of the Washington conference.

The opinion was expressed by some delegations that the conference might conclude its work in a month, or it might be possible to adjourn before Christmas to some details to committees necessary, it was said, the principal delegates could return here later for the signing of definite agreements.

Western Avenue Lot Values Up 300 Per Cent

EXAMPLES by the dozen can be cited by almost any real estate broker of equally amazing increases in Los Angeles property values. One instance mentioned recently was that of a Western Avenue lot which was sold in 1917 for $1,000 and which changed hands a few days ago at $4,000. Another was that of a lot which was sold in 1916 for $1,500 and which was resold in 1919 for $6,000. Another was that of a lot which was sold in 1917 for $1,000 and which was resold in 1919 for $4 of the American proposal are to be thrashed out by sailor men of high degree. On the naval committee to which was referred the problem will sit ranking naval advisers of the five powers, Admiral Beatty for Great Britain, Vice-Admiral DeBon for France, Vice-Admiral Acton for Italy, Vice-Admiral Kato for Japan, and Theodore Roosevelt, assistant Secretary of the Navy, for the United States. At the suggestion of Balfour, Roosevelt will act as chairman.

The naval committee was selected by the representatives of the five big powers, meeting in the plenary session as a committee on limitation of armament.

SHIPPING BOARD NOT TO BE INVESTIGATED

LA FOLLETTE RESOLUTION LOSES BY UNANIMOUS COMMITTEE VOTE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Senate Commerce Committee declined today to institute an investigation of the Shipping Board as proposed in a resolution by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin. The vote was understood to have been unanimous, Senators voicing the opinion that the proposed inquiry was unnecessary and unwarranted at this time.

Discussion behind the closed doors was said to have been to the effect that an investigation would be destructive rather than constructive.

The La Follette resolution was understood not to have been formally presented for consideration, the committee holding itself to the general subject of an inquiry.

SUSTO is the Only Vitamine Tonic Food Ever O. K.'d by a World Famous Nutritional Expert

Dr. Philip B. Hawk is the Professor of Physiological Chemistry at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. He analyzed SUSTO, checked up its action, scientifically tested its nutritive value and digestibility in normal human beings and its therapeutic and reconstructive powers in numerous cases of Run-Down Conditions, Loss of Flesh, Anemia, Lack of Strength, Convalescence, Malnutrition, Under Weight and Under Nourishment of men, women and children. After which he made a most favorable report, extracts from which we hereafter reprint.

This is the first time in history that a tonic reconstructive has been offered to the public backed by the full approval of world-recognized, scientific authority. It is the first time such a preparation has been ethically tested in every possible way before being placed on the market.

"In all cases of a general run-down system or in convalescence from such diseases as typhoid fever or influenza, SUSTO played a very important part in stimulating the appetite and causing increases in body weight.

"In practically every case the tonic or stimulating effect was apparent at the start of the feeding and persisted.

"In every instance where under-nourished infants and children were given SUSTO, important body-weight increases were registered. A notable case is that of a boy of eleven who had been under weight for three or four years in spite of the best medical and dietetic treatment. The feeding of SUSTO produced a gain of six pounds.

"SUSTO also caused normal adult persons to put on weight. One of our cases (a normal young woman) gained seven pounds in two months by the use of it. And still another, a married woman, gained twelve pounds in three months.

"One old lady of 75, who had weighed under 96 pounds for 20 years, increased her weight to 100 pounds by the use of SUSTO.

"In no case did any patient object to the taste of SUSTO. In fact, one physician associated with us reports that one of his child patients now refuses to take any milk unless it contains SUSTO.

"Those individuals were found who could not digest straight milk but who could handle milk with SUSTO very nicely.

"SUSTO as improved by us is an excellent nutritive tonic and growth-promoting therapeutic product. It should prove useful to all convalescents, to normal adults who wish to put on weight, to under-nourished children and adults, and to men, women and children in general who show signs of a run-down system."

It would be impossible to secure higher testimony as to the tonic food value of SUSTO.

SUSTO is rich in the Vitamines of Rice, Eggs, Milk and Yeast—notably rich in Fat Soluble and Water Soluble Vitamines A.B.C., together with Beef Protein, Nuclein and Iron well indicated for malnutrition and allied diseases.

A copy of Dr. Hawk's full report will be sent to any physician. A postal request will bring it. Address Chester Kent & Co., Chemists, Boston, Mass.

in yards on the east coast, and are about one-third built, except the Washington and West Virginia, respectively about 70 and 62 per cent completed.

No change is contemplated, according to naval experts, concerning the superdreadnaughts now on the Pacific Coast, who point out that those vessels have been expressly designated in the suggested program for reduction as to be retained by the United States. These include the California, recently put in commission, Oklahoma, New York, Texas, Arizona, Mississippi, Nevada, Pennsylvania, Idaho and New Mexico.

Conjectures are rife in naval circles as to just what particular vessels, now a constituent part of the Pacific fleet, will be scrapped in the event of the adoption of the American proposal. It is said by experts that the age of a vessel is not necessarily any criterion of its present usefulness and for that reason any guess as to what identical ships will be scrapped is more or less haphazard.

Cantilever Shoe For Men, Women and Children

How to Be Strong

Exercise makes strength. Exercise aids health and good health is essential to strength.

Shoes contribute to weakness or strength, to illness or health. The only objection to proper shoes — "they look set" — has been entirely overcome by the manufacturers of Cantilever Shoes. Style has swung around from the pointed, long vamped, high heeled shoe to the efficient, correctly shaped shoe for daytime wear. (Evening dress is another matter).

Shaped like the foot, flexible like the foot arch, Cantilever Shoes are encouraging women to walk more, to exercise, to enjoy an active life. LAUDS HUGHES FOR STATEMENT

Italian Senator Declares It First Peace Step,

Gives Impression of Force, Sincerity, Courage.

Hopes Proposals Will Lead to Happy Result.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Senator Schanzer, head of Italy's armament delegation, speaking at today's session of the conference, said:

"The time has come, and this conference has been called not for general reasons and mutual advice, but for action.

"You (Secretary Hughes) proved at once that you mean to carry out your suggestion into practical execution.

LAUDS HUGHES.

"The first impression made by your statement concerning the limitation of naval armament is one of great sincerity, great force, great courage. You stated clearly and unhesitatingly the question of limitation of naval armament as concerns especially the great naval powers, and you did it with precision of facts and of figures, thus affording a solid basis for discussion.

"We shall not consider the technical side of the question which concerns especially the great naval powers. We only wish to express in the name of the Italian delegation our great satisfaction in the proposals for general order. We hope that your proposal when accepted will be the source of the most beneficent consequences. The peace of the world cannot be permanently maintained if you do not consider the ways and means to re-establish the economic balance of the world.

Modern civilization is an economic civilization; and the modern world, in spite of the distances and natural barriers, cannot be conceived except as a single great economic system. This economic system has been shattered by the war. It is necessary now to revise it and to get it into motion again.

FIRST STEP.

"We think your proposal is the first effective step towards giving the world a release of such nature as to enable it to start the work of its economic reconstruction.

"In respect to Mr. Balfour's reference to the question of French and Italian naval forces, may I be allowed to say a few words.

"I think it rather difficult to separate the question of Italian and French naval armament limitation from the general question of the limitation of naval armaments. Certainly as you have stated, Mr. Chairman, he question concerning the great naval powers must be considered in the first place and you have stated that the United States proposes that this matter be left for the later consideration of the conference. So we wish and feel sure in accordance with your statement that the French and Italian naval question will be considered by the conference before concluding the question involved in your proposal.

"In conclusion I express in the name of the Italian delegation the most fervent wish that the conference, taking your proposal as its working basis, may lead to a result which would be extremely happy not only for the powers directly interested, but for the entire world."

Persian Minister Received.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Presenting his credentials today to President Harding, Mirza Hussein Khan Alai, new Persian Minister, expressed "the deep sense of appreciation" of his sovereign for the "interest invariably shown by the American government and people in the welfare of Persia."

JAPANESE DISSATISFIED.

Nippon Feels Her Warship Tonnage Not Enough Under the American Proposals Declare Delegates.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Japan feels that her ration of warship tonnage is not high enough under the American proposals, it was said tonight by members of the Japanese delegation.

During Admiral Baron Kato's speech at the armament conference today, his statement that Japan would suggest some modifications in the tonnage basis for replacement caused some speculation as to whether it referred to regulating the capacity of shipyards so that new warships could be built regularly, or whether it meant that Japan favored a higher ratio of tonnage compared with the United States and Great Britain.

POINT IS CLEARED.

Tonight's statement clears up this point and shows Japan will later put forth the factors which lead her to believe some increase of tonnage should be afforded her. How much increase is desired was not explained tonight, but emphasis was laid upon the special conditions surrounding Japan as an insular power in need of an adequate defensive fleet.

Practical considerations are said to be behind the attitude of Japan whose representatives reiterated tonight that she has no ambition to equal the navy of England or the United States.

WHAT'S ON MINDS.

The probable developments of science in increasing the mobilization power of a fleet to distant waters in an offensive, the presence of naval bases near Japan, and the augmented mobilization power of an adversary's fleet when reduced in units, all enter into the Japanese mind as indicating the wisdom of a higher ratio than six to ten.

The suggested increase will probably affect all classes including submarines. The Japanese expressed confidence that the committee of experts would understand their case and that a ratio adjustment would not materially affect Japan's blanket acceptance of the American proposal.

GERMAN RIOTING IS PREDICTED

Economic Experts Forecast Serious Trouble This Winter Due to High Prices.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Predictions by economic experts that there would be serious riots this winter in consequence of the increase in the price of all foodstuffs, were verified this morning when a crowd of 1000 invaded and plundered the groceries and butcher shops in Neukoelln, the working man's suburb of Berlin. The crowd seized stocks of butter, cheese, eggs, bread and other foodstuffs and under the direction of unemployed commenced a general attack on all the shops in the town.

Police were sent to quell the disorder and upon their arrival the crowd dispersed, fleeing in all directions. None of the raiders were captured and no arrests were made. Additional attacks were expected tonight so a strong cordon of police was placed around the affected district.

The blame for high prices popularly is attributed to the high rate of the dollar although the Guiden, pound and franc proportionately are as high.

A prominent director of the Deutsche Bank, speaking of the situation, said to the Tribune correspondent:

"The other night I showed my wife a lamp post on which I expect to be hanged unless prices cease rising."

Mystery Attack is Made Upon Eastern Doctor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LEWISTON (Pa.) Nov. 15.—Although dangerously wounded, Dr. Frederick W. Black, who recently took charge as chief of staff of the Lewiston Hospital, is recovering a strange attack made upon him early today in his home.

The night bell at his door was rung about 2 a.m. and Dr. Black descended from his second floor bedroom, dressed for the street, believing the call to be one for medical aid. As he stepped into the darkened hallway he was shot from the back by a man lurking there. Dr. Black was unable to describe his assailant and the police have been unsuccessful in finding either act or motive for the attack on the physician's life.

BAKERSFIELD HAS SLIGHT TEMBLORS.

WASHINGTON AND SANTA CLARA SEISMOGRAPHS RECORD SHOCKS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 15.—An earth tremor was felt by residents of this city at 6:25 o'clock this morning. The shake continued for several minutes, but was not violent enough to cause any damage. Two distinct shocks were felt.

BERKELEY, Nov. 15.—The earthquake shock reported from Bakersfield was not recorded on the University of California seismograph. The geological department said this indicated the shock probably was confined to a small locality.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A pronounced earthquake shock was registered on the seismograph at Georgetown University today, the estimated distance of the disturbance being 1900 miles from Washington and probably to the south. The tremors began at 3:51 p.m., attained their maximum intensity at 4:01, and ended at 5:05 o'clock.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 15.—Father Ricard of the University of Santa Clara reports four slight earthquake shocks as being registered at the University during the last twenty-four hours. They were all from distant points. One, at 3:30 this afternoon, was the most severe.

OFFERS FORTUNE TO WIFE IS SHE WEDS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—John Baldwin Seaman, wealthy paper merchant, offered $25,000 to his wife if she remarries.

Seaman's offer was included in a set of stipulations filed in the Brooklyn Supreme Court along with a referee's report recommending that his wife be granted a divorce.

When she gets her decree, Mrs. Seaman is to receive an immediate settlement of $25,000 with a similar amount to follow should she rewed.

FIND DEAD MAN VICTIM OF BULLET.

Herman Goldstein, who died at the Receiving Hospital early yesterday morning, was the victim of a gunshot wound, it was found last night.

As a result of the affair, Paul Foreman, a jeweler, was lodged in the County Jail on suspicion of manslaughter. According to the account given Deputy Sheriffs Dewar, Johnson and Hoit, Foreman was driving a car through Culver City when he was stopped by Motorcycle Officer Minor. In the car at the time, it was stated, were Lieut. Harry K. Leventen of the U.S.S. Connecticut, Mr. Goldstein, Juanita Hawkins, 325 West Forty-seventh Place, and Mrs. Gladys Hellman of a local hotel.

It was reported that a fight followed and in the scuffle the officer's revolver, which he held in his hand, was discharged. Then, it is asserted, Foreman speeded up his machine and left. Officer Minor gave chase, later finding the car had collided at Washington and Hoover streets with one driven by Dr. A. Gottlieb. Mr. Goldstein was thrown twenty-five feet by the force of the impact. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he died.

Lieut. Leventen was allowed to leave but was instructed to appear as a witness this morning at the morgue of George Fitch, where an inquest will be held by Coroner Nance.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Elida Pizs, Costa Rican beauty, and Herbert P. Crane, millionaire ironmaster of Chicago, and of "Wild Rose" farm, near Geneva, Ill., whom she divorced a year ago, are to meet in New York in a day or two and, it is reported, a reconciliation and remarriage may result.

Mr. Crane left Chicago for New York tonight accompanied by attorneys and some close friends. James Hamilton Lewis, counsel for the former Mrs. Crane, has been summoned to that city as has her brother, Samuel Piza, Consul for Costa Rica at Washington. A steamer bearing Mme. Piza from her Southland home is expected in New York Thursday.

JUDGE IS REGRETFUL OVER JAIL SENTENCE.

WOULD IMPOSE LIFE TERM OR DEATH ON CONVICTED ARSONIST.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Expressing regret that the law did not permit him to impose a sentence of life imprisonment or death in the electric chair, Judge Gibbs in Bronx County Court today sentenced Raphael Bocagna, 41, a cobbler, to not less than twenty nor more than forty years in Sing Sing.

The cobbler was convicted of first-degree arson in having set fire to an apartment on July 6, last, endangering the lives of the members of twenty-five families.

ATTEMPT TO ROB MAIL CAR FAILS.

CLERK OVERPOWERS WOULD-BE BANDIT ON SANTA FE LINE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 15.—An attempt to rob the mail car on train No. 170 of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway while the train was standing at the station here tonight was frustrated when Herman Inderlied of Phoenix, mail clerk in charge of the car, overpowered the would-be robber.

Inderlied's assailant was taken to the County Jail, where he told police that his name was R. P. Nelson and that he had one accomplice who deserted him when Inderlied struck him.

Train No. 170 was due to leave ten minutes after the attempted robbery for Los Angeles.

DENY SINN FEINERS RECOGNIZE KING.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 15.—Sean O'Ceallaigh, Sinn Fein representative here, today denied reports that the Irish delegates in London had agreed to recognize the sovereignty of the king and to accept as a settlement of Irish claims, a modified form of dominion home-rule.

QUESTION OF ARMIES RAISED

Briand in Speech Accepting Navy Plan Tells Attitude.

Declares Hughes Proposals Only to be Expected.

Fully Concurs With Balfour Statements at Meet.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Premier Briand of France, addressing the Armament Conference today, said:

"Mr. Chairman, I fully concur with what the president of the British delegation (Mr. Balfour) has said when, at the beginning of his statement, he said that this conference would be one of the great landmarks in the history of the world and of civilization.

"While I do not quite agree with him, at least not to the same extent, as to his feelings, as expressed, when he first heard the statement made by the representative of the United States. I may say for my own part that when coming here I felt sure that a great people like the United States could not have begun such a momentous initiative without having definite, clear-cut purpose.

NO RIGHT TO PROMISE.

"I feel, gentlemen, that we have no longer the right in those questions of peace and war, when we undertake to promise to the world that there shall be no more war, that there shall be everlasting peace after the painful struggle from which we have just emerged, we have no right to let the people of the world hope for a final peace unless we have made up our minds to prepare and to decide on the means that are most appropriate in order to realize these hopes.

"Many conferences and congresses have met in order to try to carry out this noble idea and Mr. Balfour was right when he pointed out the great danger there was in looking at this question through the glass of idealism. But Mr. Secretary, you have shown us the way, you have shown that it was no longer a question of groping for a way out of the difficulty; you have struck out boldly the opportunity for us by setting the example. I may say we are back of you, Mr. Secretary.

READY TO JOIN.

"Of course, during these difficult, arduous examinations of the detail, upon which, after all, depends the practical realization, if it happens that we are taken out of the straight way and feel the temptation of using the devious paths, we, on the part of France, are ready to join our efforts to those of other men of good will and help in returning to the fair, straight road that would take us to our goal.

"The question with which we have first to deal here is, of course, one that mainly concerns the great naval powers, but I may say for my part that I have listened with great joy to the very large, broad and general adhesion given in principle by the governments of Great Britain and Japan. It is not that France feels disinterested in this question.

"We shall have, I hope, an opportunity of saying this and showing it, but I may say now—and this will be carried out later on by figures and by demonstration—that we have already entered upon the right way and that we have already done something in the direction you indicate. The war has kept us down to a certain level, of course. It has prevented us from carrying out our plans for a weak fleet, perhaps too weak for the necessities of national defense.

LAND ARMAMENTS.

"But I will not dwell on this subject. I rather turn to another side of the problem to which Mr. Balfour has alluded, and I thank him for this. Is it only a question here of economy? Is it only a question of estimates and budgets? If it were so, if that were the only purpose you have in view, it will be really unworthy of the great nation that has called us here. So, the main question, the crucial question which is to be discussed, is to know if the peoples will be at last able to come to an understanding to avoid the atrocities of war.

"And then, gentlemen, when it comes on the agenda, as it will inevitably, to the question of land armament, a question particularly delicate for France, as you are aware, we have no intention to eschew this. We shall answer your appeal fully conscious that this is a question of a grave and serious nature for us.

"REMEMBER WHAT CENTRE DID TO HARVARD" IS WHITTIER'S WAR CRY.

POETS HOPE TO ANNEX TITLE OF THE SOUTH.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, Nov. 15.—Does Coach E. H. Perry of Whittier really expect to defeat U.S.C. when his Poet eleven mixes with the Trojans on Bovard Field Saturday afternoon? This is what more than a handful of Quakertown fans are asking themselves and each other. The Poet mentor very wisely evades the issue and smilingly asks if you think it will rain. But that doesn't mean that he does or he doesn't believe that the conference champions have it in them to beat the Trojans. He wouldn't say any more than that before the Pomona game.

Whether the Poets win or lose Saturday this is the biggest football season Quakertown has ever had. Folks out there are prouder of that team of theirs than some folks are of a brand new baby. A few short weeks ago everybody thought the Poets had a pretty good chance for an even break at the conference title. As far as U.S.C. was concerned — well, wouldn't it be nice just to have the conference championship?

Just to show how times have changed: last night the student body pulled off a big celebration over the winning of the conference title. They had a big parade downtown; headed it with the city band and the football squad on a big truck with an escort of honor made up of trained animals. The menagerie included tigers, beavers, bulldogs, bear cubs and sagehens. The sagehen happened to be a sage rooster that looked like a cross between a giraffe and an ostrich but that didn't matter. Hundreds of folks turned out to State Athletic Commission Displeased With Wrestler's Foul Tactics.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Local promoters of last night's wrestling bout between John Pesek of Nebraska and Marin Plestina, Serbian, have been ordered by the State Athletic Commission to hold the Nebraskan's share of the purse. Pesek was disqualified for rough tactics and forever barred from wrestling activity in this State.

Plestina was awarded the first fall on a foul after eleven minutes and nineteen seconds of wrestling, when Pesek ignored the referee's warnings to desist from his savage attack. The Nebraskan continued to gouge and butt Plestina and at the end of twenty-four minutes and four seconds Plestina was awarded another fall. Members of the athletic commission then overruled the referee and ordered the match resumed until a legitimate fall was gained. When Pesek again resorted to gouging, the bout was stopped and the decision awarded to Plestina.

Burly Boys Who Fight in the Line.

Forward stars of U.S.C. and Whittier who will clash in title fight next Saturday.

Players on the line of scrimmage seldom come in for much attention from the average fan, who glues his eyes on the man with the ball. But the husky young athletes pictured above are big cogs in their team's play. Joe Buckmaster (top) is Whittier's right tackle and one of the best that ever played for the Quakertown college. Orrie Hester (below) holds down right guard for the U.S.C. Trojans, and is one of Gloomy Henderson's prides and joys.

NOBODY CAN SEE CARDS.

But Andy Smith Won't Let California Slaughter Stanford Before Game is Played.

BY ED R. HUGHES.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Everyone was glad to see the prodigal son except the fatted calf. That seems to be what the Stanford players should think about the game with California next Saturday, according to most folks on the side lines. That the Stanford fellows do not look at it that way at all makes no difference in the mind of the public. Stanford is to be slaughtered to make a California holiday, according to this dope, and the first victorious serpentine to be staged in the splendid new stadium will be put on by the California students and not for the Stanford boys. But if the things that simply cannot happen, should happen and Stanford should beat California—well, say, that stadium would just about be wrecked by the frenzied Stanford men and no one could blame them, either.

Stanford is the under dog in this coming fight, so far under that the team can hardly be seen, but there have been some mighty upsets in sports in all lines so Andy Smith, for one, will not count Stanford down and out until the final whistle blows, next Saturday.

GETS HIS GOAT.

Some of his boys, who will play their last conference game for California next Saturday, are inclined to look upon Stanford as easy meat, and that attitude gets Andy's goat. He has been after some of the veterans with a sharp stick here lately, and last Monday he shot some of the so-called second-string men into the line-up in practice.

The way those second-stringers spread Washington over the turf last Saturday should take the tightness out of the hat bands of the regulars. Any regular who sat around and watched that display should not feel any too sure of his job, even if he is a senior. No time to loaf when a fellow just as good and possibly a little better is sitting on a bench anxious to get in there and show you up. The dash of the subs last Saturday makes an ideal situation for Andy Smith, but it makes it a bit binding on some of the boys who are inclined to think themselves fixtures and indispensable.

Much is said and written about the Stanford spirit. It is a splendid thing and it will be at flood tide next Saturday. But California has spirit, too, and in addition has ability of high order.

All Stanford is asked to do next Saturday is to beat one of the best football teams, if not the very best in the United States. That is a pretty large order.

COONEY MEETS HENDRICKS.

In the semi-windup, Joe Fisher, lightweight champion of the Navy, will battle Harry Sutton, ex-featherweight champion. Other bouts scheduled will be:

Kid Hagen, battleship Idaho, vs. Jim Huff, the New York, 133 pounds.

K. O. Joyce, the Pennsylvania, vs. Sailor Goldman, the Idaho, 145 pounds.

Cooney is a hot favorite with the men of the Pacific Fleet and a lot of money is expected to change hands. Hendricks represented the Navy at the International Athletic meet in Antwerp, Belgium, and is declared to be a two-fisted fighter of extraordinary ability.

A special feature of Wednesday night's doings at Peck's Pavilion will be the staging of a Red Cross drive by the Red Cross. A number of popular moving picture actresses from Los Angeles are booked to appear on the program.

ONLY ONE GAME FOR PENN STATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Nov. 15.—Penn State's football team will play only the University of Washington on its trip to the Pacific Coast early next month, according to a letter received here from Hugo Bezdek, coach of the easterners.

Efforts were made to get other games for Penn State against the Oregon Agricultural College, the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club of Portland, and the Pacific Fleet. Bezdek's attitude, it is said, is that Penn State would have nothing to gain and everything to lose by playing a second game.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 15.—Cort Majors and Bob Cravens, former California and Stanford football stars, respectively, will be linesmen at the big game between the two schools here next Saturday.

Danny Edwards and Bobby Ertle Brew One Draw

Danny Edwards and Bobby Ertle went through a lot of fancy ducking, feinting and whamming at Vernon last night and wound up with a draw for their pains. Close observers thought Edwards had the majority of the points, but Referee Dick Donald didn't see it that way, and that settled it.

In the second half of the main event Bobby Harper, a long lank and clean cut chap from Portland, beat Billy McCann all the way. He had all the best of the infighting and at long range was supreme.

Chic Roach won from Johnny Weber in a punk brawl, but the crudest event of the evening was the alleged go between Billy Alvares and Chet Neff. The latter pulled his punches all the way, but to judge by the applause the bugs actually liked it. Neff was awarded the decision of the comedy affair.

In a bloody four-round smear Ted Morgan got the decision over Willie Shyrock, Eddie Denny beat Young Cumpston in a haymaker scream, and Herb Ryan won the curtain-raiser by knocking out Eddie Mason in the fourth round.

TITLE RACE BEGINS SOON.

Prep Championship Mix-ups Start Next Week.

Play for State Honors on December 10.

C.I.F. Official Announces the Schedule.

As son as the dust has settled in all of the various prep football leagues, the sporting gentry will turn their attention to the play-off for the Southern California title. The final games in every division of the C.I.F. will be played this week, and the semifinals of the championship race will start November 19.

George M. Green of Inglewood High School, secretary of the C.I.F., southern section, has announced the schedule of play-offs as follows:

November 19, Montebello (Valley League) vs. San Diego (free lance) at San Diego. Santa Ana (Orange League) vs. Van Nuys (San Fernando Valley League) at Santa Ana.

November 26, winner Montebello-San Diego vs. City League champions. Winner Van Nuys-Santa Ana vs. Bay League champions. Winner Central League vs. winner Citrus League.

The winners in the last two sets will meet December 3, and the resulting victor will meet the winner of the City League champs vs. winner San Diego-Montebello in the final game for the Southern California prep title, December 10.

In the meantime, the Central California championship will have been decided, and following the deciding game of the southern section title, the semifinal for the State championship will be played between the respective winners in these two divisions. The resulting winner will hook up with the Northern California titleholders for the California prep championship some time before January.

Ties in several of the leagues may hasten matters in deciding the Southern California championship, as it is seldom possible to play off a tie in time to keep in the running. At present the City League, Central League and Bay League are all liable to be left out of things, for in each case a tie is possible.

Conference Football Season Will End With the Pigskin Doings Saturday.

TO HOLD FINAL GRID TUSSLES.

Last Conference Games Will Take Place Saturday.

Occidental, Pomona Crash in Grudge Battle.

Caltek Takes on Redlands at Tournament Park.

The Southern conference football season will give its dying gasp next Saturday when Redlands and Caltek tear up the turf of Tournament Park, and Occidental and Pomona hold their yearly grudge scrap at Alumni Field, Claremont. Although Whittier robbed the Oxy-Sagehen fracas of its usual reward of the Conference Title, the game out in the sage-brush village is creating no little interest.

For the first time in a number of years Occidental has a real healthy chance of trouncing Nixon's pupils. Not since 1916, when the Tigers trampled everything in the State, has Oxy dragged the Blue and White in the mud, but from all available dope the teams seem to be about even this season.

OUT FOR GOOD.

Capt. Rap Powers of the Bengal pigskinners, who has been alternately on the varsity and the sick list this year, has now contracted pneumonia, and will be in the hospital when the Tiger-Sagehen rumpus is pulled off Saturday. While this misfortune will cripple Pipal's machine seriously the Oxy rooters still insist that Pomona will get licked.

Caltek's tussle with Redlands should also thrill the bleacher bugs. By comparative scores Redlands has the best chance, but if Stanton's yellow-shirted Engineers land on top it won't be the first time the dope sheet has proved nothing more than a scrap of paper.

Fox Stanton is putting his men through some rigorous exercise in preparation for their final appearances and is convinced that they have an excellent opportunity of humbling Guy Daniels's outfit. Both the line and backfield of the Beaver machine are in good condition. Goof Kemp and big Ed Great are expected to be the outstanding stars. Shorty Beeson, who glimmered brightly against the Southern Branch last week, may be given a chance to show his ability in line bucking.

BOATING FANS AWAIT RACES.

Thousands to See Motorboat Regatta Saturday.

Course to be Run is Set Off Terminal Island.

Nordlinger Cup is Trophy to be Battled For.

Ray Thomas and E. R. Abbott, those two pioneers of the speed boat game in Los Angeles, arrived from the harbor yesterday afternoon fairly bristling with news on the annual Nordlinger trophy race to be held Saturday and Sunday. The race the one big event held each year by the Los Angeles Motorboat Club will come off this year over practically the first course the cup was first contended for in 1912.

In order that thousands can see the race in comfort instead of hanging onto the rocks of the breakwater and the pilings of the fast decaying Miner Fill, the regatta committee has wisely set a course just off Terminal Island.

THREE MILES.

This course will measure three miles in perimeter and will be rectangular in shape. The start will be just off Dead Man's Island. The course will then run in an easterly direction for approximately a mile and a quarter to a point just off Fish Harbor. Each end of the course will be 600 yards.

The Harbor Commissioners have co-operated with the regatta committee and will have an expert engineer log the course. This will mean accuracy of the distance that no one can dispute.

Another feature of the course being laid off Terminal will be that practically no driftwood will have to be contended with.

DRIFTWOOD THICK.

For a number of years the races have been held over a course, sometimes triangular and sometimes rectanguar, in the inner harbor. Last year, the driftwood was so thick that three of the boats were put out of commission long before the race was finished. Also, this mass of floating logs, stantillings and planks possibly kept the winning boat from making better speed than it did, an average of 40 miles an hour for the race, a distance of 72 miles.

The speed boat fans will be able to witness the race from the beach and get to Terminal either by the First street or Fifth-street ferries.

Secretary Abbott announced that nothing definite has been heard from the northern speed boat owners. Earl Miller of San Francisco and Fred Vogler of Portland. Both had contemplated coming here with the boats when the race was first scheduled for last month, but the changed date probably has changed their minds.

FOUR VETS.

However, that will leave four positive entries for the great race, four veterans of the game who have had four ships constructed that should be the fastest ever to race for Nordlinger's cup—Dustin Farnum, Joe Fellows, Frank A. Garbutt and "Wild Bill" Paden.

All four entrants have had hard luck this year in getting their boats in shape. This has been one of the main reasons for the holding of the race so late in the season.

Ol' Joe Fellows sent east for a motor and it was lost in transit. It was traced and finally got here. Joe has had it set up in the hull of last year's boat. In trial trips the Fellows Something has hit a good speed and no doubt Fellows will again haul down the consistency trophy. His engine is a late model, six-cylinder Sterling, capable of 300 horsepower.

DELL IS DARB ON DARK DAY.

scribe remarked that Wheeler hadn't allowed a hit—a remark which has ruined many a no-hit performance. Under the big league penal code, such a remark is punishable with death. Anyway, Heinie Sands, the next man up, slapped a single, not only ruining Wheezer's perfect day, but starting a two-run sortie.

Bill Perrica, who poured saliva on the troubled ball when pitching for the Angels, has reformed, and gave a demonstration of dry pitching, which was successful until the sixth.

JIMMY IN RIGHT.

BONES LOOSE.

Heinie Sands of Salt Lake was at short for the Seals. Hal Rhyne, the regular shortstop, is here to get his ankle tightened up. An X-ray shows that the bones in Rhyne's ankle have worked loose and pulled apart. It isn't a sprain or a dislocation, but the bones have simply worked loose like a joint in a flivver. And unlike a flivver, the ankle can't be tightened up by the simple twist of a monkey wrench. This case has our best mechanics buffaloed.

Two Tigers had been retired when the Seals started skidding in the sixth. Wolfer whanged a double, and Sisler was accorded the distinction of being purposely passed. By now passing batters was a bad habit with Bill and which he couldn't recover, with the result that he walked Smith and Sawyer, forcing Wolfer across with the game's first run. Sisler pulled off a double steal in conjunction with Smith, sliding across the plate in front of Perrica's delivery to Jenkins. Jenkins threw low trying to get Smith off third, and J. Carlisle came home. Mitze mauled the atmosphere.

Reuther's walk, a single by Blenkiron, Cooper's double and a sacrifice fly by Wolfer produced two in the seventh.

Mr. Reuther is giving the fans a treat these days by wearing a Dodger cap, which has been grazed by many a trolley. The score:

have the courage to make a champion, but if he is up against a man with a .45 automatic, who knows how to use it, he is handicapped to say the least.

That is just about what it will be next Saturday—a man with a slingshot against a man with an automatic.

THEY KNOW IT.

Coach Van Gent will have no trouble curbing overconfidence among his men. That game against Nevada sobered them. Andy Smith can combat cockiness with his subs. He can replace any man on his team and the regulars know it now even if they had any doubts before last Saturday.

There were times in the first half of the game against Washington when some of the California regulars took things easy. They looked a bit stale. Maybe they were. They will have to snap out of it next Saturday or some of those eager subs will be in their places in a jiffy. It is an old saying that Stanford plays away over its head against California, so do not be surprised if Stanford plays its best game of the season next Saturday to open the new stadium.

Van Gent made no secret of the fact last Saturday that he was saving his men for the California game, for he kept Faville, Campbell and Betts, his best guards, out of the game; Ludeke, his best tackle, was taken out early and Art Wilcox, his best backfield man, was not started at all. Dick Pershing, one of the regular ends, played only a little while and Larson, who took his place was decoyed in so that Bradshaw made some long runs around his end.

Next Saturday the very best team that Stanford can put on the field will be started. This game is the climax of the season and every man on the squad is ready to give the best he has in stock to beat California.

STAR ON JOB.

Ty Cobb left Monday night for Los Angeles, a sorely disappointed athlete. He planned all season on seeing the California team in action but could never make it. He said before he left that he might get away from Los Angeles to see the California-Stanford game but Alfy Putnam went with him and will see that Ty stays in Los Angeles. The San Francisco ball team in the Winter League without Ty to would not look right, so Alfy will keep the baseball star on the job.

Andy Smith was anxious to have Cobb meet the members of the California football squad. Andy lectures his boys on the necessity for concentration when learning football and he points to Cobb as an example of what concentration will do for a man. No man living plays harder than Cobb and he has had to work long and faithfully to overcome his weaknesses. Too bad Ty did not meet the California bunch. He would have had a peek at some of the finest physical specimens in the U.S.A.

POETS HOPE TO ANNEX HONORS

see and hear, and with confetti, pom-poms, gay decorations and lots of noise it was a gala occasion. It was meant to celebrate laurels already won but turned into a pep-fest for the U.S.C. game. And what they didn't do to the poor Trojans wouldn't be worth mentioning. The Quaker war cry now is: "Remember what Centre did to Harvard! On to U.S.C.!"

NO CINCH.

The Poets are taking the game Saturday very seriously. They realize that they do have a big opportunity and they're making the most of it. Every afternoon is being put in with the hardest kind of practice. The students voluntarily offered to cut the noon hour short in order that classes might be over earlier and thus give the squad more time to practice. Coaches Perry and Breuckner evidently intend to put in the week oiling up and polishing the rough spots in their machine. They are building up a strong defense against the forward pass and at the same time taking the kinks out of that part of the Poets' offensive that so far has not been used.

A real comparison of U.S.C. and Whittier is hard to make. The Trojans will start the game undoubtedly with a big edge. This will be a new experience for the Quakers this season, just as it was for U.S.C. at California. What the edge in this case really amounts to remains to be seen. The Poets defeated Pomona by a bigger score than did U.S.C., but the Trojans did not extend themselves and used very few plays. On the other hand the Whittier team has not extended itself and has also used a small number of plays. U.S.C. will undoubtedly be weaker both physically and in spirit than when they met California. With Boyle out of the game the Poet forwards should have an even break with the Trojans, and given a few breaks the Whittier eleven may make it hot for the Cardinal and Gold.

In every game this season the Poets have stuck to a program of kicking and waiting for breaks. With such men as Suggett and Thompson in the backfield to make good use of the breaks when they do come this method has proved very successful.

The biggest handicap which the Poets will face Saturday will be that of substitutes. The Quaker eleven has a few first-class substitutes, but not to compare with the wealth of material which U.S.C. has. Gives an even break to begin with and the Trojans would probably be able to batter the Poets sufficiently to win.

ZBYSZKO MAY MEET PLESTINA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOISE (Idaho), Nov. 14.—Stanislaus Zybszko, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, will be open to match with Marin Plestina, who tonight was awarded a decision over Joe Pesek at New York, if Plestina issues a challenge, Jack Herman, manager of Zbyszko, announced tonight.

OVER HALF-TON MARK.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 15.—Tickets for the big game between California and Stanford at the latter's new stadium will weigh more than half a ton, according to an estimate given out today. Bringing tickets for a portion of two sections from San Francisco to the Stanford campus, Graduate Manager W. D. Fletcher found them to weigh 138 pounds, and accordingly the pasteboards for the 65,000 people will go well over the half-ton mark.

One hundred and fifty students have been chosen as ushers and ticket takers for th big game. It is thought that an even larger list will have to be drafted in order to handle the 65,000 people who will flock to the occasion.

The Freshmen at Stanford University have raised a bonfire pyre to the height of 38 feet, in anticipation of the celebration on the Wednesday night preceding the big game with California. Every year Stanford holds a great rally on this night and tops off the celebration with the lighting of the gigantic bonfire which the Freshmen are now building. They hope to achieve a new record in height and size of the pile.

Visitors to the Stanford Stadium on the day of the big game will be able to secure sandwiches and other edibles at lunch stands to be run under the direct supervision of the Standard Board of Athletic Control, it was announced today. The customary circus prices will not be charged, according to Bill Fletcher, the Graduate Manager, who states that concession managers will be required to keep well within reasonable limits.

SWIMMING EXHIBITION.

Miss Laura Gattegno, a pupil from the Wilkinson College of Swimming, gave an exhibition of water navigation at the recent opening of the Sunset Canyon Country Club at Burbank. The performance consisted of a number of fancy strokes demenstrated in expert fashion.

NEWS NOTES OF FLEET

Commander W. C. I. Stiles, athletic and morale officer aboard the dreadnaught Nevada, has been ordered to report for duty with the destroyer force of the Atlantic Fleet. Commander Stiles is the third of the Nevada's officers to be detached, Chaplain John H. Finn having been ordered to shore duty on the east coast, and Commander G. S. Hathway, senior medical officer, being assigned to other duties. He will be relieved aboard the Nevada by Commander Louis W. Bishop, (M. C.)

That Christmas is not such a long way off is evidenced these days aboard the ships of the fleet. On every ship the service store is stocking up with gift articles and agents from the various establishments along the coast that make a specialty of things dear to the sailors' heart are plying back and forth between the ships. The postoffice at Los Angeles Harbor will stagger under the burden of Christmas gifts sent home by the gobs of the fleet next month.

The baseball championship of the Pacific Fleet and shore stations will be decided today at San Diego, when the team from the Arizona plays the champion ball tossers of the Charleston, flagship of the destroyer force.

...SUPERIOR COURT TO DECIDE CASE.

...CORRESPONDENCE.]

...ONTARIO, Nov. 15.—Action of the Superior Court, to which the case will be carried, on the ruling today of Judge George R. Holbrook in the Ontario justice court, to the effect that San Bernardino county's ordinance limiting weight of trucks and their loads, cannot apply to trucks using State highways, will be watched with the greatest interest.

The decision is of the greatest importance for it means that unless the higher courts reverse the ruling, the Board of Supervisors will be in jurisdiction over the State highways within the county.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. John L. Campbell at once announced that the county would appeal from the decision of the justice court, in order to secure a ruling from the Superior Court on the matter.

Riverside and Orange counties have adopted ordinances similar to the one in this county, and if the measures are held not to apply to State highways, then no county except the State Legislature can prevent the breaking of pavements by heavy trucking.

If the State limit is too low for the character of the highways, is the contention of the Supervisors, the half-ton vehicle act provides that the Supervisors shall have the power to require a lighter load on county roads in their respective counties." Judge Holbrook says that county roads in the vicinity of the act are not State roads.

The ruling was given when he overruled a demurrer filed by H. H. Granger, Los Angeles, driver of a truck for which was represented in court by Attorney R. Spring and Louis Lindley of the Truck Drivers' Association.

TEACHER DIES AT REDLANDS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 15. — Dr. George Robertson, holding the chair of geology and zo-ology in the University of Redlands, died at his home here yesterday after a very short illness. Dr. Robertson was widely known throughout Southern California.

Dr. Robertson became ill about two weeks ago and suffered with a severe cold. He continued his work at the university until Wednesday, when his physician ordered him home. He was not confined to his room until Friday, when his condition became alarming and his son, Dr. Ross Robertson, of the University of California, Southern Branch, in Los Angeles, was summoned. Dr. Robertson's heart began to fail and he sank gradually until his death.

The professor was beloved of the students and William Taylor, editor of the university paper, says he voices the feeling of all when he said, "We have lost our best friend on the campus." Dr. Robertson was a deep student and his research work and geological discoveries in the valley have gained him wide attention.

George Robertson was born in Canada sixty-eight years ago. He was educated at McGill University in Montreal and after graduating took degrees at the Congregational University in Toronto. He taught in universities in Canada and was ordained a minister of the Congregational church. He came to Redlands fifteen years ago because of poor health. He was persuaded to become pastor of the Congregational Church at Mentone and did fine work there. When the University of Redlands was organized in 1909 he accepted the chair of biology, zo-ology and geology. Just this year he was relieved of the biology classes.

He leaves a widow and the one son. The funeral was held at the Congregational Church this afternoon, the Rev. Herbert C. Ide officiating.

WRECK "GAS" STATION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENTURA, Nov. 15. — A big Cadillac driven by Sherwin Emmett of Somis went through the front of the gasoline station, managed by W. F. Miller at the forks of the road just east of Ventura at an early hour this morning, and all concerned agree that it was not the Cadillac's or its driver's fault.

Emmett was driving slowly in the fog when his lights showed just ahead, on the wrong side of the road, a small car without lights and, as it developed later, occupied by two Mexicans. To avoid the head-on crash Emmett swung to the other side of the road; the Mexican car made some kind of a wild dash and struck the Cadillac square on the side. The big machine tore through the gasoline station, tearing out one of the pumps and wrecking the place.

Emmett was somewhat cut about the face, but no one else was injured.

The small car bore no license number and after looking over the situation Officer Sharp placed N. Marquez, the driver, in jail for further investigation.

RAISIN RANCHERS DRAW PAY CHECKS.

PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION SENDS PERSONAL LETTER TO GROWERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Nov. 15.—With their checks for the final settlement of the 1920 raisin crop grower members of the California Associated Raisin Company will receive in the mail tomorrow a letter from President Wylie M. Giffen in which he assumes full responsibility for what he characterizes as improper management, which cost the growers about $12.50 a ton on Muscats. The final payment is $7,291,465, making the total payment for the 1920 crop $38,369,385.47.

Giffen's letter to the growers points out that the final settlement makes the total for Muscats 11 1-8 cents, Thompsons 14 3-4 cents and Sultanas 12 1-8 cents. The original base price at the beginning of the season was 15 cents while the total payment represents about 11 cents. In his statement, President Giffen says that his "blunder" was a general policy laid down by himself because of abnormal conditions, "that we should be more lenient with the growers." This policy resulted in an improper allowance for summer shrinkage, making it amount to almost 5 per cent on the whole delivery of Muscats, while a liberal estimate would have been 3 per cent.

Giffen points out in his letter that the association has fared much better than other industries in the reconstruction period.

BURGLARS RANSACK HOME AT POMONA.

AUTOISTS ESCAPE DEATH.

Car Ground to Bits by Locomotive; Start Move to Zone County.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 15.—H. M. Ritscher, 349 South Lake avenue, and J. C. Lohse, 225 South Mentor avenue, both of Pasadena, narrowly escaped death today when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a mixed train on the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad at the Fremont-avenue crossing, South Pasadena.

The men were riding in Mr. Ritscher's big touring car. Mr. Lohse jumped the instant the train struck the car. The automobile was plowed up the track by the fender of the locomotive for a distance of 100 feet.

Before it had gone this distance Mr. Ritscher was thrown out, a fact to which he probably owes his life, as the car was ultimately smashed to pieces. Although badly hurt, Mr. Ritscher was conscious. He is expected to recover. His companion was not seriously hurt.

Mr. Ritscher said he heard the approaching train, but thought it was coming on the Santa Fe tracks, a short distance away.

WOULD ZONE COUNTY.

A county conference, under auspices of the Board of Supervisors, will be held in Pasadena in January, when plans will be discussed for the creation of zones in the county for the betterment of sewage disposal, water supply, transportation, roads and parks, according to a statement here by George A. Damon, well-known engineer.

Mr. Damon has taken the matter up with the Pasadena Engineers' Society, to get that organization's approval of the plan. It is proposed to have 200 delegates from all sections of the county here at the conference in January at which the movement will be formally launched.

MAY BRIDGE SCHOOL YARD

Bridges may be built in the grounds of the Junipero Serra public school here to make them safe for the little folks. Traffic is getting so heavy and so careless in the alley that separates two portions of the school grounds that the school board is worried by the possibility of injury to the students. Consequently the bridging of the alley with safety-zone passageways for the kiddies is under contemplation.

PASADENAN IS SAFE.

F. A. Phillips, the Pasadena man motoring eastward across the continent for whom friends yesterday were entertaining fears, has been located in Chicago. His automobile was reported found by the Sheriff in Santa Fe, N. M., which led to fears that he had met foul play. Today Chief of Police C. H. Kelley received word that Mr. Phillips's automobile was stolen in New Mexico before the Pasadenan reached Santa Fe and that he then proceeded by train to Chicago.

More of these popular bracelets have been made and sold at Grace Nicholson's World Famous Pasadena Gift Shop than anywhere else in America, because Miss Nicholson has a greater variety of genuine oriental charms of jade, amber, crystal, amethyst, carnelian, gold and silver for the dangles and does all the intricate cord work in her own shops. These bracelets, anklets and pendant necklaces will make wonderful Christmas gifts.—[Advertisement.

SINGER DELIGHTS.

MABEL GARRISON IN RECITAL OF CHARM.

By Edwin Schallert.

The voice that is the voice of song, free and unshackled in its flight as that of nature, is seemingly so rare nowadays that it is with supreme delight that the public goes to hear a singer like Mabel Garrison, who gave her single local concert last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. Her victory of applause was complete. She exhibited a hold on the appreciation of her audience, one might say, at the start, which she retained throughout the evening.

Her program was a rarity—an excellent combining of the lyrical and the picturesque, with music that verges on the abstract in its demands for voice and voice alone. Her numbers opened with Handel and closed with folk legends—and moved through the French and American schools to their effective finale.

Miss Garrison has that high endowment of the singer, a pure bel canto quality. That it is the finest of the type, one may question, but certainly if she lacks the gold of Galli-Curci, she gives you in its stead a shining silver, that is set with gems of brilliancy.

There are moments when you could ask of her a fuller, richer note of beauty—but she rarely fails to be exquisite. You feel, too, the personality of the woman through all her work, and it has the charm that her petite physique, her attractively molded, almost bird-like being, show at once to the eye.

True intelligence, she discloses, too, in her interpretations. I noted this particularly in the "Fantoches," by Debussy, always a test of a singer's subtlety. Miss Garrison, truly, tossed this off, as it should be tossed off, with a faint delicate touch of that satire which belongs to Debussy in these whimsical moods.

Give place also to her superior vocalising in the Mozart aria "Non Paventar" from the Magic Flute. Fine singing that, and difficult to do, as all who have studied Mozart's operatic adventures well know.

Myself I would have been as well satisfied without the Titania Polonaise from "Mignon," which followed, and that seemed to show Miss Garrison in the least favorable light.

The "Air de Rossignol" by Saint-Saens—all idealized vocalizing—was a test which the singer met with discretion and ability.

She indulged in some sentiment in her English numbers. In the main, they were pleasing. The folk songs, she enriched with a truly versatile artistic skill.

A rare accompanist is Arthur Loesser.

James Rennie Present.

"Dorothy had to stay in the East for the retakes in 'The Two Orphans.' She may, however, make a trip out here later."

So, though James Rennie, who made this statement upon his arrival yesterday, is now among those present in California's filmland, his wife, Dorothy Gish — homesick though she may be for the sight of the blue Hollywood hills—is still denied the joy of seeing them.

Mr. Rennie is here to appear in "The Dust Flower," the Basil King picture, which is to be filmed at the Goldwyn studios. Mr. Rennie is to play the leading male role, with Helene Chadwick opposite, and Mona Kingsley, lately returned from playwriting to acting, in a heavy portrayal.

The last visit Mr. Rennie made to this city was in the leading role in support of Ruth Chatterton in "Moonlight and Honeysuckle," called at that time, "The Merrie Month of May."

Will Visit for While.

The Cansinos, Eduardo and Elisa, prominent exponents of Spanish dancing, will close their engagement at the Orpheum Sunday evening. They have continued very popular as holdovers on the present bill. Following their appearances here they will spend some little time in Southern California.

Harlequin Plays Well Contrasted.

Leading off with Laurence Irving's "The Terrorist," a powerful picture of Russian life during the revolution, the Harlequin Theater opened its third week and second cycle of plays on Monday night before an exceedingly appreciative audience.

As in the previous week, the Harlequin's program consisted of three one-act plays—the other two being "Mary's Lamb" by Clinton Scott, and Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband." But by opposing the delightful irresponsibility of the Scott comedy and the penetrating wit of Shaw to the seriousness of "The Terrorist," Mrs. Shephard has achieved a better balanced offering than that of last week, and the response of the audience showed pretty conclusively that in these groups of plays the proportion of serious to amusing should be one to two rather than the reverse.

"The Terrorist" shows a young girl revolutionist admitted by treachery to the house of a general whom she has been delegated by her party to murder for the good of society. The conflict between them—the girl sternly resolved to kill the man she believes a brutal oppressor of her people, the general not bent so much upon saving his life as upon making her see both sides of the question—is very dramatic.

The general is well played by J. Anthony Smythe; the girl terrorist by Mary Forbes; and Gertrude Millard gives a brief but sympathetic interpretation of the general's frightened but still courageous sister. On Monday night the one feature open to question was David Imboden's characterization of the drunken and insubordinate colonel. It semed overdone, a little too melodramatic; one could not see why it was advisable to shout quite so loud.

"Mary's Lamb" is pure farce, but clever farce. It involves two art students—boy and girl — from Greenwich Village, who, having found a $5 bill, innocently wander into a Broadway cabaret to have their one blow-out of the year.

Clarence Arper as the kind, old gentleman, and Allan Connors and Dorothy Conrey as the pair of villagers are excellent. The French waiter is overplayed as French waiters usually are, but in a farce of this sort it doesn't matter greatly.

"How He Lied to Her Husband" permits Mary Forbes, Otto Matieson and J. Anthony Smythe to be seen to good advantage. In a somewhat similar situation, they are more convincing than they were in Sudermann's "Roses" of last week. On comparing the two plays, the reason seems to be principally that "How He Lied to Her Husband" permits them—especially Miss Forbes—to act themselves and still be thoroughly in character, while "Roses" did not.

ELINOR GLYN TO RETURN TO DASKY STUDIOS.

By Grace Kingsley.

Poor Elinor Glyn! It looks as though she were going to be sentenced to put up with us crude Californians for some time to come, after all. That is if she wants to gather in the shekels which are to be garnered in connection with the picture business.

For Mrs. Glyn is to be given another opportunity to give the art of picture-making an upward heave, according to advices from the Lasky studio, which states that there is every reason to believe that the well-known English author will shortly return to Hollywood to aid in the production of her Paramount picture for Gloria Swanson, entitled "Beyond the Rocks." At present Mrs. Glyn is in England, whither she returned from Hollywood a few months ago.

On his arrival from New York this week, Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, announced that negotiations are now under way with Mrs. Glyn for her return shortly. He says that so successful was the plan of having Mrs. Glyn's co-operation in the details of the production of "The Great Moment," in which Miss Swanson also starred under Sam Wood's direction, that a similar arrangement will in all probability be effected for "Beyond the Rocks."

But this is not all. It is likely, according to present reports, that Mrs. Glyn may be persuaded to stop on and give us another chance to the extent of signing a contract to write other stories for Paramount. These stories are to be love stories, flavored, of course, with the usual Glyn sauce piquant.

Charles Ray Flits.

Charles Ray has at last made good his threat to leave us flat for New York. He set out yesterday, accompanied by his wife, and by his cameraman, George Rizard, and his business manager, Richard Willis.

Before he returns, Mr. Ray will have visited Alabama, and will have arranged to film a picture there, or may even make it before coming back. He is a great favorite in the South, and has, it is said, long been desirous of playing the type of hick to be found down there, a lazy, happy-go-lucky poor white trash hanger-on among the laborers of the cotton mills.

While in the East Mr. Ray will make scenes for his current picture, "Smudge," taking these in New York and Boston. The scenes are the closing bits required to finish the picture.

It is being arranged, according to reports, for Ray to give New York some sort of a surprise on the occasion of his entrance. You know how Tom Mix insisted on riding his horse into the Biltmore, how Bill Hart appeared as a two-gun man, and how Douglas Fairbanks tossed little Mary to his shoulders to avoid the Broadway crowds when his picture, "The Three Musketeers," opened? Well, Charlie Ray, not to be outdone, means to don hick clothes and give the blase New Yorkers a treat.

Louise Glaum in Vaudeville.

The suspense is ended at last, and we know what has become of Louise Glaum. That young lady has gone into vaudeville, leaving the films flat. She is scheduled to try out a new one-act playlet somewhere in the eastern provinces, after which she is due to go to the Keith New York houses.

Carl Laemmle Flits.

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, will leave for New York tomorrow, to be on duty at the executive offices, at 1600 Broadway, until January 1, at which time he will return to Universal City. He leaves Julius Stern, second vice-president at Universal City, in an advisory capacity, and Irving G. Thalberg as director-general.

Fifty-Piece Orchestra in Film Theater.

Elimination of vaudeville, the giving instead of a program of music and pictures only is the policy for the California Theater as announced yesterday by Fred Miller, manager of the house. It will go into effect beginning next Sunday. The housed will then have a fifty-piece instead of a twenty-four piece orchestra as heretofore, and additional musical features will be provided.

"I have become convinced that the people would rather have two things that are good than half a dozen things that may, in part, be mediocre," said Mr. Miller. "I am therefore eliminating vaudeville from my program and putting all the time and money that we have spent on prologues and the like into the music.

"People go to motion-picture houses primarily to see the films you are offering and to hear the music which accompanies. If they want vaudeville or musical comedy they will go to the vaudeville theaters or wait for the visit of a musical comedy company.

"For this reason I have authorized Carli D. Elinor, who is under long-term contract with us, to secure the necessary additional artists to bring our musical organization up to fifty members. I have told him to spare no expense or effort.

"While we will not attempt symphonic programs at present, we will present well-rounded groups of concert selections."

Would Can Jazz Music Right Here.

Planning to found here a $250,000 branch of a large New York corporation for the manufacture of musical and talking records, Max Fisher, jazz expert, who, with his band, is booked for a week's engagement at Grauman's Theater, beginning next Monday, intends to remain in Los Angeles, it is stated.

Mr. Fisher is at present in consultation with Cecil B. De Mille, who is said to be enthusiastic over the project and willing to lend it all the assistance possible. Local capital is being interested without the slightest trouble, according to Mr. Fisher, and the eastern affiliation has already been arranged by a correspondence which has continued over several weeks.

"My idea of the organization of this Southern California branch," says Max Fisher, "was, I suppose, the result of my reluctance to leave my home town again. I want to live here, and doesn't it seem unreasonable that I should have to travel clear across the continent every time I want to make a musical record?"

"A TRIP TO PARADISE" VERY HUMAN DRAMA.

Judging by what is accounted about "Liliom," Metro's "A Trip to Paradise," featuring Bert Lytell and showing this week at Loew's State Theater, has little in common with Franz Molnar's play except the central situation, but it is nevertheless a good photoplay. And if "Liliom" hadn't become so widely known it would have passed for an unusually original one.

About this central situation—which shows a soul up for trial before a heavenly court, while its body lies on earth at the point of death—it may be said, that both setting and acting are far less stagey than movie presentations of the other world are apt to be, and also mercifully less moralistic. The human touch which pervades the proceedings, and the very real justice meted out to the culprit, combine to make impressive what might easily have been inexcusable farce.

BROTHERHOODS HOLD MEETING.

Engineers and Firemen Are Laying Their Plans.

Rules and Working Conditions Are Considered.

Adjustment Boards Agreed to by Roads.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Plans of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen to meet demands of the railroads for revision of rules and working condition agreements, and for further wage cuts, were completed today after a two-day session of 650 general chairmen and officials.

W. S. Stone, grand chief of the engineers, and W. S. Carter, president of the firemen and enginemen, explained the settlement under which the recent general strike order was cancelled, and received their followers' indorsement of their action.

Requests from ninety-eight railroads for revision of rules and working conditions were considered, and the counter-demands of the unions formulated. Mr. Stone announced that the unions were agreed on a concerted program in the rules cases.

Announcement was made that the four big brotherhoods have signed agreements with roads in the eastern, western and southeastern districts for setting up adjustment boards. Two assistant grand chiefs will represent the engineers on the boards—F. A. Burgess on the southeastern, and H. P. Daugherty on the western. The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will be presented by A. F. Whitney, on the western, and W. N. Doak, on the southeastern board.

Creation of the boards is expected to speed up the work of the Railroad Labor Board by relieving its docket of hundreds of petty cases.

Each board is to have eight members, one from each of the brotherhoods and four representing the roads in its territory. The agreements run for one year and may be renewed.

In the western territory the agreement has been approved by the Union Pacific; Oregon Short Line; Oregon, Washington Railroad and Navigation Company; Los Angeles and Salt Lake; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe; Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Colorado and Southern; Fort Worth and Denver City; Northern Pacific; Great Northern; Spokane, Portland and Seattle; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway.

STEAMER SINKS IN SOUTH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—The French line steamship Maryland, 3905 tons, was rammed by the Japanese steamer Fukuyo Maru and sank here today in thirty feet of water at the First-street wharf. Breaking of the steering gear of the Japanese vessel is said by dock officials to have caused the accident.

No lives were lost in the collision, the decks of the Maryland being left well above the water line.

GEORGIAN REDS SHOW ACTIVITY

Soldiers and Flags Are Much in Evidence.

Cheka, Secret Police, Make Much Noise.

Arrests and Executions Are Heralded Abroad.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

TIFLIS (Soviet Republic of Georgia) Oct. 21.—The soviet government here is much more active than that of Moscow. It is a case of the new broom that sweeps clean. It has been supposed that, since the destruction of the democratic Georgian republic by the Eleventh Red Army, last February, the government here was of the kind jocularly called "ersatz" in Germany, that is a sort of harmless substitute for the real thing.

While in soviet Russia the Red flag and the bayoneted Red soldier are going out of style, these two attributes of new freedom are much in evidence here.

Automobiles whiz along bearing red banners, these bannads are likewise flown from many public buildings and passes are strictly examined on trains by shaggy persons armed with knife and pistol, which every true-blue Communist has a right to wear.

Strange persons, probably intent on pocketbooks and forgotten or mislaid baggage, represent themselves as members of the Cheka (committee against counter-revolution) when interrupted. This is quite a pastime with young roughs. On the contrary, in greater Russia the Cheka is a gumshoe affair, and when it takes anything it does so when nobody is looking. It covers its trail even when it makes arrests so thoroughly that the near relatives of the arrested are left in doubt.

BROADLY INFORMED.

Here, when the Cheka makes an arrest and later executes, near relatives are broadly informed, when they bring food to the prison, that the person in question no longer needs food and they had best discontinue their visits.

One of the latest performances of the soviet here was to start a brand new kind of finance. It set out to reform the currency and improve exchange and general commercial conditions, and took the short cut of arresting 700 of the leading merchants of the country.

They were told they would be shot within a week unless they made a contribution of 25,000,000,000 rubles to the sanitation fund. They were short half this sum, about $200,000 in real money. For the other half a committee was released to visit the Near East relief where the sum was asked for in the form of a loan. As the loan was not made the merchants returned to prison, and were later released, after giving promissory notes to pay the sum.

RAILWAY INTERESTS CONFLICT AT HEARING

OFFICIALS DIFFER OVER SHIPMENTS OF COTTON; DIVERS PORTS SEEK BUSINESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Conflicting interests of railroads over the shipment of cotton from Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana producing sections featured an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing today on the merits of a proposed equalization of the rates to enable Pacific Coast ports to compete with Galveston.

B. L. Levy of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad said the rates which the westbound carriers propose to put into effect were in conformity with past efforts of the railroads to give all ports equal opportunities, while J. W. Capron of St. Paul, representing the Northern Pacific, said the northern lines also favored the development of all ports.

E. Thornton of Galveston, representing the Galveston Commercial Association, on whose protest the commission suspended the new rate schedule pending investigation, declared that Galveston was the logical port of shipment for this business and that southern shippers preferred to send their crops through that city.

HOME BREWER GETS OFF BY HIS WIT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Antonio Parrillo who, on his wife's complaint, was committed to the Central Islip Hospital for the Insane on July 1, after he had drank home brew and attacked her, answered readily all questions put to him by Justice Kelby at a hearing of a writ of habeas corpus procured by his nephew, Sylvia De Thomas, who sought his uncle's release so he could take him to his home in Providence, R. I.

Antonio's wife, Elizabeth, had testified Parrillo made his own whiskey.

"How did you make it?" inquired Justice Kelby.

"Oh, a few prunes, a little sugar, a little water," replied Parrillo. "Let it boil a while, stand a while and then drink it. It's 90 proof."

"How did you know it was 90 proof?"

POSTAL BANK HERE MADE OCTOBER GAIN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The total deposits in the United States postal savings on November 1 were approximately $149,400,000, a decrease of $1,750,000 being noted in deposits during October. Unemployment and reduction in wages continue to be the direct causes in decrease of deposits.

During October only two offices made gains of over $10,000, namely, Pocatella, Idaho, $24,639; and Los Angeles, $10,407.

Constipation Banished

Drugless Method Proves 100 Per Cent Success

As a result of this lifetime prescription, which never needs refilling, several thousand men and women in Los Angeles and vicinity no longer suffer from CONSTIPATION. They succeeded in removing the cause of this annoying and dangerous ailment without the use of DRUGS, DIET, EXERCISE, or any ARTIFICIAL MEANS, and today are NATURAL and REGULAR.

They owe their changed condition to a noted specialist who has been very successful in restoring to health victims of paralysis. He announced that the CAUSE of CONSTIPATION was a temporary paralysis of the delicate intestinal muscles and that these muscles could be restored to their full use by a simple anatomical method. He perfected it so anyone could accomplish the correction of this common ailment in the privacy of their own home. At first people were skeptical—a few tried it. They told others. This had the effects similar to a chain letter, and because of this remarkable success Berry's Anatomical Method has been used by over 4000 men and women of all ages in all stations of life.

You can learn of this wonderful yet simple method by sending your name and address. You will receive full and explicit information. We urge you to send for this valuable information. Once you have it, you will be convinced that you are no different from the several thousand who had suffered from constipation. What it did for them it will do for you.

WRITE NOW. Permit yourself to become enlightened upon this Method and you no longer need depend upon artificially produced elimination. Address Berry's Anatomical Method, 401 Merritt Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.—Advertisement.

BROTHER OF VILLA IN EL PASO COURT.

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 15.—Hipolito Villa, brother of the former revolutionary leader of Mexico, voluntarily appeared in court here today to answer to the charge of kidnaping his three children. Bond was set at $700, which was furnished.

The charge is brought by Villa's former wife, an American. The children are in school in Torreon, Mex. Villa pleaded not guilty. He asserts the laws of Mexico give him the right to the custody of the children and he proposes to educate them and then permit them to return to their mother if they desire.

SEES OFFENSIVE WARFARE END.

Secretary Hughes Replies to Allied Leaders.

Declares America Invites Full Discussion of Plan.

First Great Step Has Been Taken, He Says.

[ST. A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. — Speaking at today's session of the Armament Conference after spokesmen for the four other major powers had declared acceptance in principle of the American armament reduction proposals, Secretary Hughes said:

"Gentlemen, we have listened not only with gratification, but I may say with profound emotion, to these expressions, so cordial, of agreement in principle with the proposal that has been made on behalf of the United States with respect to the limitation of naval armament.

CONSIDER DETAILS.

"It will now be in order to consider the many details which must be associated with an exact agreement for that purpose.

"There are subjects, it has been suggested here, which will appropriately be examined by naval experts, and it is the desire of the American government that what has been proposed by that government, with the suggestions that have been made by Mr. Balfour, on behalf of the British government, by Admiral Kato, on behalf of the government of Japan, and any other suggestions by way of modification or emendation or criticism that may be proper, shall all be thoroughly considered, to the end that after the most mature and careful deliberation we may accomplish the great purpose which this conference in this matter has been assembled to achieve.

FIRST STEP TAKEN.

"But while the time is now opportune for the consideration of these details, the great first step has been taken in this notable expression of approval in principle of what has been suggested by the American government. And do I go too far in saying that we may commit this matter to a technical examination with the assurance, which I am very certain will be gratifying to the hearts of our peoples, that there will come out of this conference an appropriate agreement for satisfactory, important, essential reduction of naval armament, to the end that offensive naval warfare will be no more and this great advance will be made to the accomplishment of an enduring peace?

"If it is not desired to have further discussion of the matter which has been brought before us, I suppose it will be in order to adjourn to give opportunity for the consideration of the project to which I have referred. And may I and that I have no doubt that I express the wish of the conference that at an opportune time M. Briand will enjoy the opportunity of presenting to the conference most fully the views of France with regard to the land armament, which we must discuss."

REVOLT IN MEXICO IS OVER NOW

So State Federal Officials at Tijuana; Town Remains Under Martial Law.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.—Tijuana will remain under martial law until the rebel band has been scattered or captured, was the word given out by military authorities of the Mexican town today. In the meantime the border will be closed. The Mexican refugees who came to the American side for safety will not be allowed to return so long as the military regulations prevail.

Federal troops are continuing their search for the surviving members of the band that attempted to start a revolution Sunday. No further report of casualties had been received here.

According to Gen. Rodriguez, in command at Tijuana, the Federal troops are in full control and there is little probability of any recurrence of the recent disorders.

Operation of trains over the San Diego and Arizona Railway has not been affected, nor have the activities at the race track in preparation for the opening of the season on Thanksgiving Day been suspended. The general impression prevailed here today that the latest revolutionary bubble bursted at the jump off, and that it will be only a matter of a few days before the border will again be opened.

ACCOMPLICE OF 'BIG TIM' CAPTURED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—John Barry, said to have been "Big Tim" Murphy's chief-of-staff in the $360,000 Dearborn street mail robbery, might still be at liberty planning and executing fresh crimes, but for his tigerish desire to kill Frank Schultz, who had committed the unpardonable sin of "squealing."

"This is one of the most important captures in months," said Chief of Detectives Hughes. "It practically cleans up the gang which has been robbing the mails in the vicinity of Chicago. We have good evidence that Barry was not only a principal in the Dearborn street robbery, but that he led the gang which robbed the Illinois Central. He is the man who stood on guard with a rifle and picked off members of the crew who offered resistance."

PEKING ROYAL CIRCLE SHAKEN

was circulated that she had committed suicide. Now, friends of her family say that she was murdered, that she was given "a bad cup of tea." The known facts are that Jung Lu's redoubtable daughter is dead and that the Manchu-Chinese monarchist faction has been freed from its chief obstacle, the world-famous "Eighth Married Sister," whose exploits form picturesque features of recorded court history of Peking.

The Princess Ch'un is dead, and the Empress Dowager Ch'in is said to be dying. The story goes that, in her anger against the boy Emperor and his strong-minded mother, she took an overdose of opium. Many believe that both factions resorted to the summary methods of the notorious Tzu Hsi, the "Old Budha" who ruled China during the greater part of modern times, and whose murders were as numerous and as cruel as those of Lucrezia Borgia. These are historic days in Peking; days of mystery and of uncertainty, of plot and counterplot.

CHINA'S MARGOT ASQUITH.

The dead princess (now believed to have been murdered) was China's Margot Asquith. She usually said and did the unusual thing. As a tiny tot, she was the pet of the terrible Empress Tzu Hsi. Scandal-mongers asserted that she was really one of Tzu Hsi's several illegitimate children; just at the Emperor Kwang-Hsu was alleged to be the son of Tzu Hsi and a handsome, penniless adventurer. Morality or clemency never cut much figure during the last days of the Manchus. Now, the situation in the Forbidden City is said to be little better. "False eunuchs" and concubines, actors and astrologers and courtesans are said to rule the present Empress-Dowager, who claims paramount authority over the imperial clan. The boy Emperor began to question that authority. The Princess Chun never recognized it.

Tzu Hsi died, Nov. 15, 1908, the day after Kwang-Hsu breathed his last. That she poisoned the Emperor Kwang-Hsu is generally believed. She had poisoned her husband, the Emperor Hsieng-Feng, at Jehol almost half a century before that. She had poisoned her superior and Hsien Feng's barren widow, Tzu An, her colleague in the first regency, in order that she might rule alone. She had poisoned her son, Tung-Chih, when he tried to rule; and she outraged his memory by naming as his successor his illegitimate half-brother, Kwang-Hsu.

The shade of Tung-Chih was left running around the fringe of the Chinese heaven, unprotected, unserved by that ancestor worship which is the bedrock of the Chinese social system. The new Emperor should have been a son or a nephew or some heir of a lower generation to the deceased. That was a terrible insult to put upon Tung-Shih. Tung-Chih's widow was about to bear a child Tzu Hsi murdered her, to keep her fell plans on the safe side. To guard against the chance of an heir, she had debauched Tung-Chih, her legitimate son. Now, she proceeded to debauch and enfeeble his successor, her illegitimate son, Kwang-Hsu. She murdered his pretty "Pearl Concubine" because that favorite of the famous phoenix bed was about to become a mother. She pushed her down a well and buried her alive. Hhe plans went all to pieces amidst the general confusion that ensued a few years after the Russo-Japanese war.

ROMANCE OF A MANCHU.

The real origin of the present tragedy and mystery goes back into the hills of Manchuria, some years before our Civil War. There was a handsome youth, Jung Lu, and a pretty maid, Yehonala, called after the Yehonala clan of which she was a daughter and which, subdued and absorbed by Nurachi in 1595-7, participated in the Manchu conquest of China. Jung Lu and Yehonala grew up as boy and girl friends. They became sweethearts. They were in love with each other when Yehonala was selected as one of the several hundred Manchu maids from whom the then heir to the throne, Hsieng-Feng, might choose his concubines. When the word came to the little Manchurian village, the lovers were well-nigh heartbroken. They promised to be true to each other. Jung Lu accompanied pretty Yehonala and her mother to court; the women in a bullock-cart such as is in use today; the youth on a Manchurian pony. Yehonala was among those picked for the prince by his imperial mother. Later, the girl became the famous Empress, Tzu Hsi. Jung Lu becured a place at court. Thenceforward, until both were old and feeble, the romance continued. No cavalier was ever more faithful than the Manchu knight, Jung Lu. He became one of the powers behind the throne of Tzu Hsi. One of the few fine things in the terrible story of that terrible woman, Tzu Hsi, was her heart-loyalty to Jung Lu. She was as vicious a woman as any that ever lived. Her amours would fill a library. She was caught in the arms of a handsome, dissolute actor by her co-empress colleague, Tzu An.

It has long been known that President Hsu consented to hold office at the head of the nominal republic merely to give the boy Emperor time to enter the field and re-establish the Manchu dynasty. I find very few (if any) Chinese officials who have faith in the republic. They seem to regard it as the chief source of China's weakness and of her many troubles. They are looking for a Monk and hope to find him in General Wu Pei-fu (now a marshal) or in any possible military leader. They expect the boy Emperor to marry the little daughter of President Hsu. Then —probably in 1923, when Hsu's five-year term expires—the boy Emperor will be nominated as President of the Monk Republic Manchu and Min Kuo will be unified in the persons of the boy Emperor and his Chinese wife. That is quite evidently the plan, and it is openly debated, high and low, in Peking.

The passing of Princess Chun may make or break this Manchu Chinese monarchist plot. Much depends upon how the mind of the motherless boy turns after his present days of grief.

Work Themselves Jobless.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 15.—The Pima County Highway Commission has worked itself out of a job. It has spent all the money available and there is opposition to voting more at present. So a final report of the commission's activities and expenditures is to be made the County Supervisors, though it is probable the commission will be continued for future work.

DIANA IN BATH SCARED BY MAN.

Intruder Breaks Into Shower Room as Chicago Co-ed is Enjoying Scrub.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. — "Diana at the bath" was staged at the women's gymnasium at the University of Chicago today when an intruder who eluded capture, burst into a shower bath at a moment when Miss Grace Bennett, a pretty senior, was enjoying a bath. The splashing water prevented her hearing a man prying open a window and he was at the door of the bathroom before she saw him. She screamed so lustily that other students hastened to her rescue. The University police, augmented by a large volunteer force of students, scoured the campus thoroughly but no trace of the intruder was found.

Wheat Market Bears Have Day of Low Prices.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Bearish influences predominated in the wheat market and at no time until just before the close was there more than a ¼ cent rally. The undertone was heavy from the start when the highest prices were made; at the inside they showed 7¼ to 7⅝ cents under the high prices of the day. The close was 1⅜ to 2¼ cents under with May leading.

Hedges on sales of cash corn in the sell-board advanced December ⅛ cent at the last while May was unchanged. Oats closed ⅛ and rye 2⅜ to 4 cents lower.

Strong commission houses, headed by those with eastern connections and brokers who generally act for the leading interests, were good sellers of wheat and found support lacking until toward the close. There was a rather persistent buying of December and selling of May, partly in the way of changing over hedges, and the December finished 3¼ under the May, against 3 cents under recent prices. Scattered liquidation was on in the Northwest, which had considerable influence here. The closing rally was due to covering on the part of the pit element and on buying of December by commission houses. Houses with seaboard connections bought a little on shorter cash.

The break to the low point was on a report of new crop Argentine wheat being sold c.i.f. Liverpool at equal to 6 cents under Chicago.

Domestic milling demand was spotted with Kansas City reporting the bulk of the light receipts there consumed locally. Local cash sellers were 16,000 bushels with receipts 28 cars.

Cash houses were active buyers of December; corn to receive hedges against sales of around 600,000 bushels to seaboard exporters, partly for winter storage and with limited pressure and light country offerings, the price averaged higher, closing at 48¾ cents after selling at 47 cents. May was a laggard but the strength in the December offset the weakness in wheat. Sales of cash corn in all positions in the West in the last two days were estimated as high as 1,500,000 bushels, but in some quarters this figure was regarded as much too high. The seaboard reported sales of around 1,000,000 bushels abroad. Charters were made for 220,000 bushels to Buffalo with 480,000 bushels for winter storage. Export bids were on the basis of 4½ over Chicago December for No. 2 mixed, c.i.f. Buffalo with 5 cents bid for yellow. Receipts, 82 cars.

Oats were light and easy in sympathy with wheat. Trade was mainly local. Reports of an improvement in domestic shipping demand failed to affect values, sales, 900,000 bushels, closing with receipts 30 cars. Heavy-weight grain sells at a good premium over the December.

Scattered liquidation was on for corn and December closed 5¾ cents under the May with northwestern selling a factor. The best buying was on sole orders for the seaboard. Winter reported 240,000 bushels sold for export. Receipts, 1 car.

TRADING IS BRISK FOR BOXED APPLES.

MOVEMENT OF POTATOES AND ONIONS IS WEAKER AND PRICES STEADY.

A good inquiry for apples was reported on the local produce market yesterday. The trading was brisk in boxed stock, especially Bellefleurs.

The potato market is dull and the movement is slow both in carlots and in small consignments. Prices remain the same, but the tone of the market is weak. Onions are also weak with the exception of the best cold storage. White Globes, which dealers are reluctant to offer in competition with stock that is now on the market.

Celery is firm and prices average about 25 to 50 cents per crate higher than last week. Supplies are somewhat lighter than they have been.

Northern grapefruit is now being offered in liberal quantities at prices ranging from $3.50 to $4 a box, depending on the size and grade. The best Arizona seedless stock is selling from $5 to $5.75, depending on the size and quality.

The first car of navels received is now being sold to retailers at prices ranging from $5.75 to $6.50 a box for special brands. Loose boxes of navels also being offered around $2.50. Valencias are selling from $6.00 to $6.75 for special brands.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

These are the actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles wholesalers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, etc, as compiled by the United States Bureau of Markets. Terms—Cash on the spot.

BRITTEN SEEKS TO STOP WARSHIP WORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A resolution directing the Secretary of the Navy to stop all work and expenditures on nine battleships and six battle cruisers now in various stages of construction was introduced today by Representative Britten, Illinois, ranking Republican on the House Naval Committee.

Battleships named in the resolution were the Colorado, Washington, West Virginia, South Dakota, Indiana, Montana, North Carolina, Iowa and Massachusetts. Battle cruisers specified are the Lexington, Constellation, Saratoga, Ranger, Constitution and United States.

FIRE ABOARD SHIP IS UNDER CONTROL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The fire aboard the steamship San Francisco, en route from Marsailles for New York, reported by radio yesterday, has been brought under control and the vessel is proceeding to New York, wireless messages today said.

"Then came a scolding from Judge Louderback, instructing counsel to remove the sting from their remarks. McNab again drew fire from the prosecution when he hinted that the defense would produce evidence during the trial which will account scientifically for the death of Virginia Rappe. McNab, his questions indicate, will challenge any Christian scientist who may be on the panel. The prosecution retaliated with a hint that the people also will produce medical testimony endeavoring to show that Miss Rappe died from other than natural causes.

During a spurt of fireworks between U'Ren and McNab the deputy district attorney charged that a defense attorney had approached prosecution witnesses, believed to be Zey Prevost, on the street, and urged her to leave town until "this affair blows over."

U'Ren's voice had raised to a shout. He was squirming in his chair and waving his arms in the air. McNab was emphasizing his retorts by slapping his hands on the table. Judge Louderback intervened:

"Are we arguing this case or drawing a jury?"

the screen. Arbuckle pouted his lips and lifted his chin a little higher.

"Would you consider testimony of previous bladder trouble as a reflection on the unfortunate girl's morals?" McNab asked Mr. Jordan with a slight wave of his hand. The prosecution stirred. Attorney U'Ren was on his feet.

U'REN IS ANGERED.

"When Mr. McNab puts in that evidence he is to introduce it with intent to attack the morals of the girl," Mr. U'Ren interrupted.

Mr. McNab likewise rose to his feet.

"His proposal is to tie up the jurors as to the effect such evidence will have on his or her mind," Mr. U'Ren continued.

"A juror at this early time cannot tell what effect certain testimony will have on his mind later."

The battle was on and the verbal barrages ricocheted over Arbuckle's head. He pulled his head down closer to his shoulders.

McNab's question was permitted and he continued:

"If it is shown by scientific testimony that the unfortunate girl had a diseased bladder which resulted from an immoral life—would that prejudice you?"

Mr. Jordan first said it would prejudice him against the defense. Then he added it would prejudice him against the defendant. Arbuckle pinched his nether lip. Attorney McNab challenged the witness. Mr. U'Ren fought to retain his neighbor, for the juror had stated he resided on property adjoining the deputy District Attorney. The man was excused and McNab settled back in his chair to perplex the next victim, Mrs. L. E. Sanden.

After a lengthy questioning and cross questioning of Mrs. Sanden, she was temporarily accepted. She passed through the same barrage that had been directed at her companions in the jury box. Between two fires, she and Mrs. Kittie L. McDonald, who was also passed temporarily, and the last prospective juror to be examined today, survived the intricacies of the gruelling examination, expressing satisfactorily to both causes, their opinions on the Volstead Act, the Women's Vigilance Committee and woman's right to enter politics, tampering with and hiding of witnesses, contradictory statements and retracted declarations.

ARBUCKLE HAPPIER.

Arbuckle's sense of security from prosecution is now strengthened. He enters the courtroom with dignity, not with the look of despair which the curious ones first saw at his preliminary hearings. He squeezes into his chair and sits erect and immobile throughout the examination of prospective jurors.

For the first time since his arrest on manslaughter charge the public saw him smile this morning. It was more than a smile, more like a puzzled laugh. It happened when the corpulent man leaned over to buzz in the ear of one of his attorneys, Charles Brennan. He whispered, the first utterance in court since the opening of his trial. The smile spread into a laugh which he choked with his pudgy hand. His inspiration for that laugh is unknown, but Arbuckle's antics drew an admonition squint from Judge Louderback.

QUESTION IS CHANGED.

During the examination of Mr. Morgan, Attorney McNab asked if the venireman would become prejudiced against the defense, if, during the trial, evidence was to be produced showing that the district attorney had kept certain witnesses in cold storage for six weeks to prevent the defense counsel from reaching them. U'Ren objected to the phrase "cold storage." McNab, who is adept at amending questions to get them into the records of the court, changed "cold storage" to "grill." The question was admitted.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Buyers Dominate Shoe Market; Lower Prices Perhaps; Business News and Comment.

That the shoe industry is more than ever under the influence of a buyers' market is the report brought back from the East by Emil Olcovich. Prices are still falling and manufacturers are willing to sell their shoes now at half the cost of production. Further reduction in retail prices may be looked for, according to Mr. Olcovich.

Eastern manufacturers are worried by the uncertainty of styles at present and by the increasing volume of cancelled orders. In one case they are afraid of becoming overstocked with obsolete-styled shoes and in the other, they are faced by a decreasing demand. The result is that they are willing to let buyers practically dictate their own prices in order to move their stocks.

The shoe manufacturers are bearing the brunt of the losses in the present price readjustment. Most of the retailers have, by this time, marked off their inventories in accordance with the lower price levels, but the manufacturers are faced with the prospects of further production at a loss. Prices have dropped in response to the diminishing domestic demand and decreased exports, but wages and high-class leather costs have refused to follow suit. A 20 per cent reduction in labor costs will soon be put into effect and the manufacturers are pinning their hopes for an early recovery on this saving.

The fallacy in judging the course of shoe prices by the turn in hide prices has been pointed out by C. H. Wolfelt, another Los Angeles shoe man. Hides have made a spectacular drop from prices in August, 1919, that were 180 per cent above the 1913 level to a present price that is about 25 per cent below the 1913 average. Superficial observers allege that shoe prices should have reacted similarly. This is not the case, however, says Mr. Wolfelt. Domestic hides and shoes are almost entirely unrelated. Imported hides, which are unaffected in price by the drop over here, are used almost exclusively in high-class shoe manufacture in this country.

The trend of shoe and hide prices during the past few years has been traced in an interesting manner by the statisticians of the Chemical National Bank of New York. According to their figures shoe prices in 1917 were 53 per cent above the 1913 level, while hides were 78 per cent above that level and sole leather was 90 per cent higher than in 1913. Labor costs and overhead expenses had not, by 1917, increased as much as raw material costs. When the war and postwar rise in general prices had affected all elements in manufacturing costs, shoe prices, both at wholesale and retail, rose with the rest. One particular standard style rose from a wholesale price of $2.11 a pair in 1913 to $9.60 a pair in the spring of 1920. Retail prices increased proportionately. On certain selected shoes, retail prices, as reported to the Federal Trade Commission increased from $4.50 a pair in 1914 to $12.75 a pair in the spring of 1920, a price which was 283 per cent of the 1914 average.

"In the spring of 1920 shoe prices started downward," reads the Chemical Bank's report. "Because of the difficulty of reducing labor and overhead expenses as rapidly as material costs, the decline in shoe prices has been more gradual than the fall in hides and leather. In August, 1921, wholesale shoe prices stood at 125 per cent above the 1913 average. Retail shoe prices, according to the Federal Trade Commission, have lagged in the downward movement. Unwillingness or inability of retailers to accept inventory losses by selling at reduced rates, stocks bought at high prices always causes a lagging adjustment of retail prices to a lower price level."

Mr. Ocolvich said yesterday that the shoe prices at the present time are still 50 per cent above the pre-war level. He expects that prices will eventually drop to that level as readjustment progresses.

Officials of the C. H. Baker Company estimated recently that the buying of shoes from local retail stores had fallen off about 30 per cent this year from the peak in 1920. The demand here, they say, is nevertheless much better than in almost any other part of the country. High class shoes are finding a ready sale here in distinct contrast to many stagnant eastern shoe markets. The volume of retail shoe sales in Los Angeles has been steadily increasing in the last few months.

BANK REVIEW.

The monthly financial letter issued by the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, and edited by the president of that institution, Jackson A. Graves, will be out today. Discussing the crop situation the review says:

The yield of grain in America fell very materially short of all early estimates thereof, both private and governmental. The demand for wheat continues good, but owing to threatened railroad strike there is at present a temporary decline in price. Wheat exports have been unusually large. Prices were good early in the season. The money coming therefrom has done much to quicken the business pulse into normal action. Unless the coming harvests in Australia and the Argentine hold fully up to predictions (and harvests seldom do,) there is every prospect that all the wheat that America can spare will find foreign markets. The demand for oats, rye and barley is good, but not as strong as that for wheat. A great deal of Pacific Coast barley has been exported at good prices.

The tendency is for all products of the soil to assume pre-war-time prices. In time, everything which goes into production must also assume pre-wartime prices. This condition is coming. Farmers must not be discouraged. Economic conditions are working their way. They must, with the rest of the nation, bear their proportion of the national debt, in the form of taxation, which, for a time, may, as to them, be in the higher price of commodities which they buy.

In California, the deciduous fruit crops are all harvested with the exception of winter apples. The pack of California fruits was larger than early reports predicted, but there will be no surplus on hand next spring.

Grapes brought extraordinary prices. Some wine-grapes are reported to have been sold in the East for $300 per ton. The press of grapes has converted the grape-growers of California who are not engaged in manufacturing wine, into rabid prohibitionists. They are realizing for their crops unheard of prices.

The harvest of walnuts is well under way. In this district, the long-continued foggy weather has not been favorable to a proper curing of the crop.

The sugar-beet campaign is now on. Valencia oranges are still going forward, bringing good prices. The potato crop, both white and sweet, is good, and all forage crops have flourished.

The letter departs from the beaten track far enough to take in the Volstead Act, which is denominated "a rank and miserable failure." The sale of wine for medicinal and sacramental purposes has become so great that one must conclude, on the one hand, that America has become a nation of invalids, to be cured only by wine, and, on the other hand, that those who administer the sacrament have become generous and serve a flowing bowl of wine, instead of sip, as formerly, and that the number of people taking the sacrament has quadrupled."

The editor pays his compliments to the State highways, which he calls "a mass of patchwork." The Ridge Route, he says, is a striking example of disintegrating roadbed. "Millions of the money raised by bond issues for road purposes in California has apparently been wasted and millions more will go into patchwork. * * * Better by far to build fewer miles of permanent highways than a greater number of miles improperly constructed and subject to immediate disintegration." And in conclusion:

The mills of the gods are grinding slowly. The errors of the past are gradually being ironed out. We would move faster if individual members of the Congress were more patriotic and less cowardly. May the Lord stiffen the backbone of our President. He has many evil advisers.

APARTMENT FINANCING.

Financing for the twelve-story class "A" apartment building to be erected on Wilshire boulevard between Westlake and Lafayette parks will be accomplished through the sale of an issue of first mortgage 7 per cent bonds. Subscriptions for this issue are now being taken by S. W. Straus & Co., the underwriters, and a public offering will be made shortly.

Besides the security of the proposed $2,500,000 building, the bonds will be additionally safeguarded by the Straus plan. This is the first local issue that has been brought out under that plan in two years.

The B. F. Goodrich Company, effective yesterday, has reduced prices on its entire line of pneumatic and solid tires ranging from 10 to nearly 30 per cent. Prices of tubes have been cut approximately 10 per cent.

The New York News says that a deal has been closed between the Transcontinental Oil Company and the California Company, the Montana subsidiary of Standard Oil of California, whereby the California Company has acquired from the Transcontinental a half interest in 30,000 acres of oil and gas territory located in the State of Montana and covering well defined structures. The California Company will start active drilling. The property will be operated on a 50-50 basis for the Standard Oil California and the Trahscontinental.

LOSS TAKING

Investors who have been planning upon establishing losses for tax return purposes are somewhat disturbed by the fact that the tax bill now in conference at Washington prevents the old method of charging off losses in the stock market by sales followed at once by repurchases, which may not be made for a month thereafter, if the charge off is to be effective. It is expected that this bill will become a law within a few weeks and considerable selling is going on now for this purpose. Last year this business in large volume came in December, that month being one of the busiest of the year on the exchanges. Discussing the market review and outlook, Henry Clews says in his weekly summary:

"The uplift in bond prices, which has mainly been brought about by purchases for the public at large, is gradually extending to the share list. What the market has lacked, of course, has been buying in sufficient quantity to keep the upward movement going. To be sure, there is no expectation that there is to be any immediate rush to pick up stocks, but with confidence in the future replacing timidity it is only reasonable to believe that greater activity will be witnessed before long due to an increased demand. Many people are still short of stocks, having little faith in the anticipated business revival, but the ease with which prices respond to light buying is naturally making them less sure of their position.

"The results of railroad operations continue to make a very respectable showing, it being estimated that for the month of October the roads in the first class will be able to save $85,000,000 net. The announcement in the House of Commons that Great Britain will soon be prepared to remit to this country £50,000,000 annually on account of her national indebtedness is, of course, quite important, as payment of interest on the foreign debt due to us will have a direct bearing on taxation. Viewed from almost every standpoint, the market outlook is far from discouraging.

ALFALFA MARKET.

No material change in the alfalfa market during the past week was reported in the market letter issued yesterday by the California Alfalfa Growers' Association. The general movement remained about the same in volume, except in Los Angeles, where the receipts were enlarged by the arrivals of purchases made some time ago in sections of the State which do not usually ship to the local market.

In some of the large producing and shipping districts local sales are being made at several dollars a ton above the prices that would have been received in the central markets with shipping costs deducted. Growers in these regions are now holding out for the same prices on their sales to the central markets believing that their comparatively small supplies will all be needed locally or in near-by markets between now and next spring.

There were 1620 tons of grain and alfalfa hay received on the Los Angeles tracks during the week ended November 12, and 480 tons were held over. Prevailing prices last week were $22 a ton for No. 1 dairy stock, and $17 a ton for standard alfalfa.

NEW DIRECTORY.

The sixth edition of the Manufacturers' Directory and Commodity Index issued by the Industrial Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce has made its appearance. The book contains the names, alphabetically arranged, of all manufacturing concerns operating in this city and a classified list of their products.

Copies of the directory will be placed by the Chamber of Commerce in the hands of manufacturers, merchants, jobbers, purchasing boards and purchasing agents throughout the Southwestern States and foreign countries bordering on the Pacific and it is especially designed to inform this class of readers where needed commodities can be readily purchased. Coupled with the index are several pages of statistical data on the resources of Los Angeles and the surrounding territory.

"Los Angeles, 'Nature's Workshop,' has become the metropolis and great workshop of the Pacific Coast and Southwest," reads the foreword. "With the passing of each year remarkable progress is shown in the number and diversity of her products. Her manufacturers have an established reputation for enterprise, reliability, and fair dealing. In the high standard of their quality and the reasonableness of their price, their goods compare most favorably with those made in other communities."

BRAZILIAN ISSUE.

Another Brazilian state is doing its external financing in the United States. This is the State of Rio Grande de Sul, which brought out yesterday a $10,000,000 issue of 8 per cent external gold bonds. The bonds are due in 1946 and are payable through the sinking fund or at maturity at 105.00. They are noncallable for the first ten years. Lee, Higgin-

FINANCIAL PSYCHOLOGY.

Markets Not in Shape to Be Greatly Influenced by Armament Conference.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The course of events today showed pretty plainly that the financial markets are not at present in the mood to be greatly influenced by an event like the armament conference. An irregular recovery did indeed occur on the stock exchange, but it was only partially sustained and the market closed in great irregularity. Foreign exchange, whose response to the plan of reduced army and navy programs would be natural enough, advanced a fraction further in today's early market—the London rate going to $3.97—but all the early gain was lost in the later hours.

INCIDENTS OF WEEK.

It might be said perhaps that the incidents of this week's markets up-to-date have been mainly interesting as a study in financial psychology. The practical question is, however, what light they throw on the actual tendency of those markets. If the fact of the disarmament proposals was not likely to send prices flying upward on the other hand there was certainly nothing in them to cause discouragement, and the actual movement must be judged, therefore, independently of the Washington conference. So far as regards the stock market, it is a reasonable inference that the failure of anything like a vigorous autumn trade revival to appear has checked the disposition to bid up prices. No one now doubts that we shall at least have to wait until the spring for any important recovery in general business.

On Monday, when cotton prices suddenly rose $3 or $4 per bale, Wall street was informed that the cotton market, at all events, was responding to the disarmament plan. The explanation was not very convincing, and in fact, today's cotton prices declined, though recovering at the last.

TEXTILE ORDERS.

Except for January, 1920, when England bought to cover her eastern textile orders more than her usual prewar monthly purchase—last month's shipments of our cotton to the outside world exceeded largely those of any other month since March, 1915. Compared with a year ago, October's exports were actually doubled. The question which the cotton trade may presently be considering is the extent to which even a crop of 7,000,000 bales or more plus the 1921 carry over, would cover consumers' requisitions, if they were to continue or expand on the present scale.

HIGHER PRICES FOR SEASONED STOCKS INEVITABLE.

The ever increasing surplus of funds in various Banking Institutions will be put to work through the purchase of high-grade securities, and the Bond Market is already beginning to give evidence of higher prices as a result of this buying.

Therefore, as soon as these lower Bond yields, and investment funds will necessarily be compelled to turn to high-grade seasoned Stocks in order to derive a reasonable income.

You may be assisted in making a selection of attractive Stocks and write for a copy of our booklet describing the Monthly Investment Plan, which will enable you to accumulate good securities without risk.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Stock market prices reflected fresh unsettlement today, although the disturbances of yesterday, which were attributed to the disarmament proposals, seemed to exert less influence.

Shares of companies likely to suffer reduction of operation from a naval holiday made partial recoveries. Equipments strengthened in spots on prospects of early announcement of the Pullman-Haskell Barker merger and rumors that large contracts are soon to be awarded.

Foreign oils were under attack, beginning with the European group and extending to Mexicans, the latter being affected by rumors that Mexico intends to add a heavy impost to its present export tax.

Rails made a better showing than any other group, notwithstanding the unrest manifested in labor circles as a result of the proposed wage cut. More than a half score of high-grade issues made gross gains of 1 to 4 points, coalers and transcontinentals leading. These were partly impaired in the late selling pressure. Sales 700,000 shares.

Release of large sums in connection with the November 15 Liberty Bond interest payments created unusually easy money conditions. Call loan rates dropped from 5 to 4 per cent.

Foreign exchange was featured mainly by the further rise of sterling to its highest level in several months. Most continental remittances eased moderately. The local bond situation appeared strong. Total sales, par value, $17,275,000.

Signal Hill Oil

This is the greatest opportunity ever offered you to get in on the ground floor of the organization of an oil company. You will need $6000 to handle it, but after your investigation you will probably ask for a greater interest.

We have purchased a lease on 20 acres that has been passed upon favorably by practically every geologist that has visited Signal Hill, but until today the property was not available. Send us your name and address and let us explain. You will be under no obligation to join us by so doing; do not take up our time, however, unless you have the cash.

STANDARD OIL LISTED.

At last Standard Oil of California, is to be listed on the home exchange, a consummation towards which the exchange authorities have been looking for a long time. The listing was approved yesterday by the board of governors and after five days will be open for trading on the floor.

BOND MARKET.

The demand for high-class bonds continues to be encouraging, and there is an increasing volume of this class of business. Investment houses are scouring the market for new offerings, but the supply is inadequate and prices are mounting. The balance of the year gives every promise of a peak business.

CERTIFICATE EXCHANGE.

Holders of temporary certificates of the United States of Brazil 8 per cent bonds, due June 1, 1941, can now exchange them for permanent bonds by forwarding their certificates to the Central Union Trust Company, New York. Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., wish to advise holders that this should be done immediately as the first coupon is due December 1. These bonds were originally offered for sale at 98¼. The market today is 103.

The general and refunding mortgage bond issue, due 1944, reached a high point of 97 1-8 but softened later and closed at 96 7-8, a net gain of ⅜ of a point for the day. General Petroleum shaded off slightly in the selling but recovered at the close and remained unchanged at 96 bid. Union Oil of California continued its decline, dropping ⅝ of a point to 151⅜. Union of Delaware remained steady at 21¼. Mines were generally weaker although there were few transactions.

Optimo Paid Dividends Yesterday

Sixty-five days ago, when Optimo was being drilled, and Optimo units were being sold, we announced that Optimo's first month's dividend would be mailed 45 days after the completion of Optimo's well.

On September 30 this well was completed.

The 44 days have passed and yesterday—the 45th day—Optimo dividend checks were mailed.

When asked for an estimate of Optimo earnings when Optimo units were being sold, we approximated them at $7.50 a month on each $100.

When Optimo's well was first announced as completed we advised that Optimo earnings would be about $9 on each $100 unit.

Instead, however, the Optimo dividend checks mailed yesterday are for $12.89 on each $100 invested. Not phenomenal—but a good fair monthly return on a $100 oil investment.

Once ours was the pleasure of making an oil proposition's first dividend for 200%—just twice the amount that was invested with us. Such records are exceptional—depending upon exceptional wells. And only once in a while can they be expected. And so even though Optimo's first 30-day earnings are not especially large, it gives us a great deal of satisfaction to distribute them, particularly when we know that others are going to follow them every month and that, in many a home, they will bring added comforts and luxuries that otherwise would not have been possible.

It's a lot of pleasure also to express our thanks in concrete fashion to the men and women who have felt we are on the square, have taken a chance with us and shared our victory.

Optimo and Texan are just two in a long series of operations conducted by the Fosters for the production of oil in Breckenridge, Texas. The Fred B. Foster Company is a company organized in 1918 to produce oil—to drill one well right after another.

We knew then, just as we know now, that, even limiting our operations to proven leases, as we do, some of the wells we drill must of necessity be poor ones. And so it has been. We have drilled a lot of wells—some have been really big successes; some have been good, substantial producers; some just average wells; one has been a dry hole. Our successes far outnumbered our failures. Our producers have quickly retrieved whatever losses our investors and ourselves have had in a dry hole.

Texana is the next in the Foster series. It is an exact duplicate of Texan in the amount and character of acreage, and in the light of our experience as oil producers in Texas for many years, gives promise of equaling Texan's production record. Texan's first dividend will be mailed December 15.

On the strength of Optimo and Texan and our success before them, and the sound premises for predicting success for Texana, we urge you to investigate it seriously and quickly.

SENATOR FLETCHER AFTER HAYS'S SCALP.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Demands were made in the Senate today for a Congressional investigation of charges that Postmaster Gen. Hays disregards the rights of ex-service men in selecting postmasters. Senator Fletcher of Florida, Democrat, brought the question up by reading a telegram from Mayor Lunn of Schenectady, N. Y., stating that Edwin G. Conde had been appointed postmaster of Schenectady, notwithstanding the fact that two veterans of the World War were eligible.

Mayor Lunn wanted to know whether the law giving preference to ex-service men in the appointment of postmasters was still in effect. He characterized the failure to name a former service man in Schenectady as a glaring disregard of the rights of ex-service men, and requested the Senate to hold up confirmation of Conde until all the facts concerning the appointment could be laid before the Postoffice Committee.

EAT YOUR WAY BACK TO HEALTH BE SICK-PROOF

Drugs Work Against Nature—Cereal Meal Works With Nature—Builds Up.

Try One Package; Costs Nothing Unless Satisfactory in Every Way.

If your bowels are regular—the passages thorough, copious and poison-removing—you are very nearly sick-proof. But if you are constipated and are using pills—drugs—for the temporary relief they afford, you are WHIPPING or FORCING Nature and are in PERFECT CONDITION to contract most any kind of sickness.

Cereal Meal, by supplying certain elements now missing in the food you are eating, assists Nature to the extent that bowel movements—natural movements—come each day as regularly as the clock. It is these missing elements that CAUSE constipation. Thousands of men, women and children make Cereal Meal a part of their daily diet and are literally "Eating Their Way Back to Health."

Which would be more pleasant—more sensible and satisfactory—to dose yourself with drugs that work only by irritation and with griping and much distress, or simply to eat a dish of appetizing, nutritive, wholesome food for breakfast, and be able to forget your pills and that you ever were constipated? When you eat Cereal Meal you realize that you are eating a food that you like, but you do not realize that you have eaten something that will bring on normal bowel movements. You are never aware of the fact that Cereal Meal IS working, yet it contains no drugs.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to feel that you would never again have to resort to the pill-box—just to be able to eat your breakfast as you always have eaten it with the substitution of Cereal Meal for the cereal you have been accustomed to eating, you KNOW that when the hands of the clock pointed to a certain hour each morning that you would have a natural, normal bowel movement?

Try just ONE package of Cereal Meal. If it fails to satisfy you in every particular, the price of one package will be refunded without argument.

"Manchester, Minn.

"I find Cereal Meal the greatest food for constipation, and hope that everyone gets the same benefit I am getting. I am satisfied that once a user, always a user.—F. G. G."

Indigestion, over-acidity, headaches, dull eyes and sallow complexion, much nervousness and chronic appendicitis usually are but secondary to constipation. Properly relieve constipation by eating Cereal Meal and see how quickly these symptoms and conditions will disappear.

It is probable that your dealer has not as yet stocked Cereal Meal; therefore, write direct to The Cereal Meal Corp., 1438 Tremont St., Denver, Colo., for the name of your nearest dealer. Free booklet on constipation, prices and other information.—[Advertisement.

WEDDING OF OBENCHAINS IN JAIL IS PROHIBITED.

Officials Won't Permit Marriage in Prison; Madalynne Cannot Leave Without Court Order.

Ralph Riley Obenchain can remarry his former wife, Madalynne Connor Obenchain, if he wants to, but not in the County Jail.

This was the situation in the romance within the tragedy of the Kennedy murder case last night, following conferences between Superior Court judges, the Sheriff and the other authorities concerned.

But—

Mrs. Obenchain must remain in the County Jail unless the Sheriff is authorized by a court order to take her, in his custody, anywhere else.

And—

Before an order is issued by Judge Reeve for the transportation of Mrs. Obenchain to some point outside the jail, Mrs. Obenchain, through her attorneys, must make a showing that will satisfy Judge Reeve that such an order is necessary.

STATUS OF ROMANCE.

So—

After much excitment on the part of jail attaches, reporters, Arthur C. Burch, codefendant with Mrs. Obenchain on the charge of slaying J. Belton Kennedy, various and sundry other officials and the general public the situation last night remained about as follows:

Mr. Obenchain, the faithful ex-husband and present attorney of the woman charged with the murder of the Los Angeles insurance broker, is very much in the position of a lonesome young swain who just purchased a Tuxedo suit, by mail, and is all dressed up, with no place to go.

Mrs. Obenchain, the woman who left Mr. Obenchain to marry Kennedy and instead landed in jail charged with murder, can have her former husband for an attorney but will have to have several attorney before she can have him for a husband.

Burch, whose love for Mrs. Obenchain is said by the prosecution to have brought him to California to commit murder, is very much in the position of the man who worshiped something on a pedestal and awoke one morning to find that he has nothing but the pedestal left to worship.

A careful survey of the matter disclosed last night that as the result of Mr. Obenchain's bold move in obtaining a marriage license Monday afternoon for the purpose of marrying his former wife, ... concerned, is asking everyone else, "Where do we go from here?"

Up to a late hour yesterday the score stood:

Obenchain still has his license.

Mrs. Obenchain has a bad cold. Burch has nothing to say.

OFFICIALS CONFER.

Sheriff Traeger and Undersheriff Biscailuz have the opinions of Judge Reeve and Judge Willis, that a marriage in the County Jail is against public policy.

The District Attorney's office has other things to worry about.

The conference between Judge Reeve, Judge Willis and Sheriff Traeger was held yesterday morning for the purpose of determining what the Sheriff's duties and rights are should Mr. Obenchain demand the right to marry Mrs. Obenchain.

Judge Reeve, whose judgment in the Burch-Obenchain cases to date has been upheld by every higher court in the State, took the position that a marriage in the County Jail is against public policy. The law, it was next discovered, prohibits the Sheriff from taking a prisoner whose case is pending in court outside the County Jail and the court without a court order. Mrs. Obenchain has been denied bail, and Judge Reeve's judgment in the matter was upheld by the District Court of Appeal.

It will require a showing in court that Mrs. Obenchain's rights are being violated or that there is urgent need for such a marriage before Judge Reeve will rule on the request, if any is made, for a court order making a marriage possible. When such a request is made, Judge Reeve said, he will make a ruling, and not until then.

Accordingly, Mr. Obenchain was notified by Undersheriff Biscailuz yesterday that there would be "nothing doing" on a jail wedding.

SMILE CONTINUES.

Mr. Obenchain, who recently earned for himself the title of "Smiling Ralph," continued to smile. Mrs. Obenchain, who says her cold has nothing to do with the marriage license or the refusal of the powers that be to permit a jail wedding, continued to sniff. Burch, resplendent in a pongee silk shirt, smiled and chatted with visitors and reiterated that he has nothing to say for publication. He denied he called Mr. Obenchain "a boob in a million." Mr. Obenchain said he does not "believe Mr. Burch would say that" and Mrs. Obenchain said she does not believe and hopes he did not say it.

Mr. Obenchain, after some important legal work in the case, visited his former wife and wife-to-be, perhaps, in the County Jail and brought her the customary bottle of certified milk. The two chatted in the accustomed corner of the County Jail. The only difference in the surroundings was the abundance of light.

After the historical interview between Mrs. Obenchain and Burch, in which he was observed on his knees, speaking earnestly to Mrs. Obenchain, Jailer Cronin installed powerful electric globes in that portion of the reception room. The light did not appear to trouble Mr. Obenchain. He and Mrs. Obenchain talked "of many things," they said, including "cabbages and kings" and "perhaps the wedding, also."

EXAMINE WITNESSES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Witnesses examined by Los Angeles attorneys today in an effort to settle the question of the sanity of Arthur C. Burch, accused with Madalynne Obenchain of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, refused to state flatly that they believe him insane. Even his mother could make no such statement. "He is not the boy of high moral character and ideals that he used to be," was all she would say.

The depositions of the witnesses were taken by Deputy Dist.-Attys. Asa Keyes and Lewis M. Powell, for Los Angeles county, and Attorney Paul Schenck, chief counsel for Burch. The hearing was held in Evanston.

The testimony of the mother, Mrs. Dora M. Burch, revealed that Arthur had frequently told her of his affairs with other women before he was divorced by Mrs. Allie Quayle Burch, daughter of Bishop William Quayle.

"Arthur is not the boy of high moral ideals he once was," the mother said. "Before this trouble he came to me often and told me about being out with other women. He said his wife had a quick temper and sometimes struck him. He is not the boy he was when he was in college."

TELL OF CHANGE.

Roy M. McKircher, Wilmette attorney, who was a close friend and room-mate of Burch in high school and college days, declared his belief that the accused man "is not possessed of the full reasoning powers he had when he was a university student of exceptionally high mentality and member of two scholarship fraternities."

He declared that Burch "is not the man of high moral standard and integrity that he was when attending college."

Charles N. Stevens, president of the City National Bank of Evanston, told of Burch's financial transactions with the bank in the past three years.

"I believe Burch has lost his grip," he said.

Prof. Robert Gault, professor of psychology at Northwestern University and a specialist in criminal psychology, refused to testify. "I don't know anything about the case or Burch," he said.

Other depositions will be taken

BISHOP HOME FROM EUROPE.

Rt. Rev. J. H. Johnson Tells of Louvain Rebuilding.

Americans to Rehabilitate Famous University.

Says Nations Have Too Much Jealousy, Intolerance.

After four months spent abroad as a member of the international committee on the rebuilding of Louvain University in Belgium, and in which he inspected the plans for its rehabilitation, Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, bishop of Los Angeles, returned home late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Johnson, who accompanied the bishop abroad, returned with him and they are again occupying their home at 415 South Grand avenue, Pasadena. The bishop and Mrs. Johnson visited France, Belgium, Holland and Great Britain. The noted ecclesiast of the Protestant Episcopal church returned much improved in health after the vacation.

The bishop said the plans for the rebuilding of Louvain University, with its famous library, that is regarded almost as a world possession, are progressing splendidly under the direction of American architects and engineers and that the money has been made available by American generosity. Rebuilding of the Louvain library, he said, will be a gift from America to Belgium.

INTOLERANCE HIT.

Bishop Johnson hopes the Armament Limitation Conference will accomplish excellent results, yet he believes that much must still be done to cure peoples of their antipathies before real progress toward the end of all wars can be made. For this he devoutly hopes.

"I have visited Europe many times and consequently feel that I am more than a superficial observer," he said. "Upon this trip I observed that the antipathies of peoples toward each other still survive. The Italians do not seem to like the French any more now than when they took Savoy. In France there is an undercurrent of suspicion against England. I do not believe the ties are very strong between Belgium and France.

"There is still in the world that antipathy, that provincialism, that mitigates against real understanding and friendship. The whole world is still a bit like Mr. Lewis's 'Main Street.' The 'Main Street' idea is not merely in the little town. You will find it in New York, in London, Paris, the world.

TOO MUCH JEALOUSY.

"The chief manifestation is provincial jealousy and intolerance of the views, aims and ambitions of the other fellow. There is altogether too much intolerance in the world at the present time, both as regards individuals and nations. That is not Christ's teaching.

"I believe that the United States is leading the way to this in the reiteration of our honest diplomacy, exemplified by John Hay and Theodore Roosevelt, the other day by Secretary Hughes."

Bishop Johnson stated that the churches, schools and hospitals of this diocese of the Episcopal church were never in better condition than at the present time. The schools and hospitals are both taxed to capacity and are both paying their way, he said. He paid a high tribute to the work of his coadjutor, Bishop Stevens.

HUGE SUM IS ASSURED NEW HOTEL

Almost Quarter Million is Added to Biltmore Fund; Success of Drive Seen.

Almost a quarter of a million dollars was pledged yesterday to the support of the new Biltmore Hotel project by local and outside business men, according to officials who are conducting the campaign to raise $7,000,000 among Los Angeles investors for the erection of a thoroughly modern 1000-room hotel at Fifth and Olive streets. In all, $2,455,000 has been pledged toward the project, the total for the preceding day amounting to $2,250,000. At this rate, it is anticipated that the money will easily be raised before Thanksgiving Day, when the campaign will be closed, according to present plans.

A large number of subscriptions are coming in from outside sources, it was stated yesterday. Among yesterday's subscribers was Roy Carruthers, well-known hotel man, who is located in New York. Mr. Carruthers sent the following telegram: "Am forwarding today my subscription for $5000 worth of stock in the new hotel company. I look upon this as a wonderful investment because of the crying need for the type of hotel you are about to build. The soundness of judgment shown by the board of directors and the reputation of the operating company will not only give you a world of publicity, but will operate the hotel in an efficient and desirable manner. The thing must be a success and I certainly congratulate you that your vision in this will soon be realized. I wish I had more than $5000 at this time to invest."

Pledges also were received from D. M. Linnard, hotel operator of Pasadena. Several San Francisco men, among them Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific, were among the subscribers. It is necessary to raise $4,000,000 toward the project to successfully carry it into operation, and toward this end the central committee is now devoting its efforts.

SUIT .. BREEDS .. BITTERNESS.

Attorney for Man Charges Woman With Contempt.

Mrs. Virginia M. Honsinger (left) and a Friend.

An asserted attempt on the part of Mrs. Ina Jensen to slap the face of Emmanuel R. Honsinger, an insurance man, yesterday supplied a little divertisement in the sensational Honsinger contested divorce case on trial before Judge McLucas.

Swiftly approaching Mr. Honsinger as he was preparing to leave the court-room, Mrs. Jensen, after a few whispered words, was observed to slap at his face with her loose gloves.

Thomas K. Case, attorney for Mr. Honsinger, declared to the court that his attention had been drawn to the purported attack of Mrs. Jensen upon his client. Judge McLucas stated he had not observed the incident.

"He called me an opprobrious name," declared Mrs. Jensen. "Court had adjourned when I talked to him."

"I will file affidavits charging her with contempt," said Mr. Case.

The affidavits were not presented at the time court adjourned but probably will be filed with the court today.

Mrs. Virginia M. Honsinger is suing for separate maintenance and Mr. Honsinger is asking for a divorce on a cross-complaint. The divorce suit is being tried first.

The feature of Mr. Honsinger's testimony was the reading of a purported report of a telephone conversation between Mrs. Honsinger and Glen A. Dunham, named as co-respondent. The report was made by Mr. Honsinger, he testified, while listening in on the conversation from a telephone extension installed in the house of a neighbor. Mr. Dunham, who is in court, and Mrs. Honsinger declared through their attorneys that the reported conversation never took place.

STINGY, IS CHARGE OF SUING WIFE

Rich Husband Wanted His Children to Sign Notes to Pay for Keep, She Says.

Although her husband is possessor of wealth estimated roughly at $100,000, he objected to supplying necessary provisions for the house and attempted to force his children to sign promissory notes for the amount spent in bringing them up, according to a suit for separate maintenance filed yesterday by Elmira Clements against Phillip Clements.

Mrs. Clements charges that during the entire period of the couple's married life of forty-six years her husband was extremely stingy and was constantly nagging her because she spent money on the house and children.

Mr. Clements, the complaint recites, owns a large farm near Stonington, Ill., and various securities. He did not intend to spend any of this wealth, according to the complaint, as he would not let a daughter residing with the couple have any company and was continually asking her to sign notes to recompense him for her keep. The couple were married in 1875.

NEW BUSINESS CLASS.

A new class in the Pace course of accountancy and business administration will open this evening in room 607, Young Men's Christian Association Building, at 7:30. There will be short addresses by Dean I. C. Lewis, and others. The public is invited to attend the opening lecture.

WAR HERO WINS LIFE, LOSES WIFE

Ex-Service Man Divorced from Woman Who Left to Meet Him, Then Vanished.

Herbert Starzinger nearly lost his life in the World War. After his return to his home in Watts, he lost his wife. The story of her mysterious disappearance was told yesterday by Mr. Starzinger in Judge Summerfield's court, where he was granted a divorce on the ground of desertion.

Herbert and Eleanor Starzinger were married in 1918. He went into the Army and while he was fighting in France Mrs. Starzinger went to visit her mother in Senorita, N. M.

The report came to her that Mr. Starzinger had been killed in action. She put on widow's weeds and mourned his loss. The newspapers published his picture and the story of his last fight. She saved these as memtoes.

In 1919 Mr. Starzinger suddenly reappeared. He had been in a hospital. When sufficiently recovered, he started for home. He wired his wife at his mother-in-law's residence. His message removed the grief that had lain on her heart, and in a happy mood she prepared to rejoin him.

"Don't wire him, mother," she said. "I will surprise him."

The last trace of Mrs. Starzinger was at El Paso where she was waiting to take a train to Los Angeles. A man was observed talking to her. This was in April, 1919. All trace of her was lost. Her mother and her husband employed every means to find her.

Attorney Lightfoot represented Mr. Starzinger.

Grand Jury and Woolwine Crisis Expected Today

That the entire controversy between the county grand jury and Dist.-Atty. Woolwine will come to a crisis today was the general impression yesterday at the Hall of Records. The inquisitorial body, it was stated, does not intend to forward any additional information about the matter to Atty.-Gen. Webb, from whom a special investigator was asked. The jurors say they waited several weeks for a reply from him, and that if they send anything more, it will take at least six weeks to get action. By that time, it was pointed out, the jury will be out of office.

To remove an official from office two courses are open. One is under Section No. 772 of the Civil Code, which is an ouster proceeding, similar to that under which Sheriff Cline was removed. The other is by accusation.

ROB SAFE AND ESCAPE.

Burglars Loot Strong Box in Store of Piggly-Wiggly Company.

Entering the establishment of the Piggly-Wiggly Grocery Company at 4801 South Vermont avenue by using pass-keys, burglars early yesterday morning manipulated the tumblers of a large safe and escaped with $694 in cash.

CAPTURE LOS ANGELES MAIL HOLD-UP SUSPECT.

Postoffice Inspectors Locate Part of Plunder as Man is Seized After Long Hunt in East.

Bert R. Chapman, an automobile salesman of Boston, was arrested yesterday in New York charged with complicity in the robbery of a mail truck here last March 3, according to telegraphic advices from New York. Securities valued at about $16,000, which formed part of the loot taken from the mail truck, were recovered.

The arrest was made by Postoffice Inspectors Cellar and Wooster of the Los Angeles office. The two inspectors have been following various clews in Eastern States for more than six months and yesterday was the first arrest made in connection with the robbery.

No official report of the arrest had been received here yesterday but at the local postal inspectors' office it was said the two men in New York had found tracks of their quarry in Boston last June and had been working on the clew since that date.

SECURITIES FOUND.

It was believed here that Chapman was not one of the trio who held up the truck, but that he had received some of the securities and had endeavored to dispose of them in Boston. Half of the bonds found in his possession were securities issued by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad and the others various foreign issues.

Chapman's efforts to dispose of the foreign securities brought the Federal officers on his trail. The first of the securities made their appearance about June 14, but it was some time later before Chapman was identified as the one who had made the sale.

The Federal officers said their investigations in Boston disclosed that Chapman apparently had no regular occupation although he stated he is an automobile salesman.

The suspected man made reservations several days ago to sail yesterday from New York on the Aquitania. From that time forward he was under surveillance of the officers. They made the arrest as he entered the pier to go aboard the ship. Two women who were with him were not detained although they were questioned before being permitted to depart.

Reports from the inspectors there stated the prisoner will be arraigned today, charged with violation of Section 194 of the Penal Code. When arrested Chapman protested vigorously, the officers said, and when under cross-examination, denied the charges, but offered what the inspectors termed "unsatisfactory explanations."

TWELVE SACKS STOLEN.

The securities recovered were part of the loot taken in what became known here as the "Million-dollar robbery." Twelve sacks of registered mail were taken when three bandits compelled Clerk J. R. Alexander and Driver Nelson Grimes to drive their mail truck to a dark spot at Fourth and San Mateo streets. The two postal employees were then handcuffed to the truck and the bandits took the mail pouches and fled in a Chandler sedan. The automobile was traced by Los Angeles police toward Downey and the search in that vicinity was continued several days, but without result.

Numerous clews were followed here by the postal inspectors without result and it was not until some of the stolen bonds made their appearance in Boston that the first definite working point was found.

Details of the evidence against Chapman were withheld by the inspectors, but they said they expect to prove he disposed of stolen railroad bonds and attempted to sell stolen foreign securities.

AIRPLANES USED?

The postal inspectors said it is their belief that the bonds and other negotiable documents among the loot were sent East by airplane for disposal among banks and brokerage concerns by confederates. They added that there are indications that the stolen bonds first were sent to Chicago by airplane, where, after remaining in the custody of the criminals for several months, they were transported by the same means to Boston or some city in the vicinity.

Inspectors Webster and Sellars hurried to Boston from Los Angeles several weeks ago when it was learned the $5000 in foreign bonds had ben disposed of in that city and recovered them. In their investigation they learned that the same man who disposed of those bonds also disposed of $5000 worth of C. B. & Q. bonds.

BULLET FLIES IN FEDERAL BUILDING.

MARINE'S RIFLE DISCHARGES AND CROWD RUSHES FOR DOORS IN ALARM.

The crowded first floor of the Federal Building came near being the scene of a tragedy yesterday, about 4:30 p.m., when a reverberating roar that sent everybody pell-mell toward the entrance of the building rang through the corridors.

It was caused by the accidental discharge of a rifle in the hands of Private Bahman, one of the marines on duty in the vicinity of the registry division of the postoffice.

The bullet came dangerously near the head of Private Holliday, who was standing guard with Bahman.

Lieut. Hanlon, in charge of the squad, was at once on the scene. Bahman has but recently entered the service.

The explosion led to the report that a robber had been shot while attempting to hold up the registry department.

"MORE POLICE" DEMANDS GROW

Business Men and Morals Body Ask Action.

Urges Employment of Three Hundred Officers.

Communications Are Sent to the City Council.

The board of directors of the Business Men's Co-operative Association, the Jewelry Craft Association, the Morals Efficiency Association and President R. J. Waters of the Citizens' National Bank yesterday took a hand in the campaign for more policemen, all forwarding communications to the City Council urging that the Police Department be adequately increased. President Waters of the Citizens' National Bank wrote to the City Council as follows:

"We desire to request the City Council to consider very seriously the employment of additional policemen to the extent of not less than 300, more particularly in view of the fact that crime seems to be on the increase in this city and stronger measures should be taken to protect its law-abiding citizens. We believe that Los Angeles has fewer policemen, in proportion to its size, than any other city in the country, and, in view of the wealth of the city, and the very large amount of taxes collected, it would seem to us that adequate police protection should be the first duty of the city."

The meeting of the directors of the Business Men's Co-operative Association at the Broadway Department Store cafe yesterday was devoted to the "more police" question, and after listening to City Auditor Myers and Chief Accountant Marshall of the City Auditor's office, on the condition of the city's finances, the directors unanimously adopted a resolution which was forwarded to the City Council urging that the police force be increased by at least 300 men.

CRITICIZE COUNCIL.

The resolution stated that the action of the City Council in refusing to provide for the immediate employment of 300 policemen "is against the best interest and highest welfare of the citizenship," and that the attempted justification of the refusal of members of the City Council to vote for 300 policemen was not borne out by the figures submitted by City Auditor Myers.

The latter in his statement to the business men, previous to the adoption of the resolution, declared that he conservatively estimates the city's revenues during the present fiscal year will be $370,000 greater than was anticipated when the budget was adopted in June, and that within sixty days, the grand total in the reserve fund will be $1,750,000. If the occupational tax is not further reduced, the City Auditor said, the city's estimated surplus revenue will be $470,000 instead of $370,000.

The City Council yesterday adopted the necessary ordinance to add 100 men to the police department, this total to be made up of one inspector at a salary of $300 a month, to be second in command of the department under the Chief of Police, one deputy chief, at a salary of $275 a month, twenty-one chauffeurs and clerks to take the places now held by patrolmen who will thus be released for patrol duty, and seventy-seven new patrolmen.

STILL A CHANCE.

There is still under consideration before the Finance Committee of the City Council a motion made by Chairman Musbet and indorsed by the Lion's Club and other organizations and individuals providing for a further increase of 200 patrolmen in the department, and when the six votes necessary to pass this action are lined up it will be presented to the Council. Councilman Sparks has already agreed to vote for it, and Councilman Sanborn is now being urged to make the sixth.

Mr. Sanborn was invited to attend a meeting of the Business Men's Co-operative Association directors, to explain his opposition to the Musbet resolution, but he did not appear, sending a letter in which he said that in opposing the resolution he felt that in view of other pressing demands upon the city government 100 policemen were all that should be added at this time.

Councilman Sparks was present at yesterday's session of the business men, and was given a special vote of thanks for his action in urging and securing the adoption by the City Council of an appropriation of $2000 for the ventilation of the Third-street tunnel.

CIVIC BODY URGES MORE POLICE HERE.

GO LIMIT TO PROTECT CITY, SAYS LOS ANGELES ASSOCIATION.

Urging the immediate appointment of at least 200 more policemen for Los Angeles, "and as many more as the city funds will permit," members of the Greater Los Angeles Improvement Council, meeting at the Union League Club at noon yesterday, put themselves on record as favoring, first of all, the protection of Los Angeles citizens.

The Greater Los Angeles Improvement Council is the name adopted yesterday by the organization formed a month ago, the council being composed of officers of various improvement associations of the city. The purpose of the organization is to consider matters of general interest, to unify the action of the improvement bodies and to take such action regarding civic matters as may be deemed advisable.

The officers elected yesterday are: President, C. W. Horn, president of the Northwest Improvement Association; vice-president, C. L. Welch, president of the South Hollywood Improvement Association; second vice-president, H. M. Bruce, president of the Glassell Park Association; secretary, D. S. Valentine, president of the Boyle Heights Association; assistant secretary, Mrs. M. E. Eylward; treasurer, F. M. Coughlin, president of the Rose Hill Civic Improvement Association.

C. L. Welch was appointed to investigate the questions of storm drainage and outfall sewage. The council will hold its next meeting at the Union League Building, on December 1.

HOLD UP PORT POST ACTION.

Commisioners Table Plan for Statistician.

Chamber of Commerce Kicl: Precedes Decision.

Say Naming of Traffic Head Should Come First.

Following protests by the Chamber of Commerce, the majority members of the Board of Harbor Commissioners yesterday tabled indefinitely a proposal to create the position of statistician to the board. President McKee argued at yesterday's meeting that the position should be created in order to bring up to date the department records and to keep adequate data of the port's development.

W. S. Wheaton, representing the Chamber of Commerce, contended that the position of statistician should not be created until the board has appointed a traffic manager of the port, as the statistician would work under the direction of the traffic manager. This view was taken by Commissioners Richards and Kibele, and by their votes the matter was tabled. Had the position been created it was planned to appoint E. A. Heffner at a salary of $200 or $250 a month.

The board is now expected to take up and consider at once applications for the position of traffic manager of the port. It is expected that the salary will be about $5000 a year. The man who is chosen will be familiar especially with traffic rates, so as to secure the best possible charges for shipments through Los Angeles Harbor. Among those who have applied for the position is J. T. Hendricks, a Los Angeles man now temporarily absent in New York, who has had experience in traffic matters and has appeared before the Interstate Railroad Commission in rate cases.

When the position is filled, there will be created the place of port superintendent, to which, it is expected, Capt. Inar Pedersen, now traffic manager of the port, will be transferred. The separation of the jobs will be made because of tremendous increase in harbor business.

The harbor board is expected soon to appoint a port warden, to take the place of Don C. Fugitt, who is now on a leave of absence. The place pays a salary of $225 a month. A number of applications have been filed, including those of J. H. Cruger, Frederic C. Robinson and N. B. Terry.

LABOR PLOT IS CHARGED IN COUNCIL.

Electrical Examiner Board Aimed to Hurt Contractors Business Body Man Says.

The Business Men's Co-operative Association yesterday went on record in opposition to the ordinance now before the Public Safety Committee of the City Council following the veto of the measure by Mayor Cryer, creating a Board of Electrical Examiners.

"The whole scheme for this ordinance was hatched at the Labor Temple," said F. O. Johnson of the board of directors of the association in proposing the motion to instruct Managing Director and Secretary George M. Babcock of the association to inform the Council of the organization's opposition.

The motion was seconded by P. E. Woods, who declared the ordinance is unnecessary and designed only to create trouble for contractors.

The action of the association followed the reading of a letter from President Haldeman of the Better America Federation, calling attention to the sinister purposes of the ordinance.

The Public Safety Committee of the City Council will hold a hearing on the ordinance Monday afternoon.

Expected Too Much of Her, Wife Charges

William Young, a rancher of Stanislaus county, expected his wife to keep a house of seven rooms tidy while she was cooking for fifteen farm hands, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Annie Young. She charges her husband with cruelty and asserts that he permanently dislocated her arms by twisting them.

Mr. Young is said to be worth $100,000. Attorneys Stutsman and Stutsman represent Mrs. Young.

DENIES HE HIT WIFE.

"Chivalry Forbids" Any Further Comment, Says Capt. Goetz.

An emphatic denial that he ever struck his wife was issued yesterday by Capt. Ronald Goetz, member of the Los Angeles cinema colony. The wife, Thelma Goetz, started proceedings for divorce Monday. Capt. Goetz declined to make any other statement regarding the charges contained in her complaint.

"Chivalry forbids any comment from me," he declared yesterday.

Capt. Goetz is a cousin of Viscount Burnham of England, owner of the London Daily Telegraph. He had a distinguished career in the World War as a captain in the Welsh Guards. He was mentioned in dispatches by the commander-in-chief and was decorated with the Military Cross. Mrs. Goetz was formerly on the London stage, where she was known as Thelma Morgan.

NO LIMITATION.

The government has added 7000 revolvers and shotguns to its railway mail service equipment. This doesn't look like disarmament.

SAYING GOOD BY.

DeWolf Hopper and Francis Wilson are to make a farewell tour of America in comic opera. Hope it never gets around to where some of these old-timers are going to kiss us good-by.

WORKS BOTH WAYS.

One Wall street man wagered $20,000 to $2000 that Mayor Hylan would be re-elected. Wall street doesn't always bet the way it votes. Possibly that is a reason why it has so much money.

BY DEGREES.

Marshal Foch is also getting there by degrees. Yale College has conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws. Three years ago the marshal was laying down the law to the hordes of Germany and therefore he may be said to have qualified for his degree.

SELLING THE SEA.

Long Beach is preening herself because some Texan sent for five gallons of her sea water which will cost him something like $3 when the express is paid. If people in the East are willing to pay half a dollar a gallon for the Pacific Ocean the beach cities have unlimited prosperity before them.

MONEY IN OIL.

Henry Huntington is said to have paid $850,000 for the Gainsborough painting of "Boy Blue" and John McCormack $150,000 for Franz Hals' "Portrait of a Man." When the painters' union hears of these fancy figures they may order a strike in order to get in on some of it. With oil and paint at present prices these figures do seem exorbitant.

SPOILS OF WAR.

The American Civic Association is urging that all cannon and other trophies of battle and victory be removed from the parks of the nation. The cannon are being taken from the playgrounds of Chicago, but that is about as far as this form of disarmament will extend. In spite of the urge for universal peace, most folk cling to their relics of combat and victory.

THE RULING PASSION.

With almost every family in America keeping a chariot the problem of upkeep sometimes cuts into the bill of fare. There are a lot of folks who buy gasoline on Sunday and bean soup the rest of the week. In the meantime folks are forgetting how to walk. First thing we know they will forget how to work and then the country will be going backward. It might be well to put on the brakes now.

ITCH FOR BOOKS.

The circulation of the Los Angeles Public Library now averages almost ten thousand volumes a day. This would be considered quite a big business in any line. Surely there should be no delay in providing reasonable facilities for the patrons of the library. From the standpoint of circulation the Los Angeles library is one of the greatest in the world. Few in America surpass it. Yet it has no home of its own. This is unthinkable—or should be.

RUSSIA AND RUBLES.

The soviet government in Russia is a wonderful thing in one way. Measured by its face value Socialist Russia has issued more money than all the rest of the world in all time. If Adam had commenced making dollar bills on his first day in Eden and had kept steadily at it until this time without stopping for meals he would still be over one hundred billion rubles behind the output of the Lenin administration of Russia. If the government could only persuade people to take its money everything would be lovely.

PAYING THE PRICE.

There's a downward tendency in most things, but the taxpayer is not likely to find it out. Senator Rominger publicly calls attention to the fact that, after making professions of reform and retrenchment, Gov. Stephens's administration has increased State taxes 74 per cent. The cost of State government ten years ago was $14,000,000. Now it is $91,000,000 and a deficit of $2,000,000 is reported on top of that. In the face of a falling market the administration added $39,000,000 to the load the taxpayer was already carrying. There is nothing in the wide, wide world so costly as State government in California. It isn't worth it.

FOR FULL FELLOWSHIP.

Supposing Japan and England should ask Uncle Sam why he doesn't come into the League of Nations and turn in his navy as a part of a world service patrol! From their point of view America may still be a barrier to a smooth-running universe. Uncle Sam doesn't want to associate with them in the League and yet wants to fix the size of the world's fleets. There is a League with fifty nations in it and it is reasonable to expect that some of those nations will not unreservedly accept American as the altruistic, unselfish and disinterested government we know it to be. If Uncle Sam would sit in and show that he was [illegible] they would be less suspicious of Uncle Sam as a partner;

THE ONLY WAY.

For the world there is but one way out of the tangle of racial hatreds and national jealousies in which all peoples are enmeshed. That way is through limitation of armaments and the creation of a world government, or supergovernment, which will maintain peace and guarantee justice between nations.

The enthusiasm with which the proposals of the United States on the opening day of the Washington conference have been received in almost every land shows that nearly all of the nations have come to this point of view and are willing to make the necessary sacrifices to arrive at the long-sought goal.

Secretary Hughes, in the course of one of the briefest addresses ever made on so important a subject by a spokesman for a great nation, proved himself the outstanding figure of the world conference and the man around whom the deliberations will center.

His program involves the surrender on the part of each government of some of its prerogatives and authority, just as the creation of a federation from a number of independent states requires that each divest itself of enough authority to make the strength of the new government sufficient to its tasks.

These two things, limitation of armaments and a powerful overgovernment which can carry on the international police tasks of which the individual nations have been relieved, must go hand in hand. Disarmament without the creation of an international system of justice and of police would be suicide for the English-speaking races and for civilization itself.

The arguments against this voluntary surrender of authority have been the same at every stage of the world's advancement. Before Magna Charta took its form there were haughty nobles who did not even wish to submit to having themselves judged by their peers, preferring a devil-take-the-weakest program under which every baron's hand would be against every other baron and all against the king and the people.

When orderly government took up its forward march on this continent the same situation arose. The debates leading up to the adoption of the Constitution were in almost the same language which we hear employed by opponents of international agreements at this time. Why, it was asked, should New York or Virginia surrender its rights and trust its fate to a government made up of States of varying interests and desires? The answer was the same then that it has always been. Because, was the reply, the time has been reached when federation is required and we must unite or perish in struggles among ourselves or at the hand of an outside foe.

A similar attitude was adopted regarding duelling. Why, it was asked, should a man intrust the protection of his honor to the courts? Because, was the reply, otherwise blood feuds and sectional strifes will result if every man is a law unto himself. Most sections of this country reluctantly gave up the duelling fashion. Breathitt county, Kentucky, serves as an example of what happens when the individual refuses to leave the matter of punishment to his government. It is the most backward, impoverished, unhappy county imaginable, with strife almost constantly in progress. "Bloody Breathitt" it is called in all parts of the United States.

The nations are still in the duelling stage. For ten centuries Belgium, France and the Lowlands have been a shambles. Invariably the points at issue have turned upon the personal and diseased ambition of some individual or upon a false sense of national glory and honor. The white race, it must be confessed, has outstripped all others in haste in taking up arms and in persistence in national and monarchical quarrels.

But the world is no longer concerned with how it got into its present situation, but rather with the way of escape from it. Duelling among the nations must go, because it is futile and inefficient, the victor suffering almost as much as the vanquished and no definite accomplishment being recorded.

Wars plant the seeds for other wars. France could not forget what Germany did in 1871. Germany today broods over her present miseries and seeks an opportunity to punish the nations which foiled her in her attempt upon the freedom of the world. From the time of the dismemberment of Charlemagne's empire on through the Napoleonic wars Europe was torn by a succession of struggles, each conflict being brought on largely by the bitterness and the hardships which the preceding struggle left as its heritage. Taking a period of 1000 years in Europe the historian finds it impossible to point to a single quarter of a century during which the nations have been at peace.

Wars, even the most overwhelmingly decisive in the military sense, are indecisive in the large sense in that the issues persist in raising themselves and the struggle must be repeated. Wars are incalculably wasteful; wars fail to benefit mankind, but simply add to the misery and the hardships of all men everywhere. Hence the universal and unmistakably sincere demand for peace.

On the other hand, there must be law and order and a strong enough police power to prevent any nation from usurping the world government and to prevent hostile elements from smashing through and annihilating the civilization which a world government is intended to enshrine.

From Tokio to London and around to Vladivostok there is the call of the people for peace—safeguarded, reasonable, lasting peace.

Secretary Hughes has made the heretofore silent peoples of countless lands vocal. The United States is taking the lead in what promises to be the most gigantic forward stride in the world's history.

STATE REMOVING SIGNS.

Advertising signs that clutter up every highway right of way in the United States are about to become history in Michigan. Wayne county two years ago took advantage of a law passed by the 1919 Legislature and tore down all of these signs. Wayne was followed by Oakland and others.

Now the State highway department is taking a hand. Frank F. Rogers, commissioner, has given public notice that the State will remove all advertising signs still remaining on the public highways. Advertisers have been given thirty days in which to remove their property. Otherwise it will be scrapped by the State unless standing farther back than thirty-three feet from the center of the road.—[Sparks.

BIRDSEYE VIEW OF BUSINESS.

Things look better. Conditions are better. Business is better. These three statements of fact summarize the business situation as it exists today, not only in Southern California, but through the country. Signs are multiplying that business is on the up-grade. In many lines it is apparent that prices have touched bottom and during the past few weeks there has been a tendency toward higher levels. A tremendous volume of liquidation has been effected, but there is still considerable liquidation to do in certain directions. Money is cheaper than it has been since the war. Cheap money and an overliquidated market sometimes lead to inflation, but as an offset to that possibility there is the Federal reserve system, which stands as an effective bulwark at the gates of finance.

The armament conference is having mighty, though subtle, effect upon business. It would be difficult to put one's finger on the point of contact, but it is there, and if the Hughes plan, or a modification thereof, is finally adopted The Times looks for the greatest business revival, accompanied by a resumption of foreign trading on a large scale, this country has ever experienced.

Foreign trade, as a matter of fact, must go hand in hand with further development, for we have gone about as far as we can along the path toward complete readjustment without the open world market. Gold is piling up in the United States at an alarming rate and some economists fear that it will be used as a lever with which to force prices up beyond their properly stabilized level. The financing of Europe and the release of some of the funds going into preparations for new wars, the arranging of long-term credits and perhaps the war debt interest moratorium which some advocate remain conditions precedent to a complete resumption of business and prosperity in this country.

So far the handling of the tax problem by Congress has not inspired any unusual confidence on the part of the public. The tax bill is more or less a thing of shreds and patches, as any measure made up chiefly of compromises is bound to be, but here again the outlook is promising rather than gloomy. It is improbable that Congress can do anything that will make the inequitable burden of war taxation any more onerous, and therefore, in the very nature of things, what is done is pretty sure to be for the better. Business has struggled manfully against and under this burden for three years and has even made progress. As soon as some of the weight is lifted there will be an immediate response.

(A) Improvement, month by month, in railroad car loadings and in traffic volume, an accurate barometer of the condition of trade in various parts of the country.

(B) Gradual reduction in the yield of high-class bonds and the marked improvement in the price of government obligations.

(C) Steadily accumulating supplies of banking reserves and credit facilities.

(D) Stabilizing of commodity prices.

(F) Rising quotations on the stock exchange.

Interest rates are lower than they have been since the first Armistice Day and credit conditions are generally sound. These are two factors which are always positive in any improvement of general conditions and without which there could be no such improvement. A week or so ago eight of the twelve Federal reserve banks cut their discount rates at the suggestion of reserve officials. This brought the New York and Philadelphia rate down to 4 per cent and the rate for the twelfth district, of which Los Angeles is a part, to 5 per cent, or practically a prewar basis; a most significant and encouraging action when taken in conjunction with other signs of the times.

So much for the situation at large. In Los Angeles and Southern California there is even more reason for optimism. Advertised throughout the world by United States Chamber of Commerce reports as the "white spot of America," we are living up to the designation and keeping well in advance of returning prosperity elsewhere. This has a disadvantage in attracting to our hospitable shores a type of undesirable tourist. The kind who travels in side-door Pullmans and neither toils nor spins if he can help it. Because good times plus good climate has been chalk-marked upon our front gate we are given an added problem to solve and our unemployment statistics will suffer accordingly. However, this is a matter for a vigorous police policy. It is one which concerns the whole people and should not be hampered by miserliness in providing the equipment.

However, late reports from the office of the State Labor Commissioner show that unemployment conditions in Southern California are better than in any other part of the State. This in the face of the unwelcomed influx referred to speaks well for the absorption powers of the local labor market.

With the ending of the strike in the oil fields there are no labor troubles of any importance in the State, and there have been none at all in the Los Angeles district, where labor, skilled and unskilled, is fully employed, except for late arrivals, at a wage scale which has suffered less in comparison with post-war levels than has been the case in any other section of the country. This in turn tends to sustain the purchasing power of the public which finds its expression in the retail trade from whence come reports of steadily improving business and higher sales levels, even after discounting reduced commodity prices, thus establishing a largely increased volume over comparative periods a year ago.

Crop conditions in Southern California are excellent and there is no reason at this time to anticipate any failures. Citrus fruits, especially, are in prime condition and the yield will be heavier than last season with prices well sustained.

Building, of course, is in a class by itself, and the wonder of the industrial world. All records will go by the board this year, which has registered several months in which Los Angeles was led only by the great eastern centers of population, New York and Chicago.

Manufacturers report fall orders far in excess of those being booked a year ago and this has found reflection in increased use of labor and heavier pay rolls; this in turn to be reflected in augmented savings deposits and bank clearings.

The local investment market is strong and bond dealers complain, not of a lack of business, but of their inability to keep their shelves stocked with attractive goods in sufficient volume and variety to meet the requirements of the trade. There is also a revival of interest in the stock market, where the trading has recently taken on a more general character, indicating a less professional atmosphere and a revived interest on the part of the public accompanied by an upward tendency in prices.

While luxuries are not being purchased so recklessly as they were immediately following the war, there is an increasing demand for good goods and, although there is a tendency to ask for more extended credit, installment houses report no trouble with collections, and practically all obligations are promptly met. This condition, merchants say, is another evidence of local stability and sustained and regular earning power.

The automobile business, another accurate barometer of trade, is showing no approaching quiet season such as the rest of the country experiences between November and April 1. Cars are being received in trainload lots and are moving rapidly. Tires are back to a 1913 price basis and the local turnover in this branch of the industry is tremendous, with California factories supplying their share of the stock.

Advance bookings and early arrivals predicate a tourist business of gigantic proportions, with a possible shortage of housing accommodations, in spite of the heavy building program and incidental high rates. This is a condition rather than a theory and one which will not yield to scolding. So long as the law of supply and demand rules, just so long will landlords charge all the traffic will bear. The answer, of course, is to build and build and build, but Los Angeles is building and building and building, almost to the limit of her physical ability.

Since the 1920 census figures were published Los Angeles has moved up several points in population, in manufactured output, in export and import, in trade balances, and Washington advices to The Times tell us that this county, according to government statistics, again leads all the counties in the United States in agricultural products, and leads the second county by $17,000,000. Out of the fifty leading agricultural counties in the United States, California gets thirteen, and out of the thirteen Southern California gets eight, or one more than the entire Empire State of New York. The value of the crops alone in Los Angeles county was greater than the combined value of crops and live stock in any other county.

And so there appears to be ample foundation for the optimistic outlook The Times feels justified in taking upon life. Every statement is backed solidly by facts and figures. The day of idle boasting and of whistling for courage has long since passed. It is only necessary to point to the statistics and let he who runs read for himself. Which brings us back to the starting point and a confident renewal of the affirmation: "Things look better. Conditions are better. Business is better."

Why Is It?

I wish some time when Edison basks
In the glory of knowing so much and asks
What is the home of the gingko tree
And the present depth of the Zuyder Zee
And what makes soda water fizz,
He'd ask—or tell us why it is
That all of the up-to-the-minute lads
Have big chins in the magazine ads.

Whether they show their arms and knees
Chastely draped in B.V.D.'s,
Whether it's shirts or canes or hats,
Cigarettes, galluses, socks, cravats,
Overcoats, cuff links, club bags stout,
Motor cars, bath robes that they tout,
The line-up ends as it begins,
All of them have the same big chins.

It doesn't seem fair—has a man like me
With a little chin no right to see
How he would look in glad array
Or a new Rolls Ruff as well as they,
Or brushing his teeth with So-Zo-Nette,
Or grinning back of a cagarette?
My query ends as it begins,
Why do they all have such big chins?

Professor Dink Beeson says fame is a pretty uncertain dame in the way she hands out her favors to the sons of men and he saw by a piece in the paper how there was a man in New England who deserved every bit as much credit for rousing the natives on the occasion of Paul Revere's ride as Paul did, but his name happened to be William Dawes Junior, and no poet could ever have made a poem about a man with a name like that and so Paul got his name and his glory spouted forth by reciters at school exercises and Fourth of July entertainments and will probably continue doing so as long as the United States lasts and William is forgotten.

And

One soldier in a battle, the battle itself having no name, but being located noncommittally somewhere in Algiers, happened to come from a town with the nice jingly name of Bingen fastened to it and furthermore located on a river with dozens of good easy rhymes easily thought up for it, the Rhine, and so we find him remembered, and the countless others, who fell in the same battle and who may have had mothers and sweethearts as grand as his, were forever forgotten.

And

He says look at the poems and songs that have been written about the Tennessee River or about people that lived along its banks.

The U.S. is full of rivers and some of them are clearer than the Tennessee by far, and some of them longer and some of them bigger, but he bets there aren't any three of them that get their names in song books and ready reciters as it did, just because it had ee's at the end of its name.

The Circus.

Henry and Rollo had looked forward with great joy to the coming of the circus to Milford. It was a small one, but the first either had seen. Waldo Muggridge's Uncle Joe was a trainer in it and Waldo, was going with the boys in the Holiday carriage and they would share in Waldo's enviable circus affiliations.

Henry was specially pleased at the prospect of seeing a lion. He had read many stories about that powerful king of beasts. He could scarcely believe that he was about to behold one in the flesh.

Once inside the tent the boys easily found Waldo's uncle, who piloted them forthwith in a before-the-performance round of the cages. My, how much larger the elephant was than the lion. And the hippo and the rhino. "Can they whip him, too," Henry asked. "I should say so," said Uncle Joe.

But what particularly surprised Henry was the final stunt of the night's program of the show. One of the lions trotted down into the arena and a monkey about as big as Henry's two hands sprang onto his back. Round and round the ring they went, the monkey at times speeding his craven steed on his way with a small rider's whip.

Next day when Miss Chattie Bascom asked the boys to tell their class at school what lesson they learned from the circus Henry's mind ran over the terrific things he had read of the courage and bloodthirstiness of the king of beasts and on such a perceptibly small basis.

"I learned," said he, "that it pays to advertise." THREL FALL.

There is a rush of marriages in England and statistics show that the average of the grooms is 26 years, while that of the brides is 30. That is our idea of kidnaping.

John Bull has agreed to pay the interest on the debt he owes Uncle Sam. The idea of forgiving the bill was about as popular in this country as an epidemic of smallpox.

It is hoped that when Marshal Foch visits Los Angeles there will be something more substantial than three cheers and a parade in his honor. Charlie Chaplin got much when he was in Paris.

Another point about the armistice parley is, will Dock Ellis be among those present? The famous county medico, always a swell uniform, would be more appealing than the delegate from Boston.

Col. Bryan ridicules the Darwinian theory of evolution, but he should not go too far. It is all right in politics and, according to the theory, he may be President of the United States some time.

There are no records that Sodom and Gomorrah had daily newspapers. We imagine we are safe in saying that they did not have any. But their first pages would have been very much like those of the present day.

The emergency tariff bill has been extended by Congress to a permanent tariff legislation is enacted. Now let Congress begin the latter. The country needs prompt action on a matter that affects everybody.

"Gipsy" Smith says that Europe will be dry in five years. That there was a law to compel a man to set 'em up if would do more toward curbing the rule of the demon in Scotland than anything we can think of just now.

Science has almost reached the limit of research in every field but there is so much that the human brows do not know. They have not yet discovered where the old moon go or where the eels go in the summer. Oceans of salt water on every hand, with the salt dripping away, nobody knows where.

They do not seem to understand that a law prohibiting them from drinking, transporting or selling liquor must be obeyed—because it is now the law in their home land.

THE IDEAL OF DISARMAMENT.

Man is strongest when he's right
With a faith in higher things;
Then he triumphs over wrong,
Rises as on heavenly wings.
Then he steps with giant strides
Over obstacles ill-willed,
Makes God's purposes fulfilled.

It's as though his very soul
Were surcharged with magic power;
For it breaks the vile control
Of a darkly-gendered hour,
All the errors of the past,
Wrongs of consequential line
Are annulled as by a blast,
Or submerged with fearful brine.

Man is strongest when he's right
With the power of ideals;
For their voice, like heavenly light,
All his sinew nobly steels.
Then, much like vulcanic might,
That oft mountains rends apart,
He an ancient wrong doth smite,
Brings the world a change of heart.

BOND SALE IS URGED.

Ask City Council to Offer Securities.

Half Million Wanted by Board Immediately.

Action of I. H. Hellman Must be Obtained.

The board of library directors yesterday petitioned the City Council to sell at once $400,000 of the $2,000,000 in bonds voted last June for the building of a central Public Library and branches. The directors say that when the $400,000 worth of bonds is sold the proceeds will be used toward establishing branch libraries and for the necessary work in preparing the Normal Hill site for the $2,000,000 central library building.

They must get permission from Irving H. Hellman to sell the bonds, because of the claims in Mr. Hellman's favor at secret sale and at a price of $1,135,000 of the $12,000,000 issue of bonds for the purchase of the Southern California Edison Company's distributing system in Los Angeles. Under this agreement between the city and Mr. Hellman, the city is prohibited from selling any other securities until ninety days from the date the power system was delivered to Mr. Hellman. The Hellman sale is being contested in the courts and it may be months or years before the power system can be delivered to the bankers. They may never be delivered, if the courts set aside the sale under which event the bonds would be resold by the City Council. Mr. Hellman has readily resold the harbor bonds sold by the city since he bought the power system, and it is expected that he will readily release the library bonds.

The bonds sold since the purchase of the power system have brought par and a premium instead of going at a discount such as Mr. Hellman received when he purchased the harbor bonds. The bond market is steadily improving, and it was said yesterday that should Mr. Hellman be in a position to resell all of the power bonds he purchased under the terms on which the City Council sold him the bonds would reap him and his associates a profit of more than $1,000,000.

The City's Finance Committee will meet this afternoon on the request of the library directors.

Better business conditions are reported throughout the East and South, and this is an excellent indication of the return of improved conditions generally," was the optimistic message brought to Los Angeles by Clarence A. SWAN NOTE CHARGED.

Tired, Disinterested, Spouse Wrote, Wife Tells Court; Is Freed.

Mrs. Katherine Young, who was granted a divorce on the ground of desertion by Judge Summerfield yesterday, had an unwelcome surprise one afternoon when she returned home from a matinee. It was a swan note from her husband, Herman D. Young, who, after packing his clothes, wrote her:

"Dear Katherine. I am going because I am tired and disinterested. Don't try to find me."

She told the court that she has never seen her husband since. She was represented by Attorney Harry Chamberlain.

MOTOR TRANSPORT HEARING CONTINUES.

COMPANY SEEKS TO OPERATE UNDER RULINGS OF STATE RAIL BOARD.

Hearing before Examiner Hanford of the State Railroad Commission of the case of the Hodge Transportation Company, a motor truck service operating between Los Angeles Harbor and various points in Southern California as far north as Victorville, which began Monday morning, continued all of yesterday and probably will consume the greater part of the week, it is said.

Frederick M. Hodge, president and general manager of the concern, recently petitioned the commission for a certificate empowering him to carry on his trucking service under the latter's rulings. In this petition he sets forth that, inasmuch as hauling by his service is done in truckload lots only, with a minimum tonnage of 3000 pounds, he is not in competition with the short-haul motor truck lines already established in the same territory.

Opposition to the granting of the transportation company's plea is being made by the Pacific Electric, Southern Pacific, Salt Lake and Santa Fe Railway lines, all of which traverse the district, and in addition, by some twenty-five or thirty independent motor truck concerns. Representing the latter in a legal capacity is Herbert Dudley Kidd, of this city. Attorneys of the various railways interested are present in force. Mr. Hodge has, for counsel, Douglas Brookman, a San Francisco lawyer.

Chef Replies to Letters of Southland Housewives.

Finishes Thanksgiving Menu With Hints for Sauce.

BY A. L. WYMAN, M.C.A.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—On our arrival here we received a number of letters in which the writers ask for recipes. These have been forwarded two or three times and I hope that the senders have not given up hope of reading their recipes in this column. Also I want to call attention to the fact that I omitted to give the recipe for the salad oriental for the Thanksgiving dinner and to mention that cranberry sauce should be served with the turkey.

For the salad or avocados oriental select three medium-sized avocados (do not get them too ripe,) and cut in half, place each half on a bed of shredded lettuce, and place in each half a dressing made by mixing half a cup of lemon French dressing with four tablespoons of finely-chopped preserved kumquats.

Tastes differ—some serve cranberry sauce with the turkey, others like the jelly and some better class hotels serve cranberry sherbet, so that all will be satisfied. I will give the recipes for the three.

Cranberry sauce is made by adding two cups of sugar or two cups of boiling water and boiling for five minutes. Remove all scum as it rises. Now add to the boiling syrup one quart or four cups of cranberries and cook without stirring until the berries are clear and tender. Pour into a wet mould and set in a cool place to harden.

CRANBERRY SHERBET.

For cranberry jelly boil one quart of cranberries with two cups of water until the berries are soft and pulpy, then strain through a jelly bag or fine sieve. Add to the strained juice two and a quarter cups of dry sugar and boil for five minutes. Pour into wet molds.

A sherbet of cranberries is good with both roast turkey and lamb and will prove a delicious addition to the dinner.

The sherbet is made by cooking one quart of cranberries with one quart of water until the berries are soft. Pour into a jelly bag and press out all the juice. Add to the juice one and a half cups of sugar and the juice of two lemons, stir until the sugar is dissolved. Place when cool in a freezer packed with three parts ice and one part salt. When half frozen add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and finish freezing.

Last week I was shown the advance copy of the menu for Thanksgiving dinner to be served at the hotel where we are stopping and the chef has some dishes on it that can be used by our readers.

His turkey will be served with Texas dressing which is made by adding to three cups of soft bread crumbs two cups of pork sausage, one cup of toasted pecan nut meats, and one teaspoon of poultry spice.

Cauliflower polonnaise will be one of the vegetables and for this dish select a firm head of cauliflower, remove the green leaves and wash well. Place the cleaned cauliflower in boiling salted water and cook until tender. Drain and place in the serving dish, sprinkle over one finely-chopped hard-boiled egg and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Place in a saucepan four tablespoonfuls of fresh bread crumbs and two-thirds of a cup of butter and cook until the crumbs are brown and the sauce foaming. Pour over the cauliflower and serve at once.

DESSERT OF PERSIMMONS.

The dessert will be made of ripe persimmons and as we have plenty of these in Southern California this will be very nice for our dinner. For this dessert beat the yolks of four eggs with one cup of sugar until light and golden, stir in four tablespoonfuls of cream and place in a double boiler and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. When cold add two cups of stiffly-whipped cream, one cup of seedless raisins, and two cups of ripe persimmon pulp that has been mashed very fine. Pour into a wetted mould, cover tight and pack in two parts fine ice and one part salt for three hours.

F. Y. Lankershim asks for a good recipe for a fruit cake that will keep two or three months, a cake made without brandy or sherry. This recipe would have been hard to find three years ago, but I have used it with very good success for the past two years.

Twenty-four hours before baking the cake pour one cup of cider over four tablespoons of chopped candied orange peel, half a cup of chopped candied pineapple, one pound of chopped seeded raisins, half a pound of seedless raisins, half a pound of chopped candied cherries and one pound of Sultana raisins. When ready to mix the cake beat to a cream one cup of butter with one and a quarter cups of brown sugar, beat well and add the well-beaten yolks of six eggs. Sift two and a half cups of flour with two teaspoons of cinnamon, two teaspoons of allspice, two teaspoons of nutmeg and one teaspoon of mace and add to the butter and sugar mixture. Add the soaked fruits and half a pound of chopped, blanched almonds, two squares of chocolate, grated, the stiffly beaten whites of the six eggs, and half a cup of molasses. Mix well and just before putting in the paper-lined pans stir in a pinch of soda dissolved in a tablespoon of hot water. Cover pans with buttered paper and steam for four hours. Finish cooking in a very slow oven for two hours. If well wrapped in oiled paper and placed in tight box this cake will keep indefinitely.

L. J., Los Angeles, wants a recipe for chicken salad that will serve twenty-five people. Mix in a bowl rubbed with garlic six cups of cooked, diced chicken, four cups of diced tender celery, half a cup of chopped pimiento, one cup of broken pecan nut meats, and two cups of French dressing. After the salad has been mixed let stand for one hour in a cold place. Cover salad plates with shredded lettuce and place a mound of the salad mixture on the lettuce, cover salad with a stiff mayonnaise and garnish with whole capers, parsley dust and pimientoes cut in fancy designs.

Can You Build a Good Fire?

I received an amusing letter from a column reader, the other day. It was signed "Bride" and began: "Now, dear Miss Kirkman, before you tell me how to cook, please tell me how to build a fire. Every one I build goes out."

So I think an article on building fires—furnace, stove and hearth—may be acceptable, at least to young housekeepers.

To build a fire in a coal range: Close all the dampers except the oven dampers; remove the covers from the top of the stove and brush all soot and ashes into the fire box, then turn over the grate so as to dump the ashes into the ash pan below. (This is also the time to scrape off anything that has been spilled on the oven floor.) Now lay either crumpled paper or shavings on grate, filling the firebox at least one-third with this. Next place pieces of kindling, crosswise, on the paper, making sure that they reach the corners. The sticks of wood should be loosely arranged in order to allow free passage of air.

To build a wood fire on the hearth: Brush the ashes from previous wood fires far back in the fireplace (of course removing an excessive amount of them.) It is an economy to keep a certain amount of ashes on the hearth because when a fire is made these ashes will be heated again and thus will assist in throwing out more heat. But they must be kept far back so as not to blow and so as to throw the heat forward into the room. The next step, after pushing the ashes back, is to place a "back log" on the andirons, pushing it well back against the center wall of the hearth. This back log is a great help in building a fire; usually a heavy, chunky stick of hard wood is chosen for it and it frequently lasts from one fire to another. Place crumpled paper or shavings between the andirons and cross kindling sticks on the paper—but more in a hillock shape than flat as when making a range or furnace fire. Lay a few heavier sticks on the kindling so that as the flame burns along the kindling, it will be led up to the back log. When a back log is used for a new fire it will be smaller than it originally was because part of it will have burned away; when it becomes too small for use as a back log, it should be drawn forward and a new back log put in.

To keep a large log from burning late at night when a a fire is no longer needed, stand the burning piece on end back in the corner or against the side, and as it is isolated from the heat of other pieces of wood it will soon stop burning. A fire screen is a most important piece of hearth-fire equipment.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or collect reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ANNUAL CLUB SESSION OPENS.

Welcome Women to Santa Ana for Three-Day Meet.

"Friendly Hour" is Feature of Initial Program.

Many See Federation Pageant Film Before Tour.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 15.—With more than 500 women present for the opening session, the twentieth annual convention of the southern district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, opened early this afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Charles C. Hansen, district vice-president at large, called the meeting to order for the three-day session. Delegates were present from San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties.

Presiding with Mrs. Hansen were Mrs. Jacob Jesson, president of the San Bernardino county federation, and Mrs. F. W. Haman, convention parlimentarian.

The meeting was opened with assembly singing, which was followed by the impressive salute to the flag, spoken by the assemblage in unison. Delegates were welcomed to Orange county by Mrs. W. A. Moore of Fullerton, president of the Orange county federation, in a graceful little speech introductory of Rev. Perry F. Schrock, who, on behalf of John G. Mitchell, Mayor of Santa Ana, who was called out of town unexpectedly, welcomed the women to Santa Ana.

Mrs. George Cole of Riverside responded to the cordial welcome for the delegates-at-large.

COMMITTEES REPORT.

Routine activities occupied the attention of the delegates throughout most of the afternoon. Reports of committees were heard in the following order: local board, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Santa Ana; credentials, Mrs. Frank Morse, Fullerton, and program, Mrs. R. H. Robbins, San Diego.

Reports of officers were heard as follows: recording secretary, Mrs. Zoe Supp; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. F. Tabor; auditor, Mrs. Edward C. Talbot; treasurer, Mrs. Kenneth D. Oliver; vice-president, Mrs. Charles C. Hansen, Fullerton, and president, Mrs. A. W. Wohlford, Escondido. Following the reports, the friendly hour was the order of the program. This feature was greatly appreciated by the women and many new ideas and inspirations were said to have been gleaned from the close personal discussion and conversation between delegates. This feature was expected materially to cement the bonds of good fellowship already existing in all parts of the federation.

State officers, chairmen and friends of the clubs are to take part in the discussions with the view to further constructive criticism and work in clubs of the southern district.

Informal social affairs for the various delegates formed the program for the evening.

Milton McCrae, newspaper man of San Diego, will speak tomorrow on "America Prototype of Nations: A Discussion of the Atmosphere and Psycheology of Europe Today." He has just returned from an extended tour of Great Britain and Europe, where he interviewed the leading diplomats, statesmen and rulers of orld.

This session will open with assembly singing at 9:30 a.m., Mrs. Charles C. Hansen of Fullerton will preside at the morning session, assisted by Mrs. Robert Kirkpatrick of Riverside.

ON CHILD WELFARE.

Other features of the morning session are a child welfare program under the direction of Mrs. Frank MacCarroll and Dr. Louise Harvey Clark of Riverside. The speakers are to be Miss Clary of the State Bureau of Child Hygiene, Dr. Martha Welpton of the San Diego County Medical Association, and Dr. Marjorie Potter of the San Diego City Board of Health.

The afternoon session will include an address by the Rev. G. Bromley Oxnam of the department of religious education of the University of Southern California on the subject, "The Supreme Duty before the American Today." The other speaker of the afternoon will be Edward L. Hardy of San Diego, president of the State Teachers' College, on "Education: a Branch of Human Engineering." Further features of the program include a reception in honor of the visitors at Stann's Inn at 5 p.m. tomorrow. A musical program has been arranged for the reception. Mrs. Arnold Peek of Santa Ana will give a piano solo; Miss Louise Montgomery will give a soprano solo and a number by Ollimae Enlow Matthews, Earl Fraser and Edward Burns will be followed by a contralto solo by Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh.

Presidents will hold the center of interest for the Thursday session. The Thursday program will close with a banquet at Stann's Inn at 6:30 p.m.

Friday morning the final session will be held with reports of officers and committees. How the action of Palm and Olive oils transforms your hair

It is interesting to watch the transformation in the appearance of your hair when you shampoo with Palmolive. To discover how glossy and soft it becomes, how fluffy without dryness.

Notice how thoroughly Palmolive cleanses your scalp from all dirt, oil and dandruff. This is the secret of healthy hair. And healthy hair means beauty.

A blend of Palm and Olive oils

The softening effects of olive oil are responsible for the gloss and softness. It produces a mild, penetrating lather which softens and relaxes the scalp and enters each root and hair cell.

The accumulations of dirt and oil are thoroughly removed, not only from the surface but from the tissue of the scalp. Dandruff is penetrated and removed.

Palm oil contributes richness and body to this lather and makes it lasting. Both oils have been famous since Cleopatra's day for their softening, relaxing qualities while others possess in the same degree.

A Question for Women—

How much is one-seventh of your life worth?

Suppose some one offered you a present of five years of time—time which you might devote to your family, to yourself, to your home—wouldn't you welcome it?

This is exactly what we give you with our modern Family Laundry Service. We give you a present of one day a week—one-seventh of your life.

Moreover, we take all the worry and fuss of washday from the home. Your clothes are gently soaked and rinsed in soft, pure water, and fleecy suds.

Your family bundle is promptly returned with all the larger flat work carefully ironed, leaving only the lighter garments for you to iron at home.

And best of all, you have your own time to give to the children—to their schooling and amusements; evenings to spend with your husband, evenings so different now that you are no longer fatigued with the usual enervating supervision of washday in your own basement or kitchen.

Our family laundry service offers you an equal saving of one-seventh of your life. Phone us call for your family bundle.

CHAPLAIN OF MOVIES REGISTERS NEW STAR.

A new star has arrived in the Hollywood motion picture colony! Her presence was made known yesterday by Rev. Neal Dodd, pastor of the church of St. Mary of the Angels and widely known as "the chaplain of the movies." Rev. Dodd called upon L. M. Goodstadt, casting director at Paramount's West Coast studio, and asked for the privilege of registering the new star. When the casting director asked for more details he was informed: "The little lady arrived Friday night at 9:24 p.m. Where? At the Good Samaritan Hospital. Mrs. Dodd and I have named her Mary Elise Dodd. Both mother and daughter are doing nicely, thank you." Then Father Dodd admitted that, although his daughter was born on Armistice night she is showing little of the Armistice spirit. "She is far from quiet and peaceful," he explained.

COURT DELAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—The Supreme Court here today failed to act on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, filed by Attorneys Charles Erbstein and John S. Cooper of Los Angeles late Monday through which they seek freedom for Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, accused in Los Angeles of the slaying of J. Belton Kennedy.

Chief Justice Lucien Shaw announced that the petition will be heard when the court again convenes in San Francisco Thursday. The court denied a petition for a writ of mandate Monday in which Attorneys Erbstein and Cooper sought to secure an immediate trial for their client.

PORT NOTES.

The Pacific Steamship Company's Alaska liner City of Seattle has been sold to C. L. Dimond and associates of New York, according to word received at the local port. The consideration was said to have been $800,000. She will be sent to gulf waters immediately and will be put in at Los Angeles harbor this week on her way south. Her future run will be between New York and Havana. The liner Queen will take the City of Seattle's former run to Alaska.

FRANCE READY TO AID BERLIN.

Decision Holds Up Question of Moratorium.

Scheme of Industrialists is an Impertinence.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—From the highest entente sources I am informed that the French delegates in the allied reparations commission, which is now in session in Berlin, have consented to grant Germany reparations concessions for the payments due in 1931.

Although this decision temporarily shelves the question of a complete moratorium for Germany for three years, it is the first step that official France has taken since the Armistice to relieve Germany of a condition which British, as well as German, economists say is pressing Germany to the wall politically as well as financially.

DEMANDS RESULTS.

The agreement was reached between the British and the French after M. Dubois, a French delegate, had pointed out that the reconstruction of Northern France stood in the way of granting Germany still easier terms. He said that France must see definite results from the Weisbaden reconstruction agreement before letting up further.

The commission now believes that Germany, despite the break in the money market, will be able to pay the January installment of the reparations, as well as the quarterly percentage of the payments on exports, which is about $40,000,000 and is due in February. Sir John Bradbury, the British delegate, urged Germany to pay the $160,000,000 due in January and February as a show of good faith, upon which the commission would make concessions for the balance of next year.

PLAN TURNED DOWN.

The second important decision of the reparations commission, of which Col. Logan is the American member, was the rejection of a plan by the big German industrial leaders, including Hugo Stinnes, the Krupps and the Thyssens, to pawn Germany's industries as a guarantee for the reparations payments.

I am informed that the commission considered the offer, which was made after consultation with Chancellor Wirth, an impertinence, because the German industrial leaders demanded that government owned property, such as the State railroad system, be given to the industrialists for private exploitation.

The commission suggested a new plan in which the industrial interests would make some sacrifices for the country instead of trying to profit from its misery. It is reported that the new plan is being considered.

Indicters of Dynamiters of "Times" Meet

Recalling a strenuous period in the history of Los Angeles county, and renewing friendships formed while acting in an official capacity, the members of the county grand jury of 1910-11 gathered last night at the home of Alec R. Fraser in Venice, where a dinner was served by the host.

The members of this jury served during the period immediately following the dynamiting of The Times Building, and returned the indictments upon which subsequent trials were based. During the twelve months following they were in almost daily session, having much to do with Los Angeles county business at a critical time.

Those present were: Charles Wiel, foreman of that jury, 3049 West Sixth street, Los Angeles; J. L. Matthews, former secretary, Covina; Elmer E. Webster, Redondo Beach; R. F. De Garmo, El Monte; Thomas B. Chapman, Rivera; J. E. Carr, Westmoreland Place, Los Angeles; J. H. Linkletter, Whittier; Jacob Swigart, Las Casitas, Pasadena; S. G. Tyler, 858 East Twenty-eighth street, Los Angeles; J. H. Cavanah, Redondo Beach; F. E. McCollum, 731 East Adams street, Los Angeles and Alec R. Fraser, Venice.

Other members of the jury, who have died, were: John Scott, Duarte; E. J. Vawer, Santa Monica; C. H. Lloyd, Los Angeles; John Bloeser, Los Angeles; J. M. Tibbetts, Los Angeles; Samuel W. Pyle, Pasadena, and Samuel E. Allen, Pasadena.

Chief of Police May Face Civil Service Tests.

The picture of Chief of Police Jones and his deputies taking their fountain pens in hand to answer the queries of a civil service test was projected, as a possibility, on the screen of the weekly session yesterday of the City Civil Service Commission.

Discussion of such a plan was brought about by the application of Chief Jones, who was present, for the right to appoint a first and second deputy chief both of whom should be exempt from civil service rulings. All appointments of peace officers, as is well known, are made by the Chief from a certified list of applicants who have passed the service examination, the list being furnished by the commission. No conclusion in the matter was reached at yesterday's meeting.

MONLUX RECOVERING AFTER OPERATION.

J. B. Monlux, deputy superintendent of schools, was reported last night to be recovering from the effects of an operation performed last Saturday. He is at the Angelus Hospital and it was said there he is expected to be able to return to his home at 1703 West Twenty-third street within the next two weeks.

ULSTERITES ARE BITTER.

Labor Secretary in Ulster Cabinet Says in Statement That "Ulster Has Been Betrayed."

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—All parties in Ireland except Nationalists, who, however, are now largely incorporated with Sinn Fein, have had their say in the negotiations regarding the future of Ireland.

Southern Unionists, who are opposed to a dual parliament for the island, saw Premier Lloyd George today, while the Ulsterites had before them the government's refusal of their counter-proposals. It was understood that the government's reply contained no new suggestions, leaving the situation apparently deadlocked.

John Miller Andrews, Secretary of Labor in the Ulster Cabinet, on his return to Belfast today, made it clear in a statement that the government's proposal to Ulster was for a single parliament for a united Ireland, and that Ulster had replied she must have a separate parliament—a suggestion which neither Sinn Feiners nor southern unionists would agree to.

PROTEST MEETINGS.

Protest meetings will be held in Ulster tomorrow against what the Ulsterites characterize as a "betrayal of Ulster."

It is considered unlikely, however, that anything will be done to break the apparent deadlock before the meeting of the conservative party in Liverpool Thursday.

The Premier's efforts will be directed, it is thought, toward bringing Ulster into a tripartite agreement with the British government and the Sinn Fein. The Ulsterites are holding out for independent rule if Ireland is to have a dominion status, while the Sinn Fein delegates declare Ireland must be a governmental unit.

ANDREWS BITTER.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BELFAST, Nov. 15.—U. M. Andrews, Minister of Labor in the Ulster Cabinet, upon his return to Belfast from London today issued the following statement:

"A disgraceful betrayal of Ulster has been attempted by the coalition Cabinet. The suggestion has been made that we should agree to a Parliament for all Ireland, with dominion powers. We have informed His Majesty's government that we are not prepared to admit the ascendancy of any Parliament other than the Imperial Parliament over ours or to agree to its reserved services being transferred to a Parliament for all Ireland, which undoubtedly would be controlled by those who are enemies of the empire."

STRANDED DANCERS AIDED BY OBREGON.

LOCAL GIRLS SENT HOME FROM MEXICO CITY BY PRESIDENT.

Eight Los Angeles dancers are safely home after exciting adventures in Mexico, where they were penniless and stranded. They owe their safe return to the United States to President Obregon, who came to their aid after appeals to other sources had failed.

The dancers are Arline Levy, Cleo Henderson, Lassie Young, Betty Rober, Kathleen Donovan, Evelyn Carroll, Hazel De Vere and Genevieve Hayes. According to Miss Levy, they went to Mexico City on September 14 under contract to entertain at the Centennial Exposition, having been assured of their round-trip expenses.

At the completion of their contract they were refused transportation home. They appealed first to the American consul, then to Secretary of the Interior Panni and Secretary of the Treasury de la Huerta. Meeting with failure, Miss Levy went to President Obregon as a last resort. He paid their hotel bill and furnished them transportation back to Los Angeles. In addition he sent forty-two chorus girls back to New York after their show went on the rocks.

Jesus Topetl, who contracted for the appearance of the Los Angeles girls in Mexico City, was sen to jail for three days as a result of the incident. Mrs. E. Levy, 1161½ West Thirtieth street, chaperoned the party.

CONFISCATED CARS SOLD AT SAN DIEGO.

Ten automobiles captured by the Federal authorities during raids for violation of the prohibition and the antismuggling laws have been sold by Chief Dep. U. S. Marshal Sittel at San Diego. The aggregate sales amounted to $4080. There were two Dodge machines, three Chandlers, two Haynes and one Ford, one Buick and one Elgin. Only moderate prices were received for the property on account of the glut of second-hand automobiles in the San Diego market, it was stated yesterday.

...Pima Camp Meeting Calls Converts.

...Dedicate Chapel Built of Tule.

...ptions of Synagogue Put in Place.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH.] PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 15.—Spread of Christianity among the Indians of Arizona had demonstration in a late Pima Indian camp meeting at Casa Blanca, on the reservation. It was the largest of its kind. Two thousand Indians, mainly Pimas, were present, coming for three or four days, and there was addition of converts at the sessions.

Among the preachers were 25 Pima Indians who had been educated in the Phoenix Indian Bible school, a Presbyterian institution. A memorial of the Rev. Sheldon B. Cook, a pioneer religious worker on the Pima Reservation, was held in the exercises was the address by Rev. Quincy E. Taylor of the Phoenix Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. Henry Kinney, missionary at Sacaton and Rev. Lee, missionary at Casa Blanca. The Indians contributed $61 to be used in religious mission work on the reservation and in foreign missions.

DEDICATE CHAPEL.

Tucson, on the San Carlos Indian reservation, has been dedicated as a Lutheran-Lutheran chapel. The chapel, with seating capacity of 400, is an artistic white structure. There also has been built a six-room parsonage, likewise of tule, for occupation of the Rev. J. Dreyer, who resigned as head of a Lutheran school in Tucson two years ago to enter mission work among the Indians.

The Lutheran day schools are now conducted on the Fort Apache reservation and one on the San Carlos reserve, with aggregate attendance of 180 children. Nine mission stations are supplied on the two reservations.

SYNAGOGUE BUILDING.

Rabbi Morris Bielenka of El Paso assisted in the ceremonies attending the placing of the cornerstone of the new Phoenix Jewish temple. An address of congratulation was delivered by Governor Hunt and a letter was read from Gov. Campbell. The building will cost $14,000 and will be a fine unit of three that will make the completed synagogue. Rabbi David L. Liknaitz is in charge. He is the only rabbi of his faith in Arizona, following is at the head of congregations through which the building has become a reality.

Funds have been awarded for construction of the $100,000 church of the Episcopal Church, corner North Central avenue. The church, at Central and Portland, has been sold and will be converted into a business block. Rev. F. J. Hart, pastor of the church at Globe, has been moderator of the Presbytery church in Arizona. The meeting has been held the annual convention of the Arizona Sunday-school Association. The

FIRST MEDICINAL BEER IS SOLD.

Scheiderer of Milwaukee Man Who Gets Under Wire in Hurry.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 15.—Jack Scheiderer of this city was the first resident of the United States to purchase medicinal beer under the new Federal regulations. Scheiderer presented his prescription at a local pharmacy two minutes after a brewing company had delivered the beer to the druggist under a permit the brewers had just received. The case of twenty-four bottles cost Scheiderer $5.25. It was the first legal sale of beer here since the war-time prohibition regulations went into force.

Rev. George Legie is president and the Rev. E. D. Raley, secretary. One of the leaders at the sessions was the Rev. John G. Hill, director of religious education in the University of Southern California.

With clergy present from all Arizona parishes, there was held here an Episcopal church conference, called by Bishop J. W. Atwood to discuss plans for church extension.

SECOND FORTUNE AND THIRD WIFE MISSING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—"Billy" Camp, the "millionaire spender," twice divorced for his hot sport ways, today lost his third wife and his second fortune in the divorce courts here. This was the price he paid for staging a bungalow party near Los Angeles. Detectives employed by his wife poked the nose of a camera into an open window and touched off a flash, thus securing a photograph that was sufficient to secure the divorce.

Mrs. Camp, who was the widow of William C. Thorne, vice-president of Montgomery Ward & Co., became Camp's wife shortly after his second wife had divorced him. Billy had been left $1,000,000 by his father, founder of the Estey & Camp Piano and Organ Company, but he burned it rapidly. His first wife was Miss Edith Schuyler of Chicago. Camp gave costly dinners, frequently signing dinner checks for $7000. His daily wine bill never fell below $400. After four years of this he was broke and divorced.

Camp then became a cigarette salesman, drifted to New York and married Marie Proctor Ellis, beauty of the Broadway stage. In 1911 she tired of supporting him and secured a divorce. Eight years later Camp married Mrs. Thorne.

Collar Manufacturer Tells Why Pique Soft Collars Should Be Worn and What Kind Look Best

A prominent western collar manufacturer states that the attempt to make men wear unattractive soft collars woven from a coarse type of cotton almost resembling in character the material from which circus tents are made, will fail, because there can be no substitute for the beautiful white material known as pique.

"It is claimed that pique is 'the most dressy collar cloth ever produced. Of course, it is admitted that some men will wear the coarse collars for the same reason that many men formerly wore the hideous celluloid neck-shackles. But men who are particular about their personal appearance will cling to the handsome pique collars.

"The most popular soft collars in the West bear the Grayco label. They are made in six assorted neat patterns and are sold at fifty cents each."—[Advertisement.

COURT RULING SWATS I.W.W.

Verdict in Syndicalism Case Here is Upheld.

Members of Organization Are Open to Prosecution.

In affirming the judgment of the Superior Court of this county in the case of Nick Stelik, who was found guilty of criminal syndicalism, the Supreme Court rendered a decision which is regarded as of tremendous importance, since it upholds the State law covering criminal syndicalism and brings all known I.W.W. within range of prosecution.

Steelik was arrested here in October, 1919, and charged with having acted as an organizer for the "Wobblies." The authorities seized considerable propaganda, which, they declared, he had been distributing in his capacity as an organizer and an expounder of I.W.W. teachings. A jury in Judge Willis's court, March 30, 1920, found him guilty in twelve minutes.

APPEAL MADE.

He was sentenced to from one to fourteen years in prison. An appeal was taken and the Appellate Court affirmed the lower court's decision, but asked the Supreme Court to grant the defendant a review. This was given, and the Supreme Court's decision was announced last night. The brief upon which it was submitted was prepared by Dep. Atty.-Gen. Keetch.

In handing down its decision, the Supreme Court said in part:

"There is overwhelming evidence in the case at bar to justify a conclusion by the jury that the I.W.W. is an organization as clearly denounced by the statute as unlawful as though it was mentioned by name. It therefore clearly appears from the evidence that the defendant has committed a crime denounced by the statute and is thus justly liable to suffer the penalty imposed by the statute, and there has been no miscarriage of justice in imposing upon him the penalty prescribed by law.

DEFINES STATUTE.

"The Criminal Syndicalism Act might be summarized as an act to punish the advocacy of crime or wrong, engaging in conspiracies to commit crime or unlawful acts or the commission of crime or unlawful acts as a means of changing industrial or political control.

"The right of free speech was guaranteed to prevent legislation which would by censorship, injunction or other method prevent the free publication by any citizen of anything that he deemed it was necesary to say or publish. The right of free speech does not include the right to advocate the destruction or overthrow of government or the criminal destruction of property."

SUPPORT RED CROSS DRIVE.

Business men representing all commercial and industrial lines in Los Angeles have pledged their aid to make the fifth annual Red Cross roll call stand out as the most successful one yet undertaken in this city. As a result of a series of conferences between the heads of a number of large business enterprises and Frank Ryan, chairman of the roll call, a plan has been adopted whereby as many as possible of the Red Cross memberships will be underwritten; that is, these firms have agreed to subscribe for as many Red Cross memberships, at $1 each, as they have employees.

This plan, which was adopted by the Los Angeles chapter in order to facilitate the roll call with the least possible disturbance to the city's normal business, has received the indorsement of President Weaver of the Chamber of Commerce, President Rice of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and the governing committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board. To the members of these three organizations a communication has been sent by their respective heads, urging individual co-operation in this method of raising this year's fund to carry on the Red Cross work among ex-service men, their families and dependents.

To several thousand business firms and industrial enterprises Chairman Ryan addressed communications urging co-operation in the underwriting plan. Mr. Ryan said that the roll call membership work will be carried to the general public through the activity of the two Red Cross headquarters at 205 South Broadway and 921 West Seventh street, the latter being conducted by the women volunteer workers.

BLOW AIMED AT JITNEY BUSSES.

stand that he made certain suggestions in his report relative to jitney competition because he desired to have the matter threshed out so that a policy could be established for the future guidance of the commission in the consideration of applications for bus-line permits.

At present there are jitney lines in Long Beach, Pasadena, Lamanda Park, Sawtelle, Venice and Santa Monica. It was made fairly plain yesterday that Engineer Sachse is not opposed to long-distance auto-bus service and does not regard it as unfair competition in the present case.

Today O. A. Smith, general passenger agent of the Pacific Electric, will give the commission his ideas as to possible changes in blanket rates to the beaches, and new zone rates for this city as a means of securing more revenue for the company. Before the conclusion of today's session the commission is expected to outline several conference between city, railroad and auto-bus officials, at which various features of the Pacific Electric case will be ironed out and reports submitted to the commission.

PROTECTION MEETING.

"Eye Protection and Safe Clothing" will be discussed at the safety lecture at the Chamber of Commerce, 130 South Broadway, at 8 p.m. today. Industrial employers and overseers are invited to the series of talks on industrial safeyt given every Wednesday evening. John D. Maxfield, manager of the chamber's safety and fire prevention will speak tonight.

BUTCHERS HERE WILL ORGANIZE.

Plan Council to Create Larger Outlet for Meat Products.

That a meat dealers' council will be formed here within ten days was the announcement made last night at a meeting of the Retail Meat Dealers' Association in Cleveland Hall. It will consist of five producers, five packers, five retailers and five consumers, the latter to be chosen by the Chamber of Commerce.

After discussing at some length the report that the big packing interests intend to establish retail stores all over the country, the butchers summed the situation up as one which calls upon them to creater a bigger outlet for meat or let the packer into the field.

Roy Stone, a business counselor, declared that the packers are making unheard-of profits and that they are determined to have a wider distribution for their products. He asserted that one of the largest public markets in this city has been offered to the big packers and that they are dickering for other good retail locations.

Most of the butchers admitted that they are better hands at cutting meat than at selling it to the consumer. Most of them insisted that meat perhaps costs more than it should in some cities because people have been educated to think that they must have the choicest cuts. One butcher said that his customers are all middle-class people, but that they insist upon having premium hams and bacon and that they want nothing cheaper than 70 cents a pound.

William Clifton, president of the association said:

"If it is a case of developing a greater consumption of meat, raise the price and you'll sell more of it. I know, for I am in the meat and grocery business. When eggs were 25 cents a dozen nobody wanted them. Now they are about 75 cents and everybody is buying them."

DRY CHIEF TELLS PLAN OF ACTION.

Enforcement of Prohibition Amendment Will be Rigid, Says Avery.

Robert C. Avery, recently appointed prohibition director for the southern district of California, reached Los Angeles yesterday from his home in Long Beach and took charge of the local prohibition enforcement agents.

He gave out the following statement in regard to his future activities in his work:

"In assuming charge of the Los Angeles office I find the working force earnest and efficient. However, law violations are so numerous we do not expect to get all the violators at once, but do expect to keep getting them. Preparation for conviction in each case handled has been the record of the office and that policy will be continued. Accordingly sure-shot cases command first attention, in fact full attention of the working force. We do not wish to beat the air over indefinite rumors and hope all information turned in will be definite, thus utilizing the enforcement officers to best advantage.

"The Federal government is doing its part, according to available funds and enforcement agents for this locality, but let it be remembered that law enforcement is strictly a community proposition, the people are the government. Any community or city which does not and will not govern itself is poorly directed. We believe the progressive cities of California will rise to the occasion, enforce laws against crime, penalize offenders in reality with effective fines or imprisonment, and not license them to continue with a mere pittance of a fine under which they are glad to continue their vocation as criminals.

"Long Beach, with fines imposed large enough to really penalize, has reduced bootlegging and put more than $25,000 in the city treasury during the last nine months from liquor prosecutions alone. On the same basis Los Angeles, with its large area and myriad secluded stills and booze joints, should have turned into its treasury nearly or quite $250,000 in the same time. We believe its police officers and police courts are going to respond to the opportunity and demand of the hour and properly and effectively penalize offenders and by fines and imprisonment and thus uphold government and the Federal Constitution.

"I have held my appointment as Federal prohibition agent several days, but private affairs made it impossible for me to take charge of the office until now. From now on I hope to bend my best endeavors to working out a policy which will bring the best results through sane, judicious, but forceful enforcement of the Volstead Act. We expect Director Mitchell will be in Los Angeles in the near future and together we hope to plan an effective campaign."

SINGER LOSES SUIT.

Woman Denied Damages from Dentist She Says Ruined Voice.

Mrs. Daisy Myers, known on the stage as Dasie De Verdie, was yesterday denied $50,000 by a jury in Judge Myers court, where she sought to collect for the asserted damaging of her voice by Dr. C. C. Smith, a dentist. She charged in her suit that dental work done by Dr. Smith caused her such suffering that she has been unable to sing since last December.

"PEEPING TOM" GIVEN LONG JAIL SENTENCE.

Convicted as a "Peeping Tom" before Police Judge Richardson yesterday morning, Pasqual Diaz was ordered to jail for 180 days. The Mexican, according to testimony, was caught while peeping into the windows of a nurses' home at 818 Castelar street.

HUGHES PLAN MEANS SAVING.

Advisory Committee Told by Roosevelt.

Work Out Ideas Regarding American Agenda.

Informal Discussion Held at Meeting.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The advisory committee of the American delegation at its organization meeting today selected six subcommittees to work out a plan in connection with the item on the agenda of the general Disarmament Conference.

After Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt had explained the Hughes program, declaring it would mean a saving of more than $200,000,000 on construction, there was informal discussion. Members said later the committee stood "as one man" in support of the program.

SUTHERLAND TO ACT.

Chairman Sutherland was named chairman of exofficio of the executive committee, with Mrs. Eleanor Franklin Egan as secretary. Other members are: Undersecretary of State Fletcher, Samuel Gompers, Secretary Hoover, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Willard Saulsbury of Delaware and W. Boyce Thompson of New York.

OTHER COMMITTEES.

The other committees:

Land armament—Gen. Pershing, chairman; C. S. Barrett, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Walter George Smith, Representative S. G. Porter, Assistant Secretary of War Wainwright and John L. Lewis.

JAP SHIPBUILDERS WORRIED OVER PLANS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Nov. 13. — (Delayed.) Observations by the heads of the leading Japanese shipbuilding yards on the American proposal for the limitation of naval armaments may be summarized as follows:

The Japanese steel and iron industry, nearly half of which is dependent on armament production, will be hard hit if the limitation plan is realized. A suspension of warship building by three of the most important yards in Japan, would mean unemployment to two-thirds of their workmen, estimated at 250,000 persons.

English and American unemployed could be absorbed in other peaceable industries, whereas Japan could hope for no such alternative. This matter is considered serious at present when the Japanese popular mind is unsettled.

"The art of shipbuilding has made remarkable progress through workmen of exceptional skill," said Fuji Shima, director of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, today. "These will be dissipated by ten years of building suspension, and it will be hopeless to try to find good successors afterward."

CURB STOCK MARKET RESTRAINED IN COURT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Justice Lydon of the Supreme Court has granted a temporary injunction to the Board Exchange Company and others, restraining "the Curb Stock and Bond Market of New York, Inc.," from continuing to do business on Broad street, south of Exchange Place, on the spot where curb transactions have been carried on for 150 years.

The injunction prohibiting the future use of that street as an open market for securities was made pending the trial of the action of the abutting property owners, who brought a suit to have the so-called curb market declared a nuisance. The decision is the result of an effort to do business on the part of a number of foreign curb brokers, who did not join the curb exchange, which recently opened up under it own roof.

The outside brokers maintained that the institution now calling itself the curb exchange really ceased to do a curb market business when it got in out of winter's wet and snow and the hot summer sun. The outsiders who refused to go indoors remained to do business at the old stand, in front of the Broad Street Exchange Building.

LOVE, MYSTERY, BIGAMY CLASH.

Wife Number Two Pleads for Sentenced Husband.

Romance With Girl Found in Road Hits Rocks.

Court Hears Weird Story of Indian Hypnotism.

Love, mysticism and romance were balanced yesterday against the weighty subject "two many wives," with the result still in doubt.

Yesterday in Judge Avery's court Stanley Aubert Barrows pleaded guilty to marrying May Harding Barrows while legally attached to Alice Adeline Barrows. But because of many circumstances surrounding the case, Mrs. Barrows No. 2 wants her husband paroled and brought back to her.

The period during which Barrows got into so much trouble began last September 3, when he married Alice. A short time later he was sent to Norwalk by his wife as being insane and there he submitted to a serious operation. He was subsequently released and came to Los Angeles, where he got a job as taxicab driver.

It was here a large amount of romance entered. While piloting his [illegible] found a girl lying unconscious in the middle of the street. He picked her up and placed her in his car, rushing her to a hospital. There she was revived and told a weird story of India's mystic ways.

She said she was kept under the influence of a powerful mental force by a man from the Far East. When he wasn't exerting his power he kept her drugged, she said. He wanted her to marry him but she had repulsed all his advances.

The next day Barrows found the girl's pocketbook, containing her name, in the back of his cab and he returned it to her. A rapid romance ensued and the two were married.

Yesterday Barrows pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy preferred by his first wife and was sentenced by Judge Avery to an indeterminate prison term of one to ten years.

Following the pronouncing of the sentence, Mrs. Barrows No. 2 addressed the court. She stated that she loves Barrows and that she lived with him for two weeks after their marriage without the marriage vows being consummated. She told the court that the man who had threatened her existence is still pursuing her and that she fears him if her husband is sent away.

Judge Avery instructed her to prepare her plea in writing and said he will submit it to the Prison Board, asking immediate parole. The bigamy in the case is said to be purely technical, as Barrows has received an interlocutory decree of divorce.

NO LAWYERS IN THIS UTOPIA!

Sunday "Times" Will Tell of Place Where Cash Does Not Talk.

Would you look upon comedy and tragedy in legal array? Would you see justice triumphant in small things?

It is a platitude that cash talks in the courts of law. But right in our midst is one legal functioning body where cash does not talk. Everything is as free as the air. You can discuss your own troubles in the language of the street and not pay real money to a lawyer for legal phrasing.

Would you locate this lawyerless Utopia? See The Times Sunday, where precise details will be given by one who knows.

SEES SPEED AS POWER WORK CRUX

Speaker at Ad Club Meet Assails City's Scheme to Grab Boulder Canyon.

Declaring that the main point at issue concerning the proposed Boulder Canyon power project is not a question of development by Los Angeles, or by private enterprise, but a question of the speediest and most economical way of delivering hydroelectric power to the citizens of the Southland, Leslie B. Henry yesterday answered the arguments of John W. Kemp in a power debate before the Advertising Club at the Alexandria. Mr. Henry agreed with his opponent in the opinion that the development and control of the Colorado River should never be allowed to pass from the hands of the Federal government and that ex-soldiers and sailors should profit by the reclamation of the desert lands.

"However, it would be folly for Los Angeles, as a municipality, to undertake the gigantic task of the Boulder Canyon project," said Mr. Henry. "There is still much work to be done, and millions of dollars to be spent by the city in the development of the Los Angeles Aqueduct, and why should the city, at this time, undertake to carry out a new project that will cost more than $150,000,000? During the operation of the Owens River project the private power companies serving Los Angeles have brought us 220,000 hydroelectric horsepower, as against 75,000 horsepower furnished by the city. Why should we, as a city, devote all our energy and time to this great project contemplated, while so many other issues face the city, among them the completion of the Aqueduct, harbor development and the solution of traffic congestion?"

Mr. Henry pointed out many instances in which private enterprise has been far more successful in serving communities than has municipal ownership, citing the case of Pasadena, which was compelled to dispense with its municipally-owned power plant in order to secure cheaper rates from a private concern.

The meeting yesterday was presided over by John E. Keogh. A piano solo was given by Miss Olga Steeb.

WRITER WINS SUIT AGAINST FILM FIRM.

THOUSAND DOLLARS AWARDED MAN IN COURT FIGHT FOR SALARY.

A jury in Judge Crail's court last evening brought in a verdict of $1000 for the plaintiff, in the suit of Otto Henry Harras, a dramatic writer, against the Robertson-Cole Studios, Inc., to recover $7200 for salary purported to be due him.

Mr. Harris came from New York to investigate the social and financial standing of certain members of the staff, their fidelity and integrity, and asserts he was discharged shortly after he began work.

The defendant, represented by Attorney Arthur Wright, contended that Mr. Harras was a detective; was hired by a man the defendant did not know, and sent reports to him in the East.

He said that Mr. Harrras did not apply for a permit to make the investigations here and did not comply with the law of this State. It was denied that the defendant ever employed him. The suit should have been brought in New York, it was argued.

FIRE ATTRIBUTED TO INCENDIARIES.

POLICE INVESTIGATE BLAZES IN INDUSTRY BUILDINGS; BLAME ARSONISTS.

Capt. E. H. Enos of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, assisted by police detectives, yesterday began investigation of two fires which early yesterday morning caused damage estimated at more than $100,000.

The first gutted two buildings at Soto and Lugo streets occupied by the Joseph Musto & Sons and the Keeman Company, building contractors. Capt. Enos and the police say that the blaze may have been caused by a band of incendiaries believed to be operating in the Vernon district.

The second fire damaged a small building at 4816 South Vermont avenue, owned by A. L. Goodman, and used as a knitting mill. It was extinguished before it had gained much headway. Police say, it may have been of invendiary origin.

The loss on the first fire was estimated by Capt. Enos at about $100,000 and on the second, about $2000.
